Constructive Drinking:

Constructive Drinking Mary Douglas, 2003 First published in 1987 Constructive Drinking studies the functions drinking plays within society A series of original case studies deal with a variety of exotic not just alcohol from a variety of cultural and geographical contexts

Constructive Drinking Mary Douglas, 1987 Wine Drinking Culture in France Marion Demossier, 2010-07-15 This book provides a new interpretation of the relationship between consumption drinking culture memory and cultural identity in an age of rapid political and economic change Using France as a case study it explores the construction of a national drinking culture the myths symbols and practices surrounding it and then through a multisited ethnography of wine consumption demonstrates how that culture is in the process of being transformed Wine drinking culture in France has traditionally been a source of pride for the French and in an age of concerns about the dangers of binge drinking a major cause of jealousy for the British Wine drinking and the culture associated with it are for many an essential part of what it means to be French but they are also part of a national construction Described by some as a national product or as a totem drink wine and its attendant cultures supposedly characterise Frenchness in much the same way as being born in France fighting for liberty or speaking French Yet this traditional picture is now being challenged by economic social and political forces that have transformed consumption patterns and led to the fragmentation of wine drinking culture The aim of this book is to provide an original account of the various causes of the long term decline in alcohol consumption and of the emergence of a new wine drinking culture since the 1970s and to analyse its relationship to national and regional identity

Alcohol, Gender and Culture Dimitra Gefou-Madianou, 2002-01-04 Europeans constitute 12 and a half per cent of the world's population but consume 50 per cent of the recorded world production alcohol and this consumption plays a significant role in the cultural religious and social identities of these countries The contributors show how different groups define the proper use of alcohol how State policies may effect drinking behaviour and highlight how beverages and comestibles must be seen in relation to each other From this is it shown how important socio cultural distinctions are made between and within communities gender relations ethnic groups and socio economic groups and within religious ideologies what one drinks how one drinks with whom and where all influence not how alcoholic substances are regarded but how social relations are experienced Alcohol Gender and Culture clearly demonstrates how the social construction of drinking may provide an analytical tool with which to approach different socio cultural groups and illustrates how any cultural group can be compared to another by its attitudes to alcohol It will be invaluable reading for students and lecturers of anthropology cultural history and gender studies social developments have affected its history and what it meant to individuals and groups as a cultural practice Covering an extended period in time this book takes in the important changes brought about by the Reformation and the processes of industrialization and urbanization This volume also focuses on drink in relation to class and gender and the importance of global developments along with the significance of regional and local difference Whilst a work of history it draws upon the insights of a range of other disciplines which have together advanced our understanding of alcohol The focus is England but it acknowledges the importance of comparison with the experience of other countries in furthering our understanding of England s particular experience This book argues for the centrality of drink in English society throughout the period under consideration whilst emphasizing the ways in which its use abuse and how they have been experienced and perceived have changed at different historical moments It is the first scholarly work which covers the history of drink in England in all its aspects over such an extended period of time Written in a lively and approachable style this book is suitable for those who study social and cultural history as well as those with an interest in the history of drink in England

The Community Health Nurse and Alcohol-related Problems: Instructor's curriculum planning guide, 1978 Fish into Wine Peter E. Pope, 2012-12-01 Combining innovative archaeological analysis with historical research Peter E Pope examines the way of life that developed in seventeenth century Newfoundland where settlement was sustained by seasonal migration to North America s oldest industry the cod fishery The unregulated English settlements that grew up around the exchange of fish for wine served the fishery by catering to nascent consumer demand The English Shore became a hub of transatlantic trade linking Newfoundland with the Chesapeake New and old England southern Europe and the Atlantic islands Pope gives special attention to Ferryland the proprietary colony founded by Sir George Calvert Lord Baltimore in 1621 but later taken over by the London merchant Sir David Kirke and his remarkable family The saga of the Kirkes provides a narrative line connecting social and economic developments on the English Shore with metropolitan merchants proprietary rivalries and international competition Employing a rich variety of evidence to place the fisheries in the context of transatlantic commerce Pope makes Newfoundland a fresh point of view for understanding the demographic economic and cultural history of the expanding North Atlantic world

Time and Alcohol Peter J. Howland, 2025-03-28 The purposeful production exchange and consumption of alcohol like all human endeavour is always a matter of time and temporality and ranges from the universality of Einsteinian space time relativity through to species specific nature times and the myriad of anthropocentric constructs of nature time and of social times temporalities Thus time and temporality is an integral variable in all alcohol production exchange and consumption and is complemented by similarly rendered considerations of space place context and contingent social relationships The book draws on historical and ethnographic examples from Aotearoa New Zealand China France India Peru Central Europe and the United Kingdom to enhance our understandings of the dialogic matrices of time and temporality that are generated within and which simultaneously generate various economic social political religious and moral modalities
