

A vibrant, fantastical illustration depicting a bridge constructed from numerous books, spanning a vast sea of books. Several children are walking across the bridge towards a large, glowing tree at the far end. The tree's trunk and branches are also made of books, and it radiates a warm, golden light. The sky is a deep blue with scattered stars and colorful, glowing butterflies. The overall atmosphere is one of hope and resilience.

"I am a bridge between pain and hope, and every breath I take is proof of my resilience.
Tomorrow, light will find me — because it always does"

(Illustrated Edition) E. Phillips Oppenheim,2023-12-07 E Phillips Oppenheim 72 Novels 100 Short Stories Illustrated Edition is a comprehensive collection that encapsulates the prodigious output of one of the early 20th century s most prolific writers Oppenheim often regarded as the Prince of Storytellers masterfully blends elements of mystery adventure and romance in his narratives which reflect the era s cultural tensions and technological advancements This illustrated edition offers rich visual context alongside Oppenheim's sharp prose providing readers with a dual experience that enhances the thematic depth of his stories from espionage to societal critique Born in 1866 E Phillips Oppenheim's storytelling prowess was arguably shaped by his early career in journalism and his exposure to the dynamic world of British high society His understanding of human psychology and social structures permeated his narratives which often feature complex characters navigating morally ambiguous landscapes The juxtaposition of his fascination with the thrill of adventure and a critique of societal norms suggests Oppenheim's reflective engagement with the changing world around him particularly during the tumultuous years leading up to and beyond World War I I highly recommend this illustrated edition to readers who appreciate historical fiction and the art of storytelling in its classic form Oppenheim's works not only entertain but also provoke thought about human nature and societal values making this collection an essential addition for both literary enthusiasts and casual readers alike

Infant Care and Motherhood in an Urban Community John Newson, Elizabeth Newson, Infant Care and Motherhood in an Urban Community investigates the behavior and attitudes of 709 mothers towards their year old babies John and Elizabeth Newson impatient with the voluminous and contradictory literature telling parents how their children should be brought up decided to find out how they were being brought up Infant Care in an Urban Community is focused on sources of advice that influence parents how they feel about their children and how they react to situations in handling young babies Infant handling today is still a subject on which many different specialists use the full weight of their professional authority to back up their private prejudices concerning what is good and what is bad in the care of young children In the face of the conflict which results intelligent parents are rapidly forced to the conclusion that the experts know little more about the matter than they do themselves The truth is that in the present state of knowledge there is not a sufficient body of well substantiated evidence about the facts and consequences of child rearing on which to base sound practical advice to parents This is where this book comes in It shows that much of the advice offered is often out of touch with the practical needs circumstances and beliefs of the ordinary mother Few theories of child rearing have been subjected to the inconvenience of being reconciled with the empirical evidence This is the first study which has obtained information of this sort from a large and representative sample of mothers and which has investigated the behavior of both mother and baby here and now rather than relying on fond maternal memories A special feature is the use of tape recorded interviews which has allowed extensive quotation of their mothers own opinions John Newson and Elizabeth Newson in addition to this book are authors of The Family and the Handicapped Child A Study of Cerebral Palsied Children in Their Homes and Infant Care in an Urban Community They were professors of psychology at the University of Nottingham
