Jefferson Kline,2013-12-04 Over nearly sixty years Agn s Varda b 1928 has given interviews that are revealing not only of her work but of her remarkably ambiguous status She has been called the Mother of the New Wave but suffered for many years for never having been completely accepted by the cinematic establishment in France Varda s first film La Pointe Courte 1954 displayed many of the characteristics of the two later films that launched the New Wave Truffaut s 400 Blows and Godard s Breathless In a low budget film using as yet unknown actors and working entirely outside the prevailing studio system Varda completely abandoned the tradition of quality that Truffaut was at that very time condemning in the pages of Cahiers du cinema Her work however was not discovered until after Truffaut and Godard had broken onto the scene in 1959 Varda s next film Cleo from 5 to 7 attracted considerably more attention and was selected as France s official entry for the Festival in Cannes Ultimately however this film and her work for the next fifty years continued to be overshadowed by her more famous male friends many of whom she mentored and advised Her films have finally earned recognition as deeply probing and fundamental to the growing awareness in France of women s issues and the role of women in the cinema I m not philosophical she says not metaphysical Feelings are the ground on which people can be led to think about things I try to show everything that happens in such a way and ask questions so as to leave the viewers free to make their own judgments The panoply of interviews here emphasizes her core belief that we never stop learning and reveal the wealth of ways to answer her questions Agnes Varda ,1994 Agnes Varda between Film, Photography, and Art Rebecca J. closely associated with the French New Wave Varda established her groundbreaking visual style in her 1955 debut film La Pointe Courte well before other milestones such as François Truffaut's The 400 Blows and Jean-Luc Godard's Breathless. Varda impacted cinema from her first feature film through her final works with an expansive oeuvre that includes Cleo from 5 to 7 (1962), Vagabond (1985) and the Academy Award-nominated Faces Places (2017). Agnès Varda: Director's Inspiration presents the first English language visual showcase for Varda's inspirations, art and personal life incorporating original materials from her personal archive on rue Daguerre. The book covers Varda's three lives as photographer, filmmaker and visual artist and features a previously unpublished interview Varda gave to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on the eve of receiving her Honorary Oscar in 2017. Essays by author Sasha Archibald and film critic Peter Debruge examine facets of Varda's creative lives and personal reflections; by friends and colleagues illustrate what it was like to collaborate with and be inspired by Varda. Agnès Varda (1928–2019) was a French filmmaker, photographer and visual artist, sometimes called the grandmother of the French New Wave. Future Varda Rebecca J. Deroo, Homa King, 2021-04-26 This special issue recognizes the work and legacy of Agnès Varda (1928–2019), a Belgian-born film director, screenwriter, photographer, and artist whose work was part of the French New Wave film movement of the 1950s and 1960s. In the wake of Varda's passing in March 2019, contributors offer reflections on the continued relevance of her work. Until the end of her life, Varda was engaged with feminism, ethics, politics, and the representation of women in the film industry. Rather than focusing on Varda's most famous films, the contributors to this issue consider aspects of her oeuvre that have contemporary relevance and those that point to the future: films, art installations, and photographs that have received less scholarly attention; her political activism;

her role as manager of her own production company and her Instagram presence By emphasizing these often overlooked elements of Varda s creative output the contributors reveal the depth of her artistic legacy and demonstrate how vastly important and interconnected her entire body of work is Contributors Dominique Bluher Nadine Boljkovac Kelley Conway Rebecca J DeRoo Sandy Flitterman Lewis Colleen Kennedy Karpatt Homa King Matt St John Emma Wilson Agnes Varda ,1987 Agnes Varda , The 14th Singapore International Film Festival, 11-28 April, 2001 /[sponsors, Caltex]. ,2001

Cléo de 5 À 7 Valerie Orpen,2007 Remarkable even by New Wave standards Cléo de 5 à 7 is a moving and self reflexive film from one of the period s very few French female directors As Valerie Orpen explains Agnes Varda s film about a woman awaiting the results of her cancer test is aesthetically innovative and politically aware as well as an excellent document of the Parisian street life of 1961 Cléo de 5 à 7 Steven Ungar,2020-05-28 Cléo de 5 à 7 Cléo from 5 to 7 Agnes Varda s classic 1962 work depicts in near real time 90 minutes in the life of Cléo a young woman in Paris awaiting the results of medical tests that she fears will confirm a fatal condition The film whose visual beauty matches its evocation of early Fifth Republic Paris was a major point of reference for the French New Wave despite the fact that Varda never considered herself a member of the core Cahiers du cin ma group of critics turned film makers Ungar provides a close reading of the film and situates it in its social political and cinematic contexts tracing Varda s early career as a student of art history and as a photographer the history of post war French film and the lengthy Algerian war to which Cléo s health concerns and ambitions to become a pop singer make her more or less oblivious His study is the first to set a reading of Cléo s formal and technical complexity alongside an analysis of its status as a visual document of its historical moment Steven Ungar s foreword to this new edition looks back upon Varda s film making career and considers her contributions as a female auteur and in the context of the French New Wave
