Customs Modernization Initiatives Luc De Wulf, José B. Sokol, 2004 A companion to the Customs Modernization Handbook this book provides case studies on customs modernization initiatives in seven countries Bolivia Morocco Mozambique Peru the Philippines Turkey and Uganda The initiatives in each of these countries show similarities as well as differences in their approach and design Some have relied on a model of independent revenue authorities Uganda and Peru others have called upon private sector service providers to initiate the modernization process Mozambique others have taken the drastic step of a complete overhaul of their customs staff Bolivia and Mozambique others introduced new information technology to streamline customs processes and to integrate other members of the trading community into an electronic network Ghana while still others have approached the modernization process as a pragmatic well focused result oriented process

Customs Modernization Handbook Luc De Wulf, Jose B. Sokol, 2005-01-03 Trade integration contributes substantially to economic development and poverty alleviation In recent years much progress was made to liberalize the trade regime but customs procedures are often still complex costly and non transparent This situation leads to misallocation of resources Customs Modernization Handbook provides an overview of the key elements of a successful customs modernization strategy and draws lessons from a number of successful customs reforms as well as from customs reform projects that have been undertaken by the World Bank It describes a number of key import procedures that have proved particularly troublesome for customs administrations and traders and provides practical guidelines to enhance their efficiency The Handbook also reviews the appropriate legal framework for customs operations as well as strategies to combat corruption

OECD Trade Policy Studies Overcoming Border Bottlenecks The Costs and Benefits of Trade Facilitation OECD, 2009-01-19 Six studies that examine how border bottlenecks affect trade and investment flows how these bottlenecks might be reduced and whether the expense involved is worth it

Implementing a WTO Agreement on Trade Facilitation J. M. Finger, John Sullivan Wilson, 2006 Contrary to the prevailing view that the Doha negotiations have achieved little the authors find that on trade facilitation much progress has been made This is particularly true in regard to action by development banks and bilateral development agencies to meet client demand for assistance in reform Active private sector participation has been an important factor driving change Many agencies have been involved in this work The authors find that their roles have been consistent with their comparative advantages As to how the international community can best support continued progress the authors conclude in favor of a cautious approach to the imposition of new WTO obligations in the area of trade facilitation On the whole this is the approach the WTO has taken for example by limiting its negotiations on trade facilitation to several specific provisions of the GATT The WTO can continue to function as a catalyst for reform It is perhaps uniquely placed to relate the trade facilitation agenda to the overall trade agenda On design and construction of the relevant infrastructures and capacities to spur development the development institutions including bilateral agencies should continue to lead The authors find little evidence to support the need for a comprehensive new platform or mechanism to channel trade related aid as part of implementation of any new agreement at the WTO on trade facilitation They recommend however that an innovative approach to using the well established but under utilized Trade Policy Review Mechanism be considered to increase transparency on where new aid is going over time and to expand understanding of where and how country based progress has been achieved World Bank web site World Development Report 2011 World Bank,2011-05-01 The 2011 WDR on Conflict Security and Development underlines the devastating impact of persistent conflict on a country or region s development prospects noting that the 1 5 billion people living in conflict affected areas are twice as likely to be in poverty Its goal is to contribute concrete practical suggestions on conflict and fragility

E-development Robert Schwarc,2005-01-01 Information and communication technologies ICTs are increasingly being recognized as essential tools of development tools that can empower poor people enhance skills increase productivity and improve governance at all levels The success of ICT enabled development or e development will thus not be measured by the diffusion of technology but by advances in development itself economic growth and ultimately achievement of the Millenium Development Goals This volume examines a wide range of issues related to e development with a focus on the requirements and realities of using ICTs to advance development goals The report does not attempt to present a comprehensive overview of e development Rather it highlights key issues that have immediate relevance to policy makers in developing nations who make decisions on investments and development goals It highlights two issues in particular e government and e education because ICT applications in these areas can lead to significant development outcomes and can also be successfully deployed through public private partnerships leveraging limited government funding to achieve greater impact Global Problems, Smart Solutions Bjørn Lomborg,2013-11-14 A high profile thought experiment asks leading scholars to make cases for spending additional aid money to combat major world problems
