William Ward,1815 Playing with Things Mary Weismantel,2021-08-17 More than a thousand years ago on the north coast of Peru Indigenous Moche artists created a large and significant corpus of sexually explicit ceramic works of art They depicted a diversity of sex organs and sex acts and an array of solitary and interconnected human and nonhuman bodies To the modern eye these Moche sex pots as Mary Weismantel calls them are lively and provocative but also enigmatic creations whose import to their original owners seems impossible to grasp In Playing with Things Weismantel shows that there is much to be learned from these ancient artifacts not merely as inert objects from a long dead past but as vibrant Indigenous things alive in their own human temporality From a new materialist perspective she fills the gaps left by other analyses of the sex pots in pre Columbian studies where sexuality remains marginalized and in sexuality studies where non Western art is largely absent Taking a decolonial approach toward an archaeology of sexuality and breaking with long dominant iconographic traditions this book explores how the pots play jokes make babies give power and hold water considering the sex pots as actual ceramic bodies that interact with fleshly bodies now and in the ancient past A beautifully written study that will be welcomed by students as well as specialists Playing with Things is a model for archaeological and art historical engagement with the liberating power of queer theory and Indigenous studies The Transactions of the American Medical Association ,1876 Missionary Register ,1822 The Missionary Register ... ,1822 Memory, Muses, Memoir Deb Everson Borofka,2009-12 Why is the memoir genre so important What is it that drives us to tell our own stories The ancient Greek myth of Goddess Memory and her daughters the Muses offers new ways to re enter the stories of our lives and shape them in surprising ways Mnemosyne s birthing of the Muses underscores her commitment to express

Dugdale, 2017-07-14 Physicians philosophers and theologians consider how to address death and dying for a diverse population in a secularized century Most of us are generally ill equipped for dying Today we neither see death nor prepare for it But this has not always been the case In the early fifteenth century the Roman Catholic Church published the Ars moriendi texts which established prayers and practices for an art of dying In the twenty first century physicians rely on procedures and protocols for the efficient management of hospitalized patients How can we recapture an art of dying that can facilitate our dying well In this book physicians philosophers and theologians attempt to articulate a bioethical framework for dying well in a secularized diverse society Contributors discuss such topics as the acceptance of human finitude the role of hospice and palliative medicine spiritual preparation for death and the relationship between community and individual autonomy They also consider special cases including children elderly patients with dementia and death in the early years of the AIDS epidemic when doctors could do little more than accompany their patients in humble solidarity These chapters make the case for a robust bioethics one that could foster both the contemplation of finitude and the cultivation of community that would be necessary for a contemporary art of dying well Contributors Jeffrey P Bishop Lisa Sowle Cahill Daniel Callahan Farr A Curlin Lydia S Dugdale Michelle Harrington John Lantos Stephen R Latham M Therese Lysaught Autumn Alcott Ridenour Peter A Selwyn Daniel Sulmasy
