Farm Sector Restructuring in Belarus Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, Sergei Sotnikov, 2000 Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Belarus is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique features of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank's recommendations more credible and relevant The survey findings in this volume will provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country's government and supply international donors that are active there with essential information to design their strategic programs

A Diagnostic Framework for Revenue Administration Jit B. S. Gill, 2000-01-01 A systematic diagnosis of a revenue administration is a prerequisite to developing a successful strategy for its reform However given the complexity of tax and customs administration this is not a simple task A host of external and internal factors need to be analyzed to uncover the roots of organizational and institutional dysfunction Also the diagnosis needs to be done in a participatory manner to build consensus around the causes for inadequate performance and their remedies This framework enables a step by step analysis of the environment history resources strategy transformation processes outputs and feedback mechanisms of the revenue administration system with a view to identifying systemic deficiencies that lead to inefficiency and ineffectiveness in its operations Besides a detailed set of diagnostic questions for each area of analysis the framework provides illustrations of frequently encountered problems and their possible remedies The framework can be used in a group setting involving different stakeholders to guide brainstorming sessions and draft reform strategies

Financial Markets, Credit Constraints, and Investment in Rural Romania Rodrigo Chaves, 2001 This study evaluates the performance of financial markets in rural areas of Romania based on the 1998 rural household rural enterprise and financial intermediary surveys along with other official statistical data for 1997 It presents empirical evidence indicating that constrained access to credit markets negatively influences the investment behavior of households and enterprises The report recommends a detailed government strategy to correct the observed shortcomings of rural financial markets and identifies new challenges that are
