Substantial Justice Michael Goddard, 2009-07-01 Papua New Guinea's village court system was introduced in 1974 partly in an effort to overcome the legal geographical and social distance between village societies and the country's formal courts. There are now more than 1100 village courts all over PNG hearing thousands of cases each week. This anthropological study is grounded in ethnographic research on three different village courts and the communities they serve. It also explores the colonial historical background to the establishment of the village court system and the local and global processes influencing the efforts of village courts to deal with everyday disputes among grassroots Melanesians. Indo-Burma

Frontier and the Making of the Chin Hills Pum Khan Pau, 2019-08-05 This book examines the British colonial expansion in the so-called unadministered hill tracts of the Indo-Burma frontier and the change of colonial policy from non-intervention to intervention. The book begins with the end of the First Anglo-Burmese War 1824-26 which resulted in the British annexation of the North Eastern Frontier of Bengal and the extension of its sway over the Arakan and Manipur frontiers and closes with the separation of Burma from India in 1937. The volume documents the resistance of the indigenous hill peoples to colonial penetration, administrative policies such as disarmament, subjugation of the local chiefs under a colonial legal framework and its impact, standardisation of Chin as an ethnic category for the fragmented tribes and sub-tribes and the creation and consolidation of the Chin Hills District as a political entity to provide an extensive account of British relations with the indigenous Chin community from 1824 to 1935. By situating these within the larger context of British imperial policy, the book makes a critical analysis of the British approach towards the Indo-Burma frontier. With its coverage of key archival sources and literature, this book will interest scholars and researchers in modern Indian history, military history, colonial history, British history, South Asian history and Southeast Asian history. Constitutional Law of Papua New Guinea

Eric Lokai Kwa, 2001 Providing a description of the role and functions of the Constitution, especially the National Goals and Directive Principles, this book contains detailed treatment of the various categories of the laws prescribed by the Constitution. In addition, the main institutions of the state are identified and discussed. Gender Analysis in Papua New Guinea

Elizabeth C. Brouwer, Bruce M. Harris, Sonomi Tanaka, 1998-01-01 In October 1996 The East Asia and Pacific Region developed a Regional Gender Action Plan that stressed the importance of country-specific strategies regarding gender issues. This report on gender in Papua New Guinea intends to lay the foundation for such a strategy. The report provides an outline of the key historical, economic, demographic, political, geographic, socio-cultural, legal and institutional issues that are relevant to understanding the status of women in Papua New Guinea today. South Pacific Bibliography, 1996 Proceedings of the ...
