Ethics for the New Millennium Dalai Lama, Dalai Lama XIV, Alexander Norman, 1999-08-01 Only during a time when we have so little faith in one another so little confidence in the willingness of others to do what is right can a strong voice emerge to dispel disillusionment and show us hope It takes a person of great courage such as the Dalai Lama to face these times and say there is hope There is an argument to be made for basic human goodness The number of people who spend their lives being violent or dishonest is tiny compared with the number of people the vast majority we don't hear about who would wish others only well According to the Dalai Lama our survival has depended and will depend on our basic goodness Much more effective and important than legislation is our regard for one another's feelings at a simple human level Here I refer to the capacity we all have to empathize with one another to arrive at the inability to bear the sight of another's suffering The Dalai Lama presents an ethical system that not only is based on commonsense and reason as opposed to religious dogma or punitive legislation but has at its goal ultimate happiness for every individual The Dalai Lama demonstrates that human beings are better than we think we are and that a society and a life that cultivate love and compassion are completely within our reach If enough people operate from the understanding of their original purity a global revolution of peace will ensue
