

What is it?

Changes that you witness or live in the same place or community. Today there is a new house in town or you have to go to school in a different place.

One night it felt like it was a different person!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

What is it?

Sometimes people move or change the place they live in the same region. The house looks like the same.

One night it felt like you were not the same person!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

How does it feel when you get used to it?

It was like a new person. The way they felt different inside or what happened in the room.

One night you felt better about it the next day!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

How does it feel when you get used to it?

After knowing that person there was a new person inside. It was like a new person.

One night it felt like there was a new person and it was better about it!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

What is it?

Changes you change that you don't want to change. The night before the person had moved or changed the way you felt.

One night you felt better about it the next day!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

What is it?

There are times when you don't want to change. The night before they were not the same person and you were a different person.

One night it felt like there was a different person!

What could you do the next time you feel better about the change?

Coping with Change

In 'The Invisible', people had to cope with change when they had to leave their home and move to the far side of the city.

Think of a time when you have had to cope with change. The night before there was a big change or a small change.

Draw a picture here to show the change.

Write a sentence to describe your feelings about this change and explain why you feel that way.

Write a sentence to explain what good things happened because of this change.
