

The Making of Leaders: A Review of the Research in Leadership Development and Education

Curt Brungardt
Fort Hays State University

---

Executive Summary

Are leaders born or made? If the answer is made, then can leadership be taught and learned? These and other similar questions are the focus of this article which reviews the research in both leadership development and education. In addition to the literature review, a clear distinction is drawn between leadership development and education; current theory-building efforts are illustrated; and the paper concludes by proposing future directions in leadership development and education research.

Annual Review Of Research For School Leaders 1996:

Research Review for School Leaders William G. Wraga, Peter S. Hlebowitsh, Founding Editor Tanner, Daniel Tanner, 2012-08-06 The Research Review for School Leaders Volume III is specifically designed as a practical resource for school leaders whose schedules preclude opportunities to locate and review key research on every issue they must address. It places comprehensive current and accessible reviews of educational research at their fingertips and is organized to make the research and practices it summarizes useful to them in their professional endeavors. This is the third volume of the Review. Although the title has changed its purpose and substance is continuous with the work of the earlier volumes. The first Annual Review of Research for School Leaders 1996 summarized research on the status of public schooling interdisciplinary curriculum and educational applications of computers. The second volume 1998 addressed the topics of middle level education the extracurriculum mathematics education reform and drop outs. The present Volume III offers educational leaders reviews of research on five timely educational issues citizenship education multicultural education gifted and talented education classroom assessment and scheduling. A basic premise of this volume is that to make sound decisions professionals need to be up to date on current research related to the problems with which they grapple. A second premise is that research cannot simply be imposed in a formulaic way on a local setting; the nature of the particular problem to be solved will always bear upon the relevance of research to a specific context. Thus this volume is envisioned as a helpful resource for school leaders as they engage in important discussions of the research with teachers school board members parents and other interested parties as they collaboratively seek effective resolutions to local educational problems.

Annual Review of Research for School Leaders MacMillan, 1997-12 Macmillan Reference USA publishes a series of comprehensive handbooks that bring together authoritative research on a variety of educational topics. These titles are all valuable resources for school officials teachers public policymakers and education professors and majors and are sponsored by professional associations in research and education. Each handbook in the series Provides an assessment of the significance of the research findings. Evaluates new and emerging developments in the field. Examines historical and current conflicts controversies and unresolved issues. Links findings in one field to related fields. Offers articles by professionals researchers and educators with firsthand experience. Suggests practical ways to apply knowledge in the classroom and workplace. This is the first comprehensive and authoritative overview of research in the burgeoning field of corporate training. Sponsored by the American Psychological Association Training and Retraining contains contributions from professionals in the academic government and business worlds. Bringing together never before published findings and the best practice examples it shows trainers how to apply educational psychology in their work while it educates psychologists on the special problems and concerns faced by trainers today. Articles cover ad hoc training practices and cost and effectiveness assessments relevant technologies such as telecommunications and computer applications instructional tactics and strategies.
