

Adam & Eve created equally

Because of this:

- Women should be treated equally
- Women are respected by Catholics
- Women can be priests in C of E

Adam & Eve unequal because Eve was tempted

Because of this:

- Women should be inferior to men
- Women shouldn't do same jobs as men
- Women can't be priests
- Women can't be equal

St. Paul said:

"Women should be silent in Church"

- Women are not equal
- Can't be priests

"There is neither Jew nor Gentile, man or woman, we are all equal in Christ"

- Women are equal
- Can be priests
- No prejudice or discrimination

St. Peter said:

"God has no favourites amongst races"

- Don't be racist
- Allow people to practice religion
- Allow people to change
- Inter marry

"There are many rooms in my fathers house"

- Pluralism and freedom are good
- No racism
- Be tolerant

The Good Samaritan:

A man was beaten and left for dead. Two 2 people left him because it was hassle/against their religion. His enemy, a Samaritan, helped him and gave him money to sort himself out.

Meaning:

Treat everyone the same even your enemies. Show compassion to all.

Because of this:

- No sexism
- No racism
- No intolerance of other faiths
- Pro multi-faith and ethnicity.

Jesus had women disciples and he appeared to women first after resurrection

Because of this:

- Women should be equal in all ways..
- Allowed to be priests

Q: Where is the woman?
A: There isn't one!

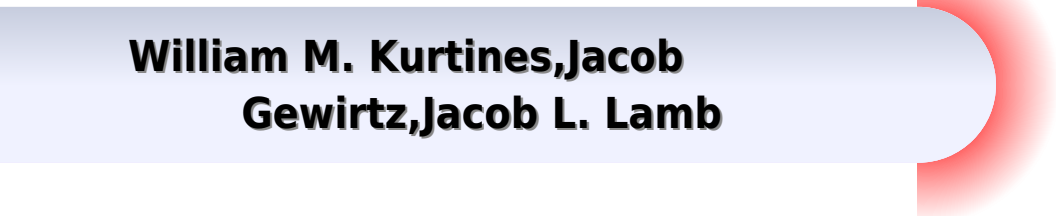

Because of this:

- Only men can become priests.
- Only men are important in Church

Creating Religious Childhoods in Anglo-World and British Colonial Contexts, 1800-1950 Hugh Morrison,Mary Clare Martin,2017-01-20 Drawing on examples from British world expressions of Christianity this collection further greater understanding of religion as a critical element of modern children s and young people s history It builds on emerging scholarship that challenges the view that religion had a solely negative impact on nineteenth and twentieth century children or that secularization is the only lens to apply to childhood and religion Putting forth the argument that religion was an abiding influence among British world children throughout the nineteenth and most of the twentieth centuries this volume places religion at the center of analysis and discussion At the same time it positions the religious factor within a broader social and cultural framework The essays focus on the historical contexts in which religion was formative for children in various British settings denoted as Anglo or colonial during the nineteenth and early to mid twentieth centuries These contexts include mission fields churches families Sunday schools camps schools and youth movements Together they are treated as sites in which religion contributed to identity formation albeit in different ways relating to such factors as gender race disability and denomination The contributors develop this subject for childhoods that were experienced largely but not exclusively outside the metropole in a diversity of geographical settings By extending the geographic range even within the British world it provides a more rounded perspective on children s global engagement with religion

Children of Prejudiced Parents Jayshree Biswas,1991 One Family Richard Seltzer,2024-12-01 In this mosaic of historical and personal anecdotes fact and fiction are intertwined We lie to ourselves and to one another and coincidence shifts the paths of our lives this way and that We believe what we re ready to believe and what we believe is more important than what actually happens And we all share a common ancestry connected as one family

Signposts - Policy and practice for teaching about religions and non-religious world views in intercultural education Robert Jackson,2014-08-01 How can the study of religions and non religious world views contribute to intercultural education in schools in Europe An important recommendation from the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe Recommendation CM Rec 2008 12 on the dimension of religions and non religious convictions within intercultural education aimed to explain the nature and objectives of this form of education Signposts goes much further by providing advice to policy makers schools including teachers senior managers and governors and teacher trainers on tackling issues arising from the recommendation Taking careful account of feedback from education officials teachers and teacher trainers in Council of Europe member states Signposts gives advice for example on clarifying the terms used in this form of education developing competences for teaching and learning and working with different didactical approaches creating safe space for moderated student to student dialogue in the classroom helping students to analyse media representations of religions discussing non religious world views alongside religious perspectives handling human rights issues relating to religion and belief and linking schools including schools of different types to one another and to wider communities and organisations Signposts is not a curriculum or a policy statement It aims to give policy makers schools and teacher trainers in the Council of Europe member states as well as others who wish to use it the tools to work through the issues arising from interpretation of the recommendation to meet the needs of individual countries Signposts results from the work of an international panel of experts convened jointly by the Council of Europe and the European Wergeland Centre and is written on the group's behalf by Professor Robert Jackson Adolescence, Discrimination, and the Law Roger J.R. Levesque, 2017-05 Explores the shifts and the research used to support civil rights claims of discrimination particularly relating to minority youths' rights to equal treatment In the wake of the civil rights movement the legal system dramatically changed its response to discrimination based on race gender and other characteristics It is now showing signs of yet another dramatic shift as it moves from considering difference to focusing on neutrality Rather than seeking to counter subjugation through special protections for groups that have been historically and currently disadvantaged the Court now adopts a colorblind approach Equality now means treating everyone the same way This book explores these shifts and the research used to support civil rights claims particularly relating to minority youths' rights to equal treatment It integrates developmental theory with work on legal equality and discrimination showing both how the legal system can benefit from new research on development and how the legal system itself can work to address invidious discrimination given its significant influence on adolescents especially those who are racial minorities at a key stage in their developmental life Adolescents' Discrimination and the Law articulates the need to address discrimination by recognizing and enlisting the law's inculcative powers in multiple sites subject to legal regulation ranging from families schools health and justice systems to religious and community groups The legal system may champion ideals of neutrality in the goals it sets itself for treating individuals but it cannot remain neutral in the values it supports and imparts This volume shows that despite the shift to a focus on neutrality the Court can and should effectively foster values supporting equality especially among youth
