Hot Deserts M. J. Walker, 2012 This volume provides an authoritative and comprehensive state of the art review of hot desert terrains in all parts of the world their geomaterials and influence on civil engineering site investigation design and construction It primarily covers conditions and materials in modern hot deserts but there is also coverage of unmodified ancient desert soils that exhibit engineering behaviour similar to modern desert materials Thorough and up to date guidance on modern field evaluation and ground investigation techniques in hot arid areas is provided including reference to a new approach to the desert model and detailed specialised assessments of the latest methods for materials characterisation and testing The volume is based on world wide experience in hot desert terrain and draws upon the knowledge and expertise of the members of a Geological Society Engineering Group Working Party comprising practising geologists geomorphologists and civil engineers with a wealth of varied but complementary experience of working in hot deserts It is an essential reference book for professionals as well as a valuable textbook for students It is written in a style that is accessible to the non specialist A comprehensive glossary is also included The Geological Society of London Founded in 1807 the Geological Society of London is the oldest geological society in the world and one of the largest publishers in the Earth sciences The Society publishes a wide range of high quality peer reviewed titles for academics and professionals working in the geosciences and enjoys an enviable international reputation for the quality of its work Ecological Building Materials for Deserts and Drylands Daniela A. Ottmann, 2022-02-14 This book examines prospective climate adaptive building materials in desert and drylands in the context of climate change desertification urbanisation demands and the consequent sustainable urban development challenges This preliminary collection of ecological materials covers the characterisation of biotic and abiotic resources for materials their specifications and benefits for adequate bio climatic design and construction Particular emphasis is given to ecological composite materials for advances in desert architecture Based on the initial collection the book culminates with potentials for new ecological building materials The eComposite Combinator matrix offers potential research recipes and encourages the reader to conduct further climate matters related research The Peter Fookes Engineering Geological Legacy in Geomodels, Geomaterials and Geomorphology J.S. Griffiths, D.P. Giles, J.A. Davis, J.J. Dunlop, 2025-11-04 This book is a celebration of the life work and legacy of Professor Peter G Fookes 1933 2020 As a professional engineering geologist he worked in over 100 countries produced some 200 publications and was instrumental in setting up MSc programmes at Imperial College and Queen Mary College London From the Geological Society he was awarded the William Smith Medal 1985 and was the first recipient of the Glossop Medal 1996 Although a mainstream geologist his background in chemistry ensured he was at the forefront in concrete research and the use of geomaterials Working with academic geomorphologists notably Denys Brunnsden David Jones John Doornkamp and Sir Ron Cooke he led the development of engineering geomorphology as a genuine adjunct subject to engineering geology In addition his Glossop

Lecture set engineering geology along the path of developing geomodels for use in understanding the ground conditions pertaining to engineering construction

Principles of Social Justice David Miller,2001-09-30 Social justice has been the animating ideal of democratic governments throughout the twentieth century Even those who oppose it recognize its potency Yet the meaning of social justice remains obscure and existing theories put forward by political philosophers to explain it have failed to capture the way people in general think about issues of social justice This book develops a new theory David Miller argues that principles of justice must be understood contextually with each principle finding its natural home in a different form of human association Because modern societies are complex the theory of justice must be complex too The three primary components in Miller s scheme are the principles of desert need and equality The book uses empirical research to demonstrate the central role played by these principles in popular conceptions of justice It then offers a close analysis of each concept defending principles of desert and need against a range of critical attacks and exploring instances when justice requires equal distribution and when it does not Finally it argues that social justice understood in this way remains a viable political ideal even in a world characterized by economic globalization and political multiculturalism Accessibly written and drawing upon the resources of both political philosophy and the social sciences this book will appeal to readers with interest in public policy as well as to students of politics philosophy and sociology

Memories of memories Axel Görlitz,2023-10-11 Sooner or later every person invents a story for himself that he believes to be his life Max Frisch A life story is not a sum of memories seamlessly strung together but a conglomeration of continually revised and reinterpreted retrospectives Accordingly this is a delicate journey back in time to who one believes oneself to be The anecdotal travelogue is flanked by scientific miniatures that invite reflection Stations are for example a naive toddler before and a serious boy in and after the war a rebellious adolescent in the decade of the economic miracle or a dabbling adolescent in the birth years of the Federal Republic a life story like any and yet like none By reading it you might learn something about yourself or about the story you think is your life

Shared Heritage Revisited Dalya Yafa Markovich, Christiane Dätsch, 2024-05-06 Culture is constructed, negotiated, managed, and shared by various ideological, political, and moral reasonings which manifest themselves tangibly and intangibly in public monuments, architecture, memorial sites, theaters, museums, orchestras, and heritage associations. The contributions to this volume explore the intersection of cultural heritage and nationality in societies that are characterized by national, multi-national, and post-national concepts. They question the roles that cultural heritage plays in its various contexts and the ways in which ideology functions to produce it.

Johnson, Johnson and Roy Fiona Gruber, 2003 Steeped in a strong Midwestern tradition of naturalism, JJR embraces the tenets of respecting and working with the inherent natural features of a landscape. JJR's projects address the complex relationship between humans and their environment. It believes that good design goes hand in hand with good planning, a process that encompasses everything from civil engineering and landscape architecture to environmental science, urban planning, and much more. The work of JJR responds to the local and regional context, blending the natural with the built and the site with the community. More than forty projects are examined in detail in this superb monograph. Projects include university campuses, sustainable environments, vital cities, building communities, and waterfront projects, all are presented with colour photography, maps, plans, and drawings.

Light from the Ashes Peter Suedfeld, 2001 Child survivors of the Holocaust and World War II share their life experiences and how they became social scientists.

The Wilderness within You Penelope Wilcock, 2013-10-31 Jesus said that his burden was light, but it doesn't always feel that way. For example, what does it mean to take up your cross? How figurative is the language Jesus is using? Or, "Those of you who do not give up everything you have cannot be my disciples." What does Jesus mean? Or, "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father but through me." Does this mean, unless I follow Jesus, I am cut adrift in this world, lost and without hope? But I cannot follow Jesus without being crucified. Following Jesus does not seem as simple as preachers sometimes suggest. So Pen sets out into the wilderness to look for him. I have one big question that almost hurts in my heart, she says, because I care about the answer so much, I want to ask him, Jesus, what do you think of me?

Because You Never Asked (Book One) Jerome Grapel, 2022-03-23 Jerme Grapel began writing essays in the early 90s, this collection being a fractional but representative cross-section of an output that is still in progress today. Writing as Post-Consumer Man, he restricts his essays to anything that may be relevant since the dawn of time to the end of eternity. They serve as a therapeutic voice to his objections to the paradigm of our culture and the negativity it is leading us into. Grapel notes that all cultures attempt to inculcate their constituents into someone's narrow-minded, self-serving version of reality, and this book is his attempt to translate these subterfuges into the truth.
