The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2016 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments Nevertheless despite the prominence of fact finding it remains strikingly under studied and under theorized Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions methodologies and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School s Center for Human Rights and Global Justice Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law international relations and critical theory This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues fact finding for advocacy enforcement and litigation the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies crowd sourcing social media and big data and international guidelines for fact finding Five Years of Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Robert M. Rutherford, 1954 Wildlife Research and Management Leaflet ,1936 Wildlife Review ,1942 How We Age Coleen T. Murphy, 2025-05-20 How recent breakthroughs in longevity research offer clues about human aging All of us would like to live longer or to slow the debilitating effects of age In How We Age Coleen Murphy shows how recent research on longevity and aging may be bringing us closer to this goal Murphy a leading scholar of aging explains that the study of model systems particularly simple invertebrate animals combined with breakthroughs in genomic methods have allowed scientists to probe the molecular mechanisms of longevity and aging Understanding the fundamental biological rules that govern aging in model systems provides clues about how we might slow human aging which could lead in turn to new therapeutics and treatments for age related disease Among other vivid examples Murphy describes research that shows how changing a single gene in the nematode worm C elegans doubles its lifespan extending not only the end of life but also the youthful healthy part of life Drawing on work in her own lab as well as other recent research Murphy chronicles the history and current state of the field explaining longevity s links to reproduction and mating sensory and cognitive function inheritances from our ancestors and the gut microbiome Written with clarity and wit How We Age provides a guide to the science what we know about aging how we know what we know and what we can do with this new knowledge A Report Epitomizing the Results of Major Fact-finding Surveys and Projects which Have Been Undertaken National Conference on Outdoor Recreation (U.S.),1928 More Equal than Others? Daniele Amoroso,Loris Marotti,Pierfrancesco Rossi,Andrea Spagnolo,Giovanni Zarra,2022-11-18 This book analyses the principle of equality from three perspectives public international law private international law and EU law It is the first book in English providing a comprehensive overview of this principle in these areas of law and showing the current trends and issues concerning its application Its main goal is to understand whether and to what extent the principle of equality has been affirmed in public and private international law as well as EU law and what if any the common core of this principle is The analysis carried out in this contributed volume starts from general analyses of the principle of equality in the areas of the law covered by the book and then discusses the principle in more specific areas such as human rights law international adjudication including investment law and the law of international organizations The book is intended to become a benchmark for academics dealing with matters of equality in public international law private international law and EU law It will be a useful tool for practitioners too the collected chapters being based on the relevant case law dealing with the principle of equality Daniele Amoroso is Professor of International Law in the Department of Law of the University of Cagliari Cagliari Italy Loris Marotti is Assistant Professor of International Law in the Department of Law at the Federico II University of Naples Italy Pierfrancesco Rossi is Postdoctoral Fellow in International Law in the Department of Law of Luiss University Rome Italy Andrea Spagnolo is Professor of International Law in the Department of Law of the University of Turin Turin Italy Giovanni Zarra is Professor of International Law and International Litigation in the Department of Law at the Federico II University of Naples Italy 20 Days to the Top Brian Sullivan,2005-09 The most popular new sales program Old World and New World Perspectives in Environmental Philosophy Martin Drenthen,Jozef Keulartz,2014-07-28 This is the first collection of essays in which European and American philosophers explicitly think out their respective contributions and identities as environmental thinkers in the analytic and continental traditions The American European as well as Analytic Continental collaboration here bears fruit helpful for further theorizing and research The essays group around three well defined areas of questioning all focusing on the amelioration management of environmentally historically and traditionally diminished landscapes The first part deals with differences between New World and the Old World perspectives on nature and landscape restoration in general the second focuses on the meaning of ecological restoration of cultural landscapes and the third on the meaning of the wolf and of wildness It does so in a way that the strengths of each philosophical school continental and analytic comes to the fore in order to supplement the other s approach This text is open to educated readers across all disciplines particularly those interested in restoration adaptation ecology the cultural construction of place and landscape the ongoing conversation about wilderness the challenges posed to global environmental change The text may also be a gold mine for doctoral students looking for dissertation projects in environmental philosophy that are inclusive of continental and analytic traditions This text is rich in innovative approaches to the questions they raise that are reasonably well thought out The fact that the essays in each section really do resonate with one another directly is also intellectually exciting and very helpful in working out the full dimensions of each question raised in the volume Foreign Animal Diseases Report United States.
