Wendy L. Haight, Edward H. Taylor, Ruth Soffer-Elnekave, 2020 The primary goal of this text is to support social work students in HBSE 1 courses to develop a conceptual framework for understanding and meeting the challenges they will likely encounter in 21st century practice Through contemporary scholarship in human development ecology and systems theory we build on social work's classic bio psycho social spiritual framework Our interdisciplinary developmental ecological systems framework addresses the ways in which human beings shape and are shaped within complex and dynamic national and international contexts across the lifespan We attempt to establish a bridge between undergraduate courses in the social behavioral and biological sciences and social work practice courses We begin by establishing a framework for understanding human behavior in the social environment through chapters providing an historical overview of the interdisciplinary roots of the developmental ecological systems framework the brain and development and the role of empirical evidence on social work practice Then we examine social work issues at various points in human development using specific programs and policies to illustrate developmentally and culturally sensitive social work practice These chapters include excerpts from interviews with practicing social workers Part 3 focuses on social work issues affecting individuals across the lifespan and around the globe through chapters on disability and stigmatization race racism and resistance women and gender and terrorism Research Anthology on School Shootings, Peer Victimization, and Solutions for Building Safer Educational Institutions Management Association, Information Resources, 2020-09-10 Though decades ago school shootings were rare events today they are becoming normalized Active shooter drills have become more commonplace as pressure is placed on schools and law enforcement to prevent the next attack Yet others argue the traumatizing effects of such exercises on the students Additionally violence between students continues to remain problematic as bullying pervades children's lives both at school and at home leading to negative mental health impacts and in extreme cases suicide Establishing safer school policies promoting violence prevention programs building healthier classroom environments and providing better staff training are all vital for protecting students physically and mentally The Research Anthology on School Shootings Peer Victimization and Solutions for Building Safer Educational Institutions examines the current sources of violence within educational systems and it offers solutions on how to provide a safer space for both students and educators alike Broken into four sections the book examines the causes and impacts that peer victimization has on students and how this can lead to further violence and investigates strategies for detecting the warning signs The book provides solutions that range from policies and programs that can be established to strategies for teaching nonviolence and promoting coexistence in the classroom Highlighting a range of topics such as violence prevention school climate and bullying this publication is an ideal reference source for school administrators law enforcement teachers government and state officials school boards academicians researchers and upper level students who are intent on stopping the persisting and unfortunate problem that is

school violence Parenting Plan Evaluations Kathryn Kuehnle, Leslie Drozd, 2012 When conducting parenting plan evaluations mental health professionals need to be aware of a myriad of different factors More so than in any other form of forensic evaluation they must have an understanding of the most current findings in developmental research behavioral psychology attachment theory and legal issues to substantiate their opinions With a number of publications on child custody available there is an essential need for a text focused on translating the research associated with the most important topics within the family court This book addresses this gap in the literature by presenting an organized and in depth analysis of the current research and offering specific recommendations for applying these findings to the evaluation process Written by experts in the child custody arena chapters cover issues associated with the most important and complex issues that arise in family court such as attachment and overnight timesharing with very young children dynamics between divorced parents and children s potential for resiliency co parenting children with chronic medical conditions and developmental disorders domestic violence during separation and divorce gay and lesbian co parents and relocation among others The scientific information provided in these chapters assists forensic mental health professionals to proffer empirically based opinions conclusions and recommendations Parenting Plan Evaluations is a must read for legal practitioners family law judges and attorneys and other professionals seeking to understand more about the science behind child custody evaluations

Psychiatry September 2001--August 2002 Phillip Richard Slavney, 2001 Coping with Psychiatric and Psychological Testimony David Faust, 2011-02-15 This highly effective guide is designed to help attorneys differentiate expert testimony that is scientifically well established from authoritative pronouncements that are mainly speculative Building on the foundation of Jay Ziskin s classic work this updated text blends the best of previous editions with discussion of positive scientific advances in the field to provide practical guidance for experts and lawyers alike Major contributors in the field summarize the state of the literature in numerous key areas of the behavioral sciences and law Working from these foundations the text provides extensive guidance tips and strategies for improving the quality of legal evaluations and testimony appraising the trustworthiness of experts opinions and as follows bolstering or challenging conclusions in a compelling manner Distinctive features of this text include detailed coverage of admissibility and Daubert challenges with unique chapters written by an eminently qualified judge and attorney hundreds of helpful suggestions covering such topics as forensic evaluations discovery and the conduct of depositions and cross examinations and two chapters on the use of visuals to enhance communication and persuasiveness including a unique chapter with over 125 model visuals for cases in psychology and law More than ever the sixth edition is an invaluable teaching tool and resource making it a must have for mental health professionals and attorneys
