The Coupling Convention Ann DuCille, 2023

The Coupling Convention : Sex, Text, and Tradition in Black

Women's Fiction Ann duCille Associate Professor of English and African American Studies Wesleyan University, 1993-10-19

What does the tradition of marriage mean for people who have historically been deprived of its legal status? Generally thought of as a convention of the white middle class, the marriage plot has received little attention from critics of African American literature. In this study, Ann duCille uses texts such as Nella Larsen's Quicksand (1928) and Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God (1937) to demonstrate that the African American novel, like its European and Anglo American counterparts, has developed around the marriage plot, what she calls the coupling convention. Exploring the relationship between racial ideology and literary and social conventions, duCille uses the coupling convention to trace the historical development of the African American women's novel. She demonstrates the ways in which black women appropriated this novelistic device as a means of expressing and reclaiming their own identity. More than just a study of the marriage tradition in black women's fiction, however, The Coupling Convention takes up and takes on many different meanings of tradition. It challenges the notion of a single black literary tradition or of a single black feminist literary canon grounded in specifically black female language and experience as it explores the ways in which white and black male and female mainstream and marginalized traditions and canons have influenced and cross-fertilized each other. Much more than a period study, The Coupling Convention spans the period from 1853 to 1948, addressing the vital questions of gender, subjectivity, race, and the canon that inform literary study today. In this original work, duCille offers a new paradigm for reading black women's fiction.

Black Women's Intellectual Traditions Kristin Waters, Carol B. Conaway, 2022-11-21

A new edition of a landmark work on Black women's intellectual traditions. An astonishing wealth of literary and intellectual work by nineteenth-century Black women is being rediscovered and restored to print. In Kristin B. Waters's and Carol B. Conaway's landmark edited collection Black Women's Intellectual Traditions, sophisticated commentary on this rich body of work chronicles a powerful and interwoven legacy of activism based on social and political theories that helped shape the history of North America. Black Women's Intellectual Traditions meticulously reclaims this American legacy, providing a collection of critical analyses of the primary sources and their vital traditions. Written by leading scholars, this book is particularly powerful in its exploration of the pioneering thought and action of the nineteenth-century Black woman lecturer and essayist Maria W. Stewart, abolitionist Sojourner Truth, novelist and poet Frances Ellen Watkins Harper, educator Anna Julia Cooper, newspaper editor Mary Ann Shadd Cary, and activist Ida B. Wells. The volume will interest scholars and readers of African American and women's studies, history, rhetoric, literature, poetry, sociology, political science, and philosophy. This updated edition features a new preface by the editors in light of current scholarship.

Racial Discourse and Cosmopolitanism in Twentieth-Century African American Writing Tania Friedel, 2010-06-21 This book engages cosmopolitanism a critical mode which moves beyond cultural pluralism by simultaneously privileging difference and commonality in order to examine its particular deployment in the work of several African American writers Deeply influenced and inspired by W E B Du Bois the writers closely examined in this study Jean Toomer Jessie Fauset Langston Hughes and Albert Murray have advanced cosmopolitanism to meet its own theoretical principals in the contested arena of racial discourse while remaining integral figures in a larger tradition of cosmopolitan thought Rather than become mired in fixed categorical distinctions their cosmopolitan perspective values the pluralist belief in the distinctiveness of different cultural groups while allowing for the possibility of inter ethnic subjectivities intercultural affiliations and change in any given mode of identification This study advances cosmopolitanism as a useful model for like minded critics and intellectuals today who struggle with contemporary debates regarding multiculturalism and universalism in a rapidly yet unevenly globalizing world

Chaotic Justice John Ernest, 2009-11-15 What is African American about African American literature Why identify it as a distinct tradition John Ernest contends that too often scholars have relied on naive concepts of race superficial conceptions of African American history and the marginalization of important strains of black scholarship With this book he creates a new and just retelling of African American literary history that neither ignores nor transcends racial history Ernest revisits the work of nineteenth century writers and activists such as Henry Box Brown Frederick Douglass Harriet Wilson William Wells Brown and Sojourner Truth demonstrating that their concepts of justice were far more radical than those imagined by most white sympathizers He sheds light on the process of reading publishing studying and historicizing this work during the twentieth century Looking ahead to the future of the field Ernest offers new principles of justice that grant fragmented histories partial recoveries and still unprinted texts the same value as canonized works His proposal is both a historically informed critique of the field and an invigorating challenge to present and future scholars
