The Social Contexts of Disability Ministry Albert A. Herzog Jr.,2017-09-29 This book provides pastors seminarians and interested laity with the background necessary to understand the need for disability ministry and the contexts out of which the church's ministry among people with disabilities must emerge. This is true not only for descriptions of ministries over the past sixty years but also the challenges disability poses for biblical studies, church history, Christian theology and ethics. Insights are gained not only from mainstream secular and religious sources but from evangelical and other conservative materials. The blending of items from different religious resources reveals just how ubiquitous disability is and the need for disability ministry now and for many years into the future. The book's format is such that either it can serve as a text for courses on disability ministry or individual chapters can be employed in various courses on selected topics in biblical studies, history, theology and ethics. Pastors and lay leaders will enjoy the depth of coverage for each topic. This is a book about a serious subject for serious readers. Its materials are designed to inform, stimulate and promote disability ministry as a topic worthy of serious study. Mary, the Devil, and Taro Juliana Flinn, 2010-01-31

Catholicism like most world religions is patriarchal and its official hierarchies and sacred works too often neglect the lived experiences of women. Looking beyond these texts, Juliana Flinn reveals how women practice, interpret and shape their own Catholicism on Pollap Atoll, part of Chuuk State in the Federated States of Micronesia. She focuses in particular on how the Pollapese shaping of Mary places value on indigenous notions of mothering that connote strength, active participation in food production and the ability to provide for one's family. Flinn begins with an overview of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception on Pollap and an introduction to Mary who is celebrated by islanders not as a biologized mother but as a productive one resulting in an image of strength rather than meekness. For Pollapese women, Mary is a vanquisher of Satan, a provider for her children and a producer of critical resources, namely taro. The Feast of the Immaculate Conception validates and celebrates local notions of motherhood in ways that highlight productive activities. The role of women as producers in the community is extolled but the event also provides and sanctions new opportunities for women, allowing them to speak publicly, exhibit creativity and influence the behavior of others. A chapter devoted to the imagery of Mary and its connections to Pollapese notions of motherhood is followed by a conclusion that examines the implications of these for women's ongoing productive roles, especially in comparison with Western notions and contexts in which women have been removed or excluded from production. Mary, the Devil, and Taro contributes significantly to the study of women's religion and the appropriation of Christianity in local contexts. It will be welcomed by not only anthropologists and other scholars concerned with religion in the Pacific but also those who study change in gender roles and Marian devotions in cross-cultural perspectives. The Social Context of Learning in India Manoj Kumar Tiwary, Sanjay Kumar, Arvind Kumar

Mishra, 2023-05-09 Why are children from disadvantaged and minority communities overrepresented among academic underachievers, poor learners and school dropouts? This volume engages with this question and examines classroom learning as a process that involves a multitude of actors situated in specific social, cultural and historical contexts. The volume covers an interdisciplinary spectrum of educational processes, contexts, educational ambitions and limitations of low-caste working class and middle class students from different Indian communities and regions The volume delves into the problem of academic underperformance from a social identity perspective and probes into social context based variability in classroom learning systemic disadvantages in the form of negative stereotypes and the family as an under studied social group in all discussions of schooling It also examines the teachers perceptions and attitudes towards Adivasi students and other minority groups in primary schools and their effect on children s classroom engagement The chapters in this volume provide insights into unresolved and critical research questions that require the attention of teachers school management educators and policymakers alike This book will also be useful for academicians policymakers teacher educators pedagogic practitioners in India and abroad and state and central government institutions working on school education educational psychology policymaking in education learning methods and research on educational enhancement Restoring At-Risk Communities John M. Perkins,1996-02-01 This comprehensive handbook to urban ministry introduces and shows how to implement a Christian community development program Publication Catalog of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

United States. Department of Health and Human Services, Social Issues of India , Working in the Service Sector
Gerhard Bosch,Steffen Lehndorff,2004-06-01 The rise to prominence of the service sector heralded over half a century ago as the great hope for the twenty first century has come to fruition In many cases employment in the service sector now outnumbers that in manufacturing sectors and it is accepted that in all developed countries the service sector is the only one in which employment will grow in future The reasons for this is the subject of much controversy and debate the outcomes of which are not merely of academic interest but of decisive importance for economic policy and the quality of working and living conditions in future In order to examine these various arguments research teams from eight European countries worked together for three years on a comparative study of the evolution of service sector employment in EU member states They also investigated working and employment conditions in five very different service industries banking retailing hospitals IT services and care of the elderly in a number of countries and the results of their research are presented in this informative new collection of interest to students academics and researchers involved in all aspects of industrial economics
