The Path to Individual and Organizational Transformation Manfred F. R. Kets de Vries, 2025-09-19

Change can be hard and for many people unlearning habitual patterns is an uphill challenge It can be painful but not as painful as remaining stuck With an estimated 70% of change initiatives failing Manfred Kets de Vries a world renowned Professor of Leadership Development offers a more positive outlook Infused with his trademark inimitable style of analysis he demonstrates how change methodologies can be applied in a highly effective way At the heart of effective organizations lies human action what we do how we do it and why we do it As leaders consultants and executive coaches we need to pay close attention to the individual and group dynamics of the organizations that we work with By looking more deeply into the world of work with the aim of untangling and explaining what lies below the surface this book helps you see through the darkness that may lead us astray yet this kind of night vision efforts to turn the irrational into the rational requires in depth observation To find out what is really happening demands a more clinical orientation To be successful Kets de Vries argues leaders need to recognize the importance of what have been referred to as soft skills essentially using emotional intelligence to their advantage Contrary to their name these abilities are often the hardest skills to learn Adopting a clinical approach to leadership this book helps you to understand more about the dynamics of organizational life leading to greater self awareness self knowledge and the ability to become a more effective change agent By becoming aware not only of our conscious thoughts but also of our unconscious prejudices biases and habits it s possible to understand more why so many well laid plans and strategies derail or conversely why otherwise effective leaders sometimes act in unexpected ways

Place/No-Place in Urban Asian Religiosity Joanne Punzo Waghorne,2016-07-15 This book discusses Asia s rapid pace of urbanization with a particular focus on new spaces created by and for everyday religiosity The essays in this volume covering topics from the global metropolises of Singapore Bangalore Seoul Beijing and Hong Kong to the regional centers of Gwalior Pune Jahazpur and sites like Wudang Mountain examine in detail the spaces created by new or changing religious organizations that range in scope from neighborhood based to consciously global The definition of spatial aspects includes direct place making projects such as the construction of new religious buildings temples halls and other meeting sites as well as less tangible religious endeavors such as the production of new mental spaces urged by spiritual leaders or the shift from terra firma to the strangely concrete effervesce of cyberspace With this in mind it explores how distinct and blurred and open and bounded communities generate and participate in diverse practices as they deliberately engage or disengage with physical landscapes cityscapes It highlights how through these religious organizations changing class and gender configurations ongoing political and economic transformations continue as significant factors shaping and affecting Asian urban lives In addition the books goes further by exploring new and often bittersweet improvements like metro rail lines new national highways widespread internet access that bulldoze both literally and figuratively religious places and force relocations and adjustments that are often innovative and unexpected Furthermore this volume explores personal experiences within the particularities of selected religious organizations and the ways that subjects interpret or actively construct urban spaces The essays show through ethnographically and historically grounded case studies the variety of ways newly emerging religious communities or religious institutions understand value interact with or strive to ignore extreme urbanization and rapidly changing built environments
