Cornish Legends:

Cornish legends Robert Hunt, 1969 The Folklore of Cornwall Ronald M. James, 2019-04-30 By considering the folklore of Cornwall in a Northern European context this book casts light on a treasury of often ignored traditions Folklore studies internationally have long considered Celtic material but scholars have tended to overlook Cornwall's collections The Folklore of Cornwall fills this gap placing neglected stories on a par with those from other regions where Celtic languages have deep roots The Folklore of Cornwall demonstrates that Cornwall has a distinct body of oral tradition even when examining legends and folktales that also appear elsewhere The way in which Cornish droll tellers achieved this unique pattern is remarkable with the publication of this book it becomes possible for folklorists to look to the peninsula beyond the River Tamar for insight A very readable text with popular appeal this book serves as an introduction to folklore studies for the novice while also offering an alternative means to consider Cornish studies for advanced scholars The comparative analysis combined with an innovative method of The Folklore of Cornwall is not to be found in other treatments of the subject

TWO CORNISH LEGENDS - THE SPECTRE COACH and ST. NEOT, THE PIGMY SAINT Anon E. Mouse, 2017-01-19
ISSN 2397 9607 Issue 261 In this 261st issue of the Baba Indaba's Children's Stories series Baba Indaba narrates the Cornish legends of THE SPECTRE COACH and ST NEOT THE PIGMY SAINT In THE SPECTRE COACH Baba Indaba tells of the parson of Talland a quaint little sea village near Looe who was a singular man named Dodge Parson Dodge's reputation was that of being able to lay ghosts to rest and command evil spirits Although the country folk were rather terrified of their vicar they had the utmost faith in his powers As it happened that the good folk of Lanreath a few miles away were suffering severely from a wild spirit that frequented the high moor in their parish It was said that the ghost was that of an avaricious landowner who had wasted his fortune in lawsuits attempting unjustly to seize a wide stretch of common land from the villagers Disappointment had killed him but in the spirit world he could find no rest for he used to return at nights to the land he had coveted and drive wildly about in a black coach drawn by six sable headless horses much to the terror of the country folk So the rector of Lanreath decided at last to appeal to Parson Dodge to come over and exorcise the wandering spirit Well was Parson Dodge successful and was he able to give the villagers peace of mind Well you will have to download and read the story to find out In our second story Baba Indaba narrates the story of ST NEOT THE PIGMY SAINT St Neot is reported to have lived in the 9th century as a monk in Cornwall He is reported to have met King Alfred the Great and is mentioned in Bishop Asser's Life of King Alfred He is thought to have died around AD 870 Herein are two legends of St Neot Both are surely the strangest for he was so the old traditions have it a pigmy perfectly formed yet only fifteen inches in height although this is thought to be an exaggeration There are very many stories told of this tiny holy man and most of them seem to show that he wielded a great power over all animals One of the prettiest stories is of the time when St Neot presided over his abbey and there came one night thieves to the monastic farm and stole all the monks plough oxen The poor brothers had not the money to purchase other beasts and seed time was upon them with their fields yet unploughed Ruin seemed certain until the good little abbot appealed to the wild beasts to come to their aid And then to the amazement of the monks there came from the surrounding forests wild stags who docilely offered their necks to the yoke and drew the heavy ploughs Each night the stags were released and they went off to the woods but each succeeding morning they returned to continue their task The news of this miraculous happening spread rapidly abroad and came at last to the ears of the thieves They were so deeply impressed by the story that they returned the stolen oxen at once and promised never again to pursue their evil ways But what of the second legend of St Neot Well you ll just have to download and read the story to find out what it is BUY ANY 4 BABA INDABA CHILDREN S STORIES FOR ONLY 1 33% of the profit from the sale of this book will be donated to charities INCLUDES LINKS TO DOWNLOAD 8 FREE STORIES Each issue also has a WHERE IN THE WORLD LOOK IT UP section where young readers are challenged to look up a place on a map somewhere in the world The place town or city is relevant to the story HINT use Google maps Baba Indaba is a fictitious Zulu storyteller who narrates children s stories from around the world Baba Indaba translates as Father of Stories
