Engendering Mayan History David Carey Jr., 2013-01-11 Presenting Mayan history from the perspective of Mayan women whose voices until now have not been documented David Carey allows these women to present their worldviews in their native language adding a rich layer to recent Latin American historiography and increasing our comprehension of indigenous perspectives of the past Drawing on years of research among the Maya that specifically documents women's oral histories Carey gives Mayan women a platform to discuss their views on education migrant labor work in the home female leadership and globalization These oral histories present an ideal opportunity to understand indigenous women's approach to history the apparent contradictions in gender roles in Mayan communities and provide a distinct conceptual framework for analyzing Guatemalan Mayan and Latin American history

Liberation Theologies on Shifting Grounds Georges de Schrijver, 1998 Besides their insistence on praxis and the application of the Word of God to a given situation Liberation Theologies make ample use of tools of analysis to uncover root causes of oppression Now it is precisely with respect to these tools that Liberation Theologies today find themselves on shifting grounds In intra ecclesiastical circles cultural concerns have come to replace socio economic analysis whereas after the implosion of the East Bloc the liberationists proper also pay more attention to the issues of gender ecology and indigenous movements The contributions to this volume originating from various continents discuss to what extent this shift in emphasis is desirable and acceptable and conclude that the cultural focus cannot possibly invalidate but only enrich and complete the socio economic analysis They moreover try to assess the developments in light of globalization economics informatics on the one hand and postmodernity on the other Given the impact of western culture politics the question arises as to whether the native cultures will succeed in keeping up their religious core values and structures of solidarity two elements so indispensable for liberative commitments

The Dictator's Seduction Lauren H. Derby, 2009-07-17 An analysis of the ways that General Rafael Trujillo's dictatorship 1930-1961 pervaded everyday life in the Dominican Republic's capital Santo Domingo

Understanding Cultural Policy Carole Rosenstein, 2024-04-17 This textbook provides an introduction to cultural policy in the US enabling both students and practitioners to understand how government impacts the arts and culture Starting with an historical overview of why and how the US developed a national cultural policy the book goes on to trace the contemporary system of national state and local arts and cultural agencies through which that policy is put into practice Readers are provided both in depth frameworks for conceptualizing how government regulation and provision shape the arts and culture and carefully illustrated examples of cultural policy in action Covering critical issues in US cultural policy such as the Culture Wars culture led development and gentrification and field wide data and research capacities the book builds a bridge between theory practice and politics in the arts and culture This new edition includes enhanced visualizations and policy maps expanded policy labs and a new section on cultural policy during COVID 19 The result is a text that is essential reading for students and

Walton, 2010-11-15 This book is an interdisciplinary collaboration between a literary critic and cultural historian which examines and recovers a radical and still urgent challenge to the industrialisation of cultural tourism from the work of John Ruskin Ruskin exerted a formative influence on the definition and development of cultural tourism which was probably as significant as that for example of his contemporary Thomas Cook The book assesses Ruskin s overall influence on the development of national and international tourism in the context of pre existing expectations about tourism flows and cultural capital and alongside parallel and intersecting trends of the time examines Ruskin s contribution to the tourist agenda at all social levels and discusses Ruskin s significance for current debates in tourism studies especially questions of the place of the canon of traditional European cultural tourism in a post modern tourist setting and the various incarnations of heritage tourism Transpacific Literary and Cultural Connections Jie Lu, Martin Camps, 2020-11-11 This critical interdisciplinary volume investigates modern and contemporary Asian cultural products in the non westernized transpacific context of Asian and Latin American intellectual and cultural connections It focuses on the Latin American intellectual literary and cultural influences on Asia which have long been overshadowed by the dominance of Europe North America oriented discourse and by the predominance of academic research by both Asian and western intellectuals that focuses only on the West Moving beyond the western intellectual paradigm the volume examines how Asian literature films and art interact with Latin American literature and ideas to reexamine reconsider and re explore issues related to the two regions historical traumas cultural identities indigenous vernacular traditions and peripheral global ness The volume argues that Asian and Latin American literary and cultural endeavors are part of these regions broader efforts to search for the forms of modernity that best fit their unique sociohistorical and sociocultural conditions Latin American Peasants Tom Brass, 2004-08-02 The essays in this collection examine agrarian transformation in Latin America and the role in this of peasants with particular reference to Bolivia Peru Chile Brazil and Central America Among the issues covered are the impact of globalization and neo liberal economic policies Negotiating Economic Development Laurie Kroshus Medina, 2022-07-12 The citrus industry in Belize could be said to exist primarily to satisfy the needs of people in other countries A business that is highly dependent on global markets and the geopolitics of international trade it comprises some 500 farmers many hundreds of wage laborers and two processing companies that produce frozen juice concentrate for export This new study examines how those farmers laborers and companies define and pursue shared interests and how they respond differently to the impact of national development strategies and global economic and political forces Laurie Kroshus Medina analyzes the development of the citrus industry in Belize over fifteen years to explore the relationship between the production of collective identities and the negotiation of development policies at the interface of global and local processes She shows how citrus farmers and workers processing companies and politicians compete to construct shared identities how they mobilize collective actors and how their collective action shapes the goals policies and practices associated with development Taking an ethnographic approach Medina describes how the Belizean citrus industry responds to cycles of boom and bust and the implications of such cycles for workers and growers She offers a close look at the major actors workers union members small and large growers and politicians as they respond to global changes in the citrus industry Her analysis is made more compelling through an account of two open struggles in the industry over the formation of a rival union and the attempt to buy the processing company owned by the multinational corporation Nestl She also includes a discussion of the impact of NAFTA on the industry Medina s research demonstrates how collective agency in Belize has pushed the citrus industry s development in directions that simultaneously conform to and diverge from the trajectories laid out by foreign agencies Negotiating Economic Development provides a bridge from old to new studies of Latin American social movements as it offers key insights into competing forms of identity for a wide range of social scientists concerned with the human and social aspects of development issues and globalization An Anthology of African Cultural Studies, Volume I Keyan G. Tomaselli, Handel Kashope Wright, 2024-10-04 This volume provides an overview of fundamental or grounding themes in African Cultural Studies including the articulation of African cultural studies the issue of Africa's diaspora's African identity and identifications and media studies in Africa and its relationship with cultural studies The first of two volumes the book predominantly pulls together a rich reservoir of previously published articles from Critical Arts South North Cultural and Media Studies mapping a long history of the field that draws from a diverse range of origins and locations especially from within Africa itself The first section of the book addresses how African cultural studies has been called for and explained both as a comprehensive continental and sometimes national discourse and as being in conversation with established global cultural studies The second section addresses the African diaspora and what might be termed diasporic African cultural studies A third principal theme explored is how African identities and identifications are articulated in African cultural studies On spatiality the volume takes a stance on the exclusive continental versus continuity conception of Africa the African diaspora is treated as contributory and its relationship to the continent as problematic while taking up continental Africa as the principal location of African cultural studies In terms of identity Blackness is taken up as the dominant but importantly not exclusive racial identity and identification of African cultural studies and gender and social class are also addressed in novel ways The book ends with an examination of the complex relationship between media studies and cultural studies This book will be a key resource for academics researchers and advanced students of African cultural studies media and cultural studies African studies history politics sociology and social and cultural anthropology while also being of interest to those seeking an introduction to the sub field of African cultural studies
