Bomber Squadrons At War Nos 57 And 630 Squadrons:

Bomber Squadrons at War Geoff D. Copeman, 1997 This narrative history traces 57 Squadron from its beginnings during World War 1 to its links with 630 Squadron during the bombing offensive during World War 2 The squadron remained active right through to the Falklands conflict in 1982

5 Group Bomber Command Chris Ward, 2007-10-06 During the immediate period before World War Two the RAF modified its command structure to rationalize for rapid expansion Bomber Command was divided into six operational groups each flying the same type of aircraft In 1939 5 Group was flying the Handley Page Hampden a fast modern aircraft that carried a large payload However during the early daylight raids into enemy occupied Europe it suffered great losses due to its defensive armament leaving too many blind spots The Group now turned to night bombing and mine laying operations During November 1940 the first Avro Manchesters entered service but were to prove dangerously unreliable It was not until the Avro Lancaster began arriving in strength that the Group began its proud history of successful and often highly dangerous raids into the Reich the most famous of which was No 617 Squadron's attack on the Mohne Eder and Sorpe dams Between 1939 and 1945 the Group flew 70 351 sorties with the loss of 1 888 aircraft This book contains a lengthy narrative of the group's operations and contains individual squadron statistics their commanding officers stations and aircraft losses It provides a detailed reference for one of the RAF's most important and successful operational groups

Bomber Squadrons of the R.A.F. and Their Aircraft Philip J. R. Moyes, 1964 Illustrated record of British Royal Air Force squadrons formed since the First World War including those formed from Allied and Dominion personnel

The Bomber War Robin Neillands, 2001 In this book Robin Neillands examines every detail of the campaign the strengths and fundamental flaws in doctrine the technical difficulties and developments from night time navigation through bomb aiming to fighter escort and above all the day by day night by night endurance of the crews flying to the limit in discomfort and danger facing flak and enemy fighters and well aware of their likely fate if shot down Oral history plays a key part in this account it is illuminated throughout by the personal experiences not only of British but of American Australian Canadian and other Allied fliers as well and also of German aircrew and civilians

RAF and USAAF Airfields in the UK During the Second World War Geoff Mills, Daniel Knowles, 2022-03-31 Shortly after the end of the Second World War the United Kingdom was described as one vast aircraft carrier anchored off the coast of Europe During a seven year period 500 airfields were constructed to serve the needs first of the RAF and later the USAAF as they carried the war to German occupied Europe The airfields that were constructed took many different forms from training airfields and Advanced Landing Grounds to grass fighter airstrips and vast complexes used to accommodate heavy bombers This book charts the history of each Second World War airfield in and around the UK providing a unique insight into the construction operational life and post war history of each airfield Alongside detailing the history of each airfield this work comprehensively records the details of each unit that operated from airfields around the UK The information provided in this meticulously researched book is supported by a wealth of 690 photographs providing an illustration into the life of each wartime station Canada's Air Force David J. Bercuson,2024-10-17 The Royal Canadian Air Force RCAF was founded in 1924 as a sort of federal air service carrying out civilian type operations for Ottawa In the Second World War the RCAF grew to more than 200 000 personnel in overseas squadrons and performed virtually every type of mission including bombing and hunting submarines Over the decades since the RCAF has tried valiantly to carry out its mission of defending Canada even when starved of funds by the federal government Today it is once again on the verge of becoming a modern well equipped air force In Canada s Air Force historian David J Bercuson shares the history of the first one hundred years of the Royal Canadian Air Force from its inception in 1924 to its centennial in 2024 Drawing on memoirs diaries unpublished histories archival sources interview transcripts and standard reference works such as The Bomber Command War Diaries Bercuson traces the history of the RCAF as not only a fighting force but also a human institution Canada s Air Force analyses the first century of the RCAF through the clear eyed perspective of a Canadian historian who has closely scrutinized one hundred years of the RCAF s story RAF Bomber Command at War Rupert Matthews,2009 Bomber Command of the RAF fought one of the longest most grueling and thankless campaigns of World War II More than 55 000 men and women were killed serving with the Command and the bombers inflicted severe and ultimately crippling damage to the German war effort During the war years few branches of the armed services ranked higher with the public than did Bomber Command This powerful book takes a new look at the exploits of the RAF s strike force during World War II By looking at the conflict from the viewpoint of those serving in Bomber Command this book reveals the why and the how of the Bomber Command campaigns The abilities of the aircraft and aircrew are outlined and the limits this put on operations explained The book will help the reader understand the conditions under which the men of Bomber Command fought lived and tragically so often died Battle Under the Moon Jack Currie,2022-02-21 This is a gripping account of the ill fated RAF raid on 3 May 1944 on the Panzer tank depot and military barracks at Mailly le Camp south of Rheims in northern France part of the softening up process on German military targets in preparation for the D Day landings Raids like this over occupied France were considered relatively low risk affairs and only counted for one third of a mission for the crews concerned The Death of Guy Gibson M.S. Morgan,M S Morgan,2024-12-30 On the night of 19 20 September 1944 a force of 227 Avro Lancasters and ten de Havilland Mosquitoes was dispatched to attack the German towns of M nchengladbach and Rheydt The Master Bomber for the raid was none other than Wing Commander Guy Penrose Gibson VC DSO both men on board were killed Witnesses on the ground reported hearing an aircraft flying low observing that its cockpit was illuminated and then seconds later the violent sight and sounds of its final moments The cause of the crash has been the subject of intense speculation ever since Had Gibson and Warwick fallen to the guns of a German night fighter or tragically friendly fire from an Allied bomber Was it mechanical failure or possibly pilot error that had led to the disaster Like the disappearance of Glenn Miller or Rudolf Hess flight to Britain the death of Guy Gibson VC one of Britain's greatest wartime heroes is among the Second World War's most intriguing mysteries How could one of the RAF's most experienced pilots have simply fallen from the sky over Occupied Europe without explanation In The Death of Guy Gibson the author sets out answer that very question

3 Group Bomber Command Chris Ward, Steve Smith, 2009-04-21 During the immediate period before World War Two the RAF modified its command structure to rationalize for rapid expansion Bomber Command was divided into six operational groups each flying the same type of aircraft 3 Group had almost completely re-equipped with the Wellington by 4 September 1939 to carry out the second bombing operation of the war which was against German warships off Brunsbittel In 1940 the first of the new four-engined bombers the Short Stirling came into service with the Group being followed in 1942 by the Avro Lancaster On 3rd 4th November 1943 No 3 Group played a leading part in the first bombing attack in which heavy bombers made use of the radar bombing aid known as G H The target was Dsseldorf bombs were dropped blind and good results were obtained In July and August 1944 aircraft of this Group equipped with G H maintained an all-weather attack against flying bomb sites Through the D Day build up the liberation of France and conquest of Germany formations of No 3 Group attacked railway junctions marshalling yards troop concentrations etc During the week ending 25th March 1945 Bomber Command made numerous attacks to prepare for the crossing of the Rhine

Death by Night Peter Sharpe, 2025-01-18 No 630 Squadron RAF was a Lancaster heavy night bomber squadron serving within No 5 Group RAF Bomber Command It was formed at a vital phase in the wartime service of Bomber Command as the offensive against Berlin was due to begin and the preparations for the liberation of Europe were gaining momentum Six thirty was based at East Kirkby in Lincolnshire at what is now the Lincolnshire Aviation Heritage Centre Its Lancasters took off on 2 515 sorties to attack enemy targets and the stark figures show that of the 162 crews who flew operationally on its strength 64 were lost serving with the squadron and 10 were lost later flying with other squadrons 46% of these 162 crews this being the reason that 630 Squadron veterans spoke of their squadron having a heavy chop rate A total of 1 199 airmen mostly aged 18 to 24 flew operationally on the strength of 630 Squadron 99 earned awards for bravery and distinguished service during their time with the squadron Of these operational aircrew 436 were killed or are missing 69 became prisoners of war 29 evaded capture in occupied Europe of whom 2 pilots evaded capture and later returned to ops to complete their tours and 6 aircrew were interned in neutral Sweden A further 15 airmen were killed in flying accidents before commencing operations These young lads came from Great Britain and Northern Ireland Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa Zimbabwe the USA and one man of Basque origin Men of the squadron had sailed from across the world to join the South West Pacific East Africa Jamaica and South America Due to the losses sustained by 630 Squadron none of their assigned Lancasters flew 100 ops the closest was ME739 which took off for 90 before it was lost This book is a tribute to the brave aircrew of Six thirty who flew
