Conditions Of Rational Inquiry A Study I:

Conditions of Rational Inquiry David Pole, 2013-11-07 D Pole whose Later Philosophy of Wittgenstein appeared in 1958 here makes a new attack on the problem of value judgement by taking it out of its limited ethical context Beginning with an examination and criticism of current views that base all moral and other principles on personal choice or decision he finds a point of departure for his own account of the problem in the claim that rational inquiry of any sort rests on the possibility of evaluation The place of the one process within the other is then worked out in some detail and an attempt is made to show how inquiry as a collective undertaking involves the progressive search for and establishment of new principles Flood, 2008-04-15 An ideal resource for courses on Hinduism or world religions this accessible volume spans the entire field of Hindu studies It provides a forum for the best scholars in the world to make their views and research available to a wider audience Comprehensively covers the textual traditions of Hinduism Features four coherent sections covering theoretical issues textual traditions science and philosophy and Hindu society and politics Reflects the trend away from essentialist understandings of Hinduism towards tradition and regional specific studies Includes material on Hindu folk religions and stresses the importance of region in analyzing Hinduism Ideal for use on university courses Dictionary Catalog of the University Library, 1919-1962 University of California, Los Angeles. Library, 1963 Rationality: The Critical View J.

Agassi, I.C. Jarvie, 2012-12-06 In our papers on the rationality of magic we distinguished for purposes of analysis three levels of rationality First and lowest rationality¹ the goal directed action of an agent with given aims and circumstances where among his circumstances we included his knowledge and opinions On this level the magician's treatment of illness by incantation is as rational as any traditional doctor's blood letting or any modern one's use of antibiotics At the second level rationality² we add the element of rational thinking or thinking which obeys some set of explicit rules a level which is not found in magic in general though it is sometimes given to specific details of magical thinking within the magical thought system It was the late Sir Edward E Evans Pritchard who observed that when considering magic in detail the magician may be as consistent or critical as anyone else but when considering magic in general or any system of thought in general the magician could not be critical or even comprehend the criticism Evans Pritchard went even further he was sceptical as to whether it could be done in a truly consistent manner one cannot be critical of one's own system he thought On this level rationality² of discussion we have explained earlier why we prefer to wed Evans Pritchard's view of the magician's capacity for piecemeal rationality to Sir James Frazer's view that magic in general is pseudo rational because it lacks standards of rational thinking A Guide to the Phenomenology of Religion James Cox, 2006-08-15 Provides an introduction and overview to the Phenomenology of Religion through describing analysing and evaluating the ideas of key thinkers in the phenomenology of religion This book also examines the thinking of scholars within the Dutch British and North American

The Dilemma of Enquiry and Learning Hugh G. Petrie, 2011 The dilemma named in Hugh G Petrie's title was stated by Meno in Plato's dialogue of that name A man cannot enquire about that which he knows or about that which he does not know for if he knows he has no need to enquire and if not he cannot for he does not know the very subject about which he is to enquire Petrie argues that Meno's dilemma poses the fundamental epistemological question for education How is learning possible He examines a variety of familiar approaches to learning from the open classroom to back to basics and finds that each of these approaches attempts to grasp one horn of the dilemma to the exclusion of the other The examination of previous attempts to resolve the dilemma of enquiry and learning prepares the way for Petrie's proposed solution He defines learning as an adaptation of thought and action to the demands of the natural and social world This process has two major components assimilation and accommodation corresponding to the two traditional ways of attacking the dilemma Assimilation is explained using the insights of control systems theory while results in evolutionary epistemology are brought to bear on the question of accommodation Petrie shows that only a reflective equilibrium between assimilation and accommodation will allow for a resolution of the Meno dilemma In the course of his presentation the author challenges a number of educational dogmas including the beliefs that clear and unambiguous goals can be stated for learning that theory can be applied to practice that subjective tests are inferior to objective tests and that the intelligence of a child makes a difference to educational policy The book outlines new approaches to commonplace educational phenomena such as testing and to radical phenomena such as conversion experiences It makes novel practical suggestions for the use of activity perceptual training and metaphor in a variety of learning situations

Emptiness Guy Armstrong, 2017-05-02

If everything is empty then what ceases in Nirvana and is born in rebirth How can you live in the world without feeling trapped by it Guy Armstrong tackles these questions and more in this richly informed practical guide to emptiness for the meditator It may seem odd for emptiness to serve as the central philosophy of a major religion In fact emptiness points to something quite different than nothingness or vacancy And by developing a richer understanding of this complex topic we can experience freedom as we live consciously in the world Guy Armstrong has been a leading figure and beloved teacher of insight meditation for decades In this book he makes difficult Buddhist topics easy to understand weaving together Theravada and Mahayana teachings on emptiness to show how we can liberate our minds and manifest compassion in our lives

Cognitive and Instructional Processes in History and the Social Sciences Mario Carretero, James F. Voss, 2012-12-06 This volume is a direct result of an international conference that brought together a number of scholars from Europe and the United States to discuss their ideas and research about cognitive and instructional processes in history and the social sciences As such it fills a major gap in the study of how people learn and reason in the context of particular subject matter domains and how instruction can be improved in order to facilitate better learning and reasoning Previous cognitive work on subject matter learning has been focused primarily upon mathematics and physics the present effort provides the first such venture examining the history and social science domains from a cognitive perspective The different sections of the book cover topics related to comprehension learning and instruction of history and the social sciences including the development of some social sciences concepts the teaching of social sciences problems and questions arising from this cognitive perspective of learning the comprehension and learning from historical texts how people and students understand historical causality and provide explanations of historical events and the deduction processes involved in reasoning about social sciences contents This volume will be useful for primary and secondary school teachers and for cognitive and instructional researchers interested in problem solving and reasoning text comprehension domain specific knowledge acquisition and concept development

Interdisciplinary Works in Logic, Epistemology, Psychology and Linguistics Manuel Rebuschi, Martine Batt, Gerhard Heinzmann, Franck Lihoreau, Michel Musiol, Alain Trognon, 2014-06-30 This book presents comparisons of recent accounts in the formalization of natural language dynamic logics and formal semantics with informal conceptions of interaction dialogue natural logic and attribution of rationality that have been developed in both psychology and epistemology There are four parts which explore historical and systematic studies the formalization of context in epistemology the formalization of reasoning in interactive contexts in psychology the formalization of pathological conversations Part one discusses the Erlangen School which proposed a logical analysis of science as well as an operational reconstruction of psychological concepts These first chapters provide epistemological and psychological insights into a conceptual reassessment of rational reconstruction from a pragmatic point of view The second focus is on formal epistemology where there has recently been a vigorous contribution from experts in epistemic and doxastic logics and an attempt to account for a more realistic cognitively plausible conception of knowledge The third part of this book examines the meeting point between logic and the human and social sciences and the fourth part focuses on research at the intersection between linguistics and psychology Internationally renowned scholars have contributed to this volume building on the findings and themes relevant to an interdisciplinary scientific project called DiaRaFor Dialogue Rationality Formalisms which was hosted by the MSH Lorraine Lorraine Institute for Social Sciences and Humanities from 2007 to 2011
