Aging In Rural Settings:

Aging in Rural Settings Raymond T. Coward, John A. Krout, 1998 This text provides the critical dimensions of growing old in rural environments Prominent researchers explore issues related to life conditions diversity services and public policies for rural elders A comprehensive overview of the field this volume addresses the major contemporary themes that dominate rural living today Special attention is given to populations such as women African Americans the oldest old and the poor generally considered at greater risk of poor health social isolation and economic vulnerability Rural Aging in 21st Century America Nina Glasgow, E. Helen Berry, 2012-12-14 This book investigates sociological demographic and geographic aspects of aging in rural and nonmetropolitan areas of the United States Population aging is one of the most important trends of the 20th and 21st centuries and it is occurring worldwide especially in more developed countries such as the United States Population aging is more rapid in rural than urban areas of the U S In 2010 15 percent of the nonmetropolitan compared to 12 percent of the metropolitan population were 65 years of age and older By definition rural communities have smaller sized populations and more limited healthcare transportation and other aging relevant services than do urban areas It is thus especially important to study and understand aging in rural environments Rural Aging in 21st Century America contributes evidence based policy relevant information on rural aging in the U S A primary objective of the book is to improve understanding of what makes the experience of rural aging different from aging in urban areas and to increase understanding of the aged change the nature of rural places The book addresses unique features of rural aging across economic racial ethnic migration and other structures and patterns all with a focus on debunking myths about rural aging and to emphasize opportunities and challenges that rural places and older people experience Aging in Rural Places

Elaine Jurkowski, 2014-09-08 Research documents that rural elders are poorer live in less adequate housing and have far fewer health and service options available to them than their urban counterparts yet there is a critical lack of current and detailed information on the problems facing rural elders and on the professional practices that serve this population This text fills this gap by introducing readers to rural areas and their residents and discussing the issues programs and policies designed to meet their needs Through a multidisciplinary lens it examines and defines specific competencies required for successful work with older adults and their families in these communities The text presents a research driven competency based approach for the health and human service professionals who work with older rural residents It discusses both the problems facing older adults and their families and evidence based solutions regarding policy and best practices Key issues examined include health and wellness transportation housing long term care income employment and retirement along with the needs of special populations ethnic minorities immigrants and the LGBT population Case examples reinforce an interdisciplinary model that addresses practice with rural elders that encompasses professional competencies values and ethics and the roles of a spectrum of health and human service professionals The text also examines current policies affecting health and social services to rural elders and recommendations for policy change to build an effective health and human service workforce in rural communities In addition the text provides discussion questions PowerPoint slides a test question bank and suggested activities and exercises Key Features Fills a vacuum regarding information on health and social services for rural elders Provides current and comprehensive knowledge about issues besetting this population and programs and policies designed to meet their needs Examines and defines specific competencies required for effective health and social services Based on a research driven competency based interdisciplinary approach to policy and best practice Rural Gerontology Mark Skinner, Rachel Winterton, Kieran Walsh, 2020-12-29 This book provides the first foundation of knowledge about the intellectual traditions contemporary scope and future prospects for the interdisciplinary field of rural gerontology With a focus on rural regions small towns and villages which have the highest rates of population ageing worldwide Rural Gerontology is aimed at understanding what it means for rural people communities and institutions to be at the forefront of twenty first century demographic change The book offers important insights from rural ageing studies into today s most pressing gerontological problems With chapters from more than 65 established and emerging rural ageing researchers it is the first synthesis of knowledge about rural gerontology harnessing a burgeoning interdisciplinary scholarship on the rural dimensions of ageing old age and older populations With a view to advancing a critical understanding of rural ageing populations this book will have an overreaching impact across the social sciences by drawing on advancements in understandings of rural ageing from social environmental geographical and critical gerontology to facilitate a comprehensive exploration of the diversity complexity and implications of the ageing process in rural settings Bringing together valuable international perspectives this book makes a timely contribution to gerontology rural studies and the social sciences and will appeal to scholars and researchers across USA and Canada UK and Ireland Australia and New Zealand Europe China and countries in Africa South America and South East Asia Health Promotion and Aging David Haber, 2013-03-26 Print CourseSmart Rural Ageing Keating, Norah C, 2008-05-14 In western countries our knowledge of ageing has been developed primarily through an urban lens with rural issues typically considered in relation to urban research policy and programme outcomes This title provides a much needed corrective by focusing on diversity among rural communities

The Role of the Church in Aging: Implications for policy and action Michael C. Hendrickson, 1985 This informative volume examines the multidimensional nature of aging identifies key issues involved in meeting the needs of the growing numbers of older adults and suggests effective methods of mobilizing resources to better meet the needs of the aging population Handbook of Aging, Health and Public Policy S.
