Confessions Impressions:

Confessions Thomas Docherty, 2012-08-01 This book explores what is at stake in the confessional culture Thomas Docherty examines confessional writings from Augustine to Derrida arguing that through all this work runs a philosophical substratum the conditions under which it is possible to assert a confessional mode that needs exploration and explication

Confessions Carolyn J.-B. Hammond, 2016 Aurelius Augustine AD 354 430 one of the most important figures in western Christianity and philosophy was the son of a pagan Patricius of Tagaste and his Christian wife Monnica While studying to become a rhetorician he plunged into a turmoil of philosophical and psychological doubts leading him to Manichaeism In 383 he moved to Rome and then Milan to teach rhetoric Despite exploring classical philosophical systems especially skepticism and Neoplatonism his studies of Paul's letters with his friend Alypius and the preaching of Bishop Ambrose led in 386 to his momentous conversion from mixed beliefs to Christianity He soon returned to Tagaste and founded a religious community and in 395 or 396 became Bishop of Hippo Confessions composed ca 397 is a spiritual autobiography of Augustine's early life family personal and intellectual associations and explorations of alternative religious and theological viewpoints as he moved toward his conversion Cast as a prayer addressed to God though always conscious of its readers Confessions offers a gripping personal story and a philosophical exploration destined to have broad and lasting impact delivered with Augustine's characteristic brilliance as a stylist Amazon

Confessions of Guilt George C. Thomas III, Richard A. Leo, 2012-04-13 The extreme interrogation tactics permitted after the 9/11 attacks illustrate that the level of fear in society influences law Confessions of Guilt traces the law of interrogation as it reflects the level of threat felt in society moving back and forth from greater to lesser tolerance of high pressure police tactics Rediscovering Confession David A. Steere, 2009-05-26

Rediscovering Confession is about recovering the experience of confession in danger now of becoming a lost art It identifies four elements present in psychotherapy and confession a state of heightened self awareness a growing realization that our predicament points in some meaningful direction beyond itself the necessity to make a relevant response to our situation and a potential for spiritual encounter that accompanies the process Each chapter contains a section devoted to practice with exercises for individual contemplation and experimentation guidelines for forming a confessional partnership directions for conducting discussions in a study group and ways to organize a small confessional group A Collection of Confessions of Faith, Catechisms, Directories, Books of Discipline, &c. Of Publick Authority in the Church of Scotland Church of Scotland, 1719

Confessions of J. H. Noyes. Part 1. Confession of religious experience including a history of modern Perfectionism John Humphrey NOYES, 1849 On the Admissibility of Confessions and Challenge of Jurors in Criminal Cases in England and Ireland Henry Holmes Joy, 1842 A Cabinet of Choice Jewels, etc Thomas Brooks, 1861 Coerced Confessions Susan Berk-Seligson, 2009-05-05 The book presents a discourse analysis of police interrogations involving U S Hispanic suspects accused of crimes The study is unique in that it concentrates on interrogations involving suspects whose first language is not English and police officers who have a rudimentary knowledge of Spanish. It examines the pitfalls of using police officers as interpreters at custodial interrogations. Using an interactional sociolinguistic discourse analytical approach, the book offers a microlinguistic examination of interrogations involving persons accused of murder, child molestation and kidnapping. Communication difficulties are shown to arise from suspects' limited proficiency in English and police officers' equally limited proficiency in Spanish, coupled with the unwillingness of these officers to remain in interpreter footing. The volume demonstrates how pidginization and asymmetrical communicative accommodation can emerge in such situations of highly unequal power relations. It also demonstrates how cultural factors such as acquiescence to interlocutors of greater authority and higher socioeconomic status can lead persons of certain Latin American backgrounds to engage in gratuitous concurrence, answering yes to police questions even when it is clear that these yes tokens are not truly affirmative responses to those questions. In addition, the book provides evidence of the kinds of abuse that can result from police interrogations that are not electronically recorded. Coerced Confessions reviews appellate cases involving police interpreters spanning a thirty-four year period and concludes that the Miranda rights are placed in jeopardy when a police officer is assigned the role of interpreter at a custodial interrogation. Confessions of an English

Opium-eater Thomas De Quincey, 1899 Confessions of a Public School Teacher Michael Marra, 2021-04-07 Confessions of a Public School Teacher A 35 Year Veteran's Assessment on How Public Education Can Make the Grade By Michael Marra A veteran teacher of 35 years Michael Marra believes deeply in education's power to change lives. His enthusiasm for helping children realize their full potential lies at the core of his lessons. His efforts to make history and economics classes relevant to students' lives both inside and outside the classroom permeate his lively teaching style. Marra's philosophy on how best to improve our public schools does not sit well with teacher unions. He believes strongly that tenure, seniority and near endless due process protect poor performing teachers and need swift meaningful revision. On this Marra is unwavering and he presents refreshing suggestions for unlocking what he believes have become the greatest shackles on American schools. Readers will be well informed to make their own assessment on these critical issues. Part memoir, part argument and part how to guide for aspiring educators, Confessions of a Public School Teacher is a must read for anyone who believes true learning and development to be worthwhile pursuits. Marra's quest to leave the classroom a bit better than he found it is both his greatest support of those we cherish dearly, our children, and an invitation for the reader to join the conversation. Confessions of John H. Noyes John Humphrey Noyes, 1849 W.B. Yeats and the Muses Joseph M.

Hassett, 2010-07-22 W B Yeats and the Muses explores how nine fascinating women inspired much of W B Yeats's poetry. These women are particularly important because Yeats perceived them in terms of beliefs about poetic inspiration akin to the Greek notion that a great poet is inspired and possessed by the feminine voices of the Muses. Influenced by the Pre-Raphaelite idea of woman as romantic and mysterious, still the priestess of her shrine, Yeats found his Muses in living women.

His extraordinarily long and fruitful poetic career was fuelled by passionate relationships with women to and about whom he wrote some of his most compelling poetry The book summarizes the different Muse traditions that were congenial to Yeats and shows how his perception of these women as Muses underlies his poetry Newly available letters and manuscripts are used to explore the creative process and interpret the poems Because Yeats believed that lyric poetry is no rootless flower but the speech of a man exploring the relationship between poem and Muse brings new coherence to the poetry illuminates the process of its creation and unlocks the second beauty to which Yeats referred when he claimed that works of lyric genius when the circumstances of their origin is known gain a second a beauty passing as it were out of literature and becoming life As life emerges from the literature the Muses are shown to be vibrant multi faceted personalities who shatter the idea of the Muse as a passive stereotype and take their proper place as begetters of timeless poetry
