China's Aging Population China Development Research Foundation, 2024-08-02 This book provides a systematic study of the challenges of aging in China and of the measures being taken planned and still needed to cope with the challenges It highlights that the number of people aged 65 or above is growing and that the growth will accelerate from 176 million people representing 12.6% of the population in 2019 to 310 million representing 22.3% of the population by 2035 and it also highlights that the aging comes at a time when China s economy is not yet fully developed and not yet fully balanced The book outlines how China has already established an elderly care system and is beginning to meet the needs of the elderly for economic security social services and so on discusses the need for enhancing and considerably extending the existing system and proposes reform ideas and key policy options

Cyber Defence in the Age of AI, Smart Societies and Augmented Humanity Hamid Jahankhani, Stefan Kendzierskyj, Nishan Chelvachandran, Jaime Ibarra, 2020-04-06 This publication highlights the fast moving technological advancement and infiltration of Artificial Intelligence into society Concepts of evolution of society through interconnectivity are explored together with how the fusion of human and technological interaction leading to Augmented Humanity is fast becoming more than just an endemic phase but a cultural phase shift to digital societies. It aims to balance both the positive progressive outlooks such developments bring with potential issues that may stem from innovation of this kind such as the invasive procedures of bio hacking or ethical connotations concerning the usage of digital twins. This publication will also give the reader a good level of understanding on fundamental cyber defence principles interactions with Critical National Infrastructure CNI and the Command Control Communications and Intelligence C3I decision making framework. A detailed view of the cyber attack landscape will be garnered touching on the tactics techniques and procedures used red and blue teaming initiatives cyber resilience and the protection of larger scale systems. The integration of AI smart societies the human centric approach and Augmented Humanity is discernible in the exponential growth collection and use of big data concepts woven throughout the diversity of topics covered in this publication which also discusses the privacy and transparency of data ownership and the potential dangers of exploitation through social media. As humans are become ever more interconnected with the prolificacy of smart wearable devices and wearable body area networks the availability of and abundance of user data and metadata derived from individuals has grown exponentially. The notion of data ownership privacy and situational awareness are now at the forefront in this new age.

Smart Ageing in Urban China Yi Yu, 2025-09-26 This book provides an in depth study of community and home eldercare in modern China examining its integration with urban community governance. Community eldercare established through public private partnerships reveals a hybrid economy where state control and marketization coexist. By situating eldercare within the community it becomes intertwined with population governance particularly with the recent adoption of smart care technologies. As a result community eldercare transforms into a semi public space that combines elements of social physical and emotional homes for older adults. The book explores caregivers work framing it as bodily dirty and emotional labor. In the current trend of digitalization caregivers are not only monitored by digital technologies but are also required to interact with these technologies in addition to providing direct care. Drawing on ethnographic analysis this book is an invaluable resource for students and scholars in human geography gerontology and Asian studies as well as for policymakers and practitioners in the rapidly expanding field of eldercare. It will also resonate with a broader audience interested in the global implications of population aging and the integration of technology in care systems.
