Concrete To Canvas Skateboarders Art:

Concrete to Canvas Jo Waterhouse, David Penhallow, 2005 Since a graphic was first hand drawn onto a board the culture of skateboarding has been creative and visual with by products such as videos stickers magazines board graphics and clothing In recent years more skateboarders than ever have turned to art as another outlet for their creativity and an increasing number of exhibitions focus on art produced by skateboarders Concrete to Canvas brings together for the first time a wide variety of the finest work whether on skate decks canvas computers in sketchbooks or on the streets Many of the artists selected for inclusion have used the street as their canvas while also exhibiting in galleries internationally often fusing spray paints and marker pens with oils and acrylics Artists are featured alphabetically and the work is accompanied by brief commentaries and quotes its relationship with skateboarding

Rezbballers and Skate Elders David Kamper, 2025-06 Ethnographer and American Indian studies scholar David Kamper examines how Indigenous youth and adults are making basketball and skateboarding meaningful to their communities by sustaining the transmission of intergenerational knowledge and combatting intergenerational trauma Kamper looks at how the events and tournaments built around rezbball are similar to powwows in how they bring people together across localized communities and generations and he coins the phrase skate elders for those who use the social nature of skateboarding to build community and mentorships Through a broad picture of North America Kamper demonstrates how Native peoples have long indigenized cultural practices and material culture to assert Native sovereignty creating joy and hope in the process In Rezbballers and Skate Elders Kamper considers how Native expressions of basketball and skateboarding show continuities with the historical transformation of practices that originated outside Indian Country to make them meaningful in Native life David Kamper is a professor of American Indian studies associate director and cofounder of the Center for Skateboarding Action Sports and Social Change and cofounder of Surf Skate Studies Collaborative at San Diego State University He is the author of The Work of Sovereignty Tribal Labor Relations and Self Determination at the Navajo Nation and coeditor of Waves of Belonging Indigeneity Race and Gender in the Surfing Lineup
