Molecular Targets And Therapeutic Uses Of Spices: Modern Uses For Ancient Medicine Bharat B Aggarwal, Ajaikumar B Kunnumakkara, 2009-05-18 Most therapeutics available today are highly toxic very expensive and exhibit minimum efficacy The issue of toxicity is even more critical for prevention than for therapy because the former involves normal subjects Thus therapeutics that are safe and affordable are needed for both prevention and therapy Spices of Southeast Asian origin once employed for taste appearance and preservation of food now appear to have therapeutic value for humans What the active principles in these spices are and how they mediate their effect against various diseases are beginning to emerge from extensive research carried out within the last half century The current monograph is an attempt to address the active constituents their molecular targets and the therapeutic uses of these spices

Handbook of Spices in

India: 75 Years of Research and Development P N Ravindran, K Sivaraman, S Devasahayam, K Nirmal Babu, 2024-06-24

This compendium presents comprehensive information on more than 25 important spice crops commercially grown in India and traded globally apart from over 40 spices that have the potential to be popularized. In 70 chapters the book covers the achievements in research and development made in India for the past 75 years in various organizations including research institutes, agricultural universities and private sector laboratories. Spices are natural products of plant origin used primarily for flavouring and seasoning or for adding pungency and flavour to foods and beverages. The flavour and fragrance of Indian spices had a magic spell on human culture since very ancient days. The importance of spices in Indian life and its contribution to the economy are substantial. India as the world's leading producer of spices is also a significant stakeholder in spices export trade globally. Indian spices being sources of many high value compounds are also gaining much importance for other diversified uses especially for their pharmaceutical and nutraceutical properties. A wide variety of 52 spices are grown in India including black pepper, chillies, cardamom, ginger, turmeric, cinnamon, nutmeg, garlic, onion, cumin, coriander, saffron and vanilla. This book comprises a comprehensive holistic review on the subject written by the best experts in the field in India representing diverse agencies. This book is a single point reference book for all those involved in the research, study, teaching and use of spices in India and abroad.
