Hotaling, 1988-10 This volume takes a comprehensive look at the social responses to violence making an important contribution to the literature on family violence research and policy It first considers the meaning of family violence and the reasons why some victims do not accept help The chapters then focus on social responses to the problems of family violence including the growth of shelters and programmes for batterers the changing response of the criminal justice system and the resistance of the medical and health systems The challenges confronting the caring services the effectiveness of child protection and foster care programmes and importance of prevention are also discussed Family Violence Robert L. Hampton, 1999-01-01 The first edition of this book was also the first volume in the Issues in Children s and Families Lives book series Like the others in the series this volume is devoted to issues affecting children and their families The decision to devote the first volume to family violence was made because it was recognized that violence remains one of the major factors undermining the quality of family life especially for women and children It can be acknowledged that there has been some progress in the areas of social policy and clinical practice and yet the number of individuals and families affected by violence is still at an alarming level The chapters in this second edition testify to the ongoing expansion of knowledge in the field of family and intimate violence They attempt to summarize some of the best of current scholarship conducted by family violence researchers Several chapters address issues of prevention treatment and intervention services The contributors are all leaders in the field and reflect a variety of disciplines and different approaches The diverse perspectives brought to bear on the subject by professionals from a range of disciplines add to the richness of this volume Intimate Violence in Families

Richard J. Gelles,1997-01-15 Gelles explains theories of intimate violence and contributing social factors exploring major controversies in the study and treatment of family and intimate abuse The main focus is on physical abuse but other forms of victimisation are covered Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping Paul T. P. Wong,Lilian C. J.

Wong,2007-02-15 Has the developing world developed modern concepts of stress Are coping methods the same around the globe Such questions are not simple to answer and until recently few knew to ask them In recent years Western psychologists have recognized that their prevailing views of psychology do not always translate worldwide and that no culture has a monopoly on either stress or coping The Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping was created to address this realization This unique volume moves beyond simple comparisons of behaviors in other countries by clarifying critical concepts in stress and coping analyzing and synthesizing vast amounts of global data and identifying constructs and methodologies necessary for meaningful cross cultural research An international multiethnic panel of forty five contributors presents elegant studies of stress survival and resilience as cultures evolve and countries interact including Personal transformation as a coping strategy Psychological skills that enhance intercultural adjustment Individual versus collectivist values in coping Buddhist and Taoist traditions in coping The cumulative effects of historical environmental and political stressors on nations in the Middle East Specific cross cultural perspectives from Latino American families to Canadian aboriginal peoples to minority university students The editors have assembled a vital store of knowledge raising crucial implications for clinicians working with immigrant international populations and evaluating the current state of theory research and assessment The Handbook documents major steps toward scientific advancement and human understanding Kozier & Erb's Fundamentals of Nursing Australian Edition Audry Berman,Shirlee J. Snyder,Barbara

Kozier,Glenora Lea Erb,Tracy Levett-Jones,Trudy Dwyer,Majella Hales,Nichole Harvey,Lorna Moxham,Tanya Park,Barbara Parker,Kerry Reid-Searl,David Stanley,2014-12-01 Kozier and Erb s Fundamentals of Nursing prepares students for practice in a range of diverse clinical settings and help them understand what it means to be a competent professional nurse in the twenty first century This third Australian edition has once again undergone a rigorous review and writing process Contemporary changes in the regulation of nursing are reflected in the chapters and the third edition continues to focus on the three core philosophies Person centred care critical thinking and clinical reasoning and cultural safety Students will develop the knowledge critical thinking and clinical reasoning skills to deliver care for their patients in ways that signify respect acceptance empathy connectedness cultural sensitivity and genuine concern Coping with Family Violence Gerald T. Hotaling,1988 Whereas ten years ago debate in the field of family violence tended to describe its nature and extent the current research presented in this volume focuses on evaluation of social response marking the rapid expansion in concern over family violence and the increasing sophistication of a society taking it more seriously and trying to deal effectively with it Coping with Family Violence is based upon the beliefs that research and policy should constantly inform one another and that there is a continuing need for high level interdependence and cooperation between researcher and practitioners Contributors address the question of definition and the reasons victims may have for failing to take available help Specific sections then study some social responses to the problems of family violence including the growth of shelters and batterers programs the changing response of the criminal justice system and the resistance of the medical system The challenges confronting protective services and the effectiveness of child protection and foster care programs are discussed Finally the volume turns to the area of prevention focusing on the need for this to be a more central task in family violence

Strengthening Family Coping Resources Laurel Kiser,2015-01-14 Strengthening Family Coping Resources SFCR uses a skill building multi family group framework to teach constructive resources to families who have a high exposure to stress and trauma As an intervention for high risk families SFCR can cause a reduction in symptoms of traumatic distress and behavior problems and help families demonstrate higher functioning The SFCR manual is based on a systemic family approach and uses empirically supported trauma treatment that focuses on family ritual storytelling and narration which improves communication and understanding within family members The manual is organized into three accessible parts Part 1 details the theoretical and empirical foundations of SFCR Part 2 focuses on implementation and the clinical guidelines for conducting SFCR Part 3 contains session guidelines focused on the multi family group versions of SFCR Each session included in the intervention is structured according to specific guidelines and instructions provide examples of what facilitators might say to a group Formed through the input of psychiatrists psychologists social workers and anthropologists Strengthening Family Coping Resources will help you reduce the symptoms of traumatic stress disorders and increase coping resources in children adult caregivers and the family system It also provides a novel approach to addressing co occurring traumatic reactions in multiple family members by including developmentally appropriate skill building activities that are reinforced with family practice For anyone working with families in a therapeutic capacity this manual is a must have resource Handbook of Marriage and the Family Suzanne K. Steinmetz,Marvin B. Sussman,2013-11-11 The lucid straightforward Preface of this Handbook by the two editors and the comprehensive perspectives offered in the Introduction by one of them leave little for a Foreword to add It is therefore limited to two relevant but not intrinsically related points viz a vis research on marriage and the family in the interval since the first Handbook Christensen 1964 appeared namely the impact on this research of the politicization of the New Right and of the Feminist Enlightenment beginning in the mid sixties about the time of the first Handbook In the late 1930s Willard Waller noted Fifty years or more ago about 1890 most people had the greatest respect for the institution called the family and wished to learn nothing whatever about it Everything that concerned the life of men and women and their children was shrouded from the light Today much of that has been changed Gone is the concealment of the way in which life begins gone the irrational sanctity of the home The aura of sentiment which once protected the family from discussion clings to it no more We want to learn as much about it as we can and to understand it as thoroughly as possible for there is a rising recognition in America that vast numbers of its families are sick from internal frustrations and from external buffeting We are engaged in the process of reconstructing our family institutions through criticism and discussion 1938 pp 3 4

Responding to Family Violence Christine E. Murray, Kelly N. Graves, 2013-05-07 Provides mental health professionals with sound research based guidelines for conducting clinical work with clients impacted by various forms of family violence Makes accessible research studies and useful information to practitioners who would otherwise be hindered by the high cost of academic journals and the time it takes to locate read and interpret them Written in an accessible and user friendly language that presents academic scholarly and statistical terms to mental health professionals without extensive background and experience in research methodology Clarifies contradictory research studies Helps practitioners determine the best course of action when working with clients Each chapter concludes with a summary of the major research based implications and guidelines for clinical practice related to each topic Contains four sections focused on intimate partner violence childhood abuse abuse of vulnerable populations and family violence issues
