It provides business executives with an understanding of the changing social psychology of customers, prospects, employees, and markets brought about by the pervasiveness of the Internet. Consumer Evolution examines the new psychology that must be factored into the development of successful business strategies. Using specific examples and case studies, Consumer Evolution offers nine effective business strategies that take these psychological changes into account. It presents vital insight into the constantly changing buying patterns of consumers and lays the foundation for a competitive strategy in an environment in which customer relationship management has become a driving business force. Managers will find expert advice for developing branding and advertising programs that connect them more closely to their customers while also discovering fresh business strategies for maintaining market position, exploiting the business cycle, competing globally, and defining customer need.

The Framework of Military Leadership, 2nd Edition

Murat Şengöz, 2023-09-20. The contemporary security environment is characterized by an increase in complexity, shifting dynamics, and a rising number of wars being carried out in a vague and flexible warfare environment. Naturally, this requires military leaders to adapt more rapidly to the challenges than ever before. Today, army commanders have to behave more like diplomats, intellectuals, academics, and technicians in this respect. This book provides an eclectic and analytic conceptual study regarding military leadership and its components and dynamics. This work on the phenomenon of military leadership is a valuable original reference book for academics, scientists, students, and professional members of the armed forces, as well as for anyone else interested in personal development issues. This second edition includes two new chapters: 'On The Basic Leadership Requirements That Today's Leaders Are Expected To Possess' and 'From Authoritarian To Authentic Military Leadership', and updated versions of many chapters from the first edition.

,2002 Cosmetics Marketing Strategy in the Era of the Digital Ecosystem Young Won Park,Paul Hong,2024-10-01 This book explores how cosmetics firms have made the transition to technology enabled beauty companies to meet changing customer demands For this purpose the contexts of cosmetics industry growth and digital marketing strategy in the post pandemic world are presented here The digital marketing strategies of Japanese and Korean firms are shown along with new business models and future prospects in cosmetics industries In the post pandemic world the growing middle class will set priorities for beauty hygienic goals nutritional choices and healthcare development needs The growth rates of Asian economies were slowed during the COVID 19 pandemic yet their growth opportunities were not constrained. Diverse industries, the cosmetics industry in particular, have addressed the needs of these growing segments in Asia. In keeping up with the leading business trends, cosmetics firms also have leveraged big data and built their brand partnerships across industries, applying the Internet of Things (IoT) and artificial intelligence for their product and process development. The vast amounts of big data gathered through IoT devices are now being used to improve entire value chain operations, creating a digital thread through the global value chain. These data are increasingly used to create new services and develop a business model for global firms. As of 2021, four of the top ten global cosmetics firms are from the USA: Estée Lauder, Procter & Gamble, Coty, and Johnson & Johnson; three are from Europe: L'Oréal, Unilever, and Beiersdorf; two from Japan: Shiseido and Kao; and one from Korea: Amore Pacific. The USA and European firms still maintain their competitive advantage in the cosmetics industry. Global cosmetics market share by region shows that North Asia is the largest (35%), followed by North America (26%) and Latin America (7%). Europe (22%) and Africa and other regions (10%) follow. With the rapid increase of the middle class in the Asia region, more sales are expected there than anywhere else. In this dynamic market environment, a real challenge for the cosmetics industry is how to develop and put into practice its own unique business model.

Transgenerational Marketing

Rajagopal, 2019-11-20. This book critically examines the evolution of marketing scholarship over generations from Marketing 1.0 to 4.0. It argues that most firms look to gain competitive advantage in the marketplace by driving tactical moves, inculcating small, cost-effective changes in marketing approaches. Often, strategic choices of companies lean towards developing competitive differentiations that enable consumers to realize the value of money, causing loyalty shifts in the competitive marketplace. The book focuses on the consumer as the pivot of marketing and argues that the consumer serves as a bidirectional channel during pre and post purchase periods. It explains how consumer affections, sentimentally and emotionally, help in growing the brands and companies over generations. This book significantly contributes to the existing literature and serves as a learning post and a think tank for students, researchers, and business managers.
