Creating Christian Granada:

Creating Christian Granada David Coleman, 2003-09-25 A richly detailed examination of a critical and transitional episode in Spain's march to global empire

Creating Christian Granada: Religion and Community on the Old-world Frontier, 1492-1570 David W. Coleman, 1996 Located in Spain's southeastern corner Granada stood as Islam's last bastion on the Iberian peninsula until conquered in 1492 by the armies of Isabella and Ferdinand For nearly eight decades following the conquest Granada remained a city divided between its native morisco community formerly Muslim converts to Christianity and the Christian immigrants who streamed into the city from other areas of Spain Mounting ethnic tensions culminated in 1568-1569 with the rebellion defeat and expulsion of the moriscos from the city This dissertation examines the creation of a new local Christian religious culture in the conquered city Using previously unexploited local archival sources this dissertation identifies the principal customs and devotions that characterized the religious lives of Granada's residents By examining the development of these elements of the city's religious culture this study asserts two arguments and through these arguments suggests new approaches to the understanding of Church-wide Catholic reform movements in the sixteenth century First while previous histories subordinate the Granadan story to grand narratives concerning the rise of Spanish absolutism and Church authority this dissertation places the primary impetus for the growth of the city's new religious culture within the local Christian immigrant community itself This study demonstrates that the Christian immigrants frontier society was subject to little oversight from crown and Church authority for most of the period under study Granada's new local Christian culture grew instead through lay initiative and in ways that reflected not only the city's ethnic conflicts but also cultural exchanges between moriscos and immigrants as well as social tensions within the immigrant community itself Second this dissertation argues that the creation of Christian Granada conditioned the production of Church-wide Catholic reform particularly through the decrees of the Council of Trent 1545-1563 The construction of a new local Christian culture among Granada's immigrants involved various lay demands for a reformed and more active local clergy Reform-minded clergymen in Granada responded with programs that not only reshaped local practice but also prefigured in fundamental ways the Church-wide reforms mandated by the Council of Trent By tracing the translation of Granadan reforms into Church-wide policy through the council this dissertation argues that the creation of Christian Granada constitutes a significant example of the cycles of dialogue and negotiation that underlay early modern religious reform Granada offers in short a case study illustration of a dynamic model of cultural reform programs in general a model which takes into account the centrality of localized systems of meaning to broader processes of cultural change

Pedro de Valencia and the Catholic Apologists of the Expulsion of the Moriscos Grace

Magnier,2010-03-08 The Spanish Moriscos Muslims forcibly converted to Christianity were expelled by Philip III between 1609 and 1614 Subsequently writers known as Catholic Apologists wrote justifying the event Pedro de Valencia humanist biblical scholar jurist and royal Chronicler condemned expulsion Both Apologists and Pedro de Valencia made their case by invoking Divine Providence the former contended that millenarian prophecies and apocalyptic visions were signs of divine warning beforehand and of approval afterwards Valencia urged Philip III to act as a shepherd king arguing that Divine Providence would punish monarchs who put political expediency before moral rectitude Drawing on unpublished source material the book juxtaposes the ideals of Valencia a Christian humanist with the bigotry superstition and racism of the Apologists

Truth in Many Tongues Daniel I. Wasserman-Soler,2020-03-04 Truth in Many Tongues examines how the Spanish monarchy managed an empire of unprecedented linguistic diversity Considering policies and strategies exerted within the Iberian Peninsula and the New World during the sixteenth century this book challenges the assumption that the pervasiveness of the Spanish language resulted from deliberate linguistic colonization Daniel I Wasserman Soler investigates the subtle and surprising ways that Spanish monarchs and churchmen thought about language Drawing from inquisition reports and letters royal and ecclesiastical correspondence records of church assemblies councils and synods and printed books in a variety of genres and languages he shows that Church and Crown officials had no single unified policy either for Castilian or for other languages They restricted Arabic in some contexts but not in others They advocated using Amerindian languages though not in all cases And they thought about language in ways that modern categories cannot explain they were neither liberal nor conservative neither tolerant nor intolerant In fact Wasserman Soler argues they did not think predominantly in terms of accommodation or assimilation categories that are common in contemporary scholarship on religious missions Rather their actions reveal a highly practical mentality as they considered each context carefully before deciding what would bring more souls into the Catholic Church Based upon original sources from more than thirty libraries and archives in Spain Italy the United States England and Mexico Truth in Many Tongues will fascinate students and scholars who specialize in early modern Spain colonial Latin America Christian Muslim relations and early modern Catholicism

The Ascetic Spirituality of Juan de Ávila (1499-1569) Rady Roldán-Figueroa,2010-11-11 Scholars have identify Juan de vila 1499 1569 as the author of a distinctively judeoconverso spirituality However there are no comprehensive studies that seriously take into account his background The present work seeks to analyze his spirituality against its proper early modern Spanish background

Saint and Nation Erin Kathleen Rowe,2011-01-01 In early seventeenth century Spain the Castilian parliament voted to elevate the newly beatified Teresa of Avila to co patron saint of Spain alongside the traditional patron Santiago Saint and Nation examines Spanish devotion to the cult of saints and the controversy over national patron sainthood to provide an original account of the diverse ways in which the early modern nation was expressed and experienced by monarch and town center and periphery By analyzing the dynamic interplay of local and extra local royal authority and nation tradition and modernity church and state and masculine and feminine within the co patronage debate Erin Rowe reconstructs the sophisticated balance of plural identities that emerged in Castile during a central period of crisis and change in the Spanish world

Muslims of Medieval Latin Christendom, c.1050-1614 Brian A. Catlos, 2014-03-20 An innovative study which explores how the presence of Muslim communities transformed Europe and stimulated Christian society to define itself

Between Christians and Moriscos Benjamin Ehlers, 2006-04-24 In early modern Spain the monarchy's universal policy to convert all of its subjects to Christianity did not end distinctions among ethnic religious groups but rather made relations between them more contentious Old Christians those whose families had always been Christian defined themselves in opposition to forcibly baptized Muslims moriscos and Jews conversos Here historian Benjamin Ehlers studies the relations between Christians and moriscos in Valencia by analyzing the ideas and policies of archbishop Juan de Ribera Juan de Ribera a young reformer appointed to the diocese of Valencia in 1568 arrived at his new post to find a congregation deeply divided between Christians and moriscos He gradually overcame the distrust of his Christian parishioners by intertwining Tridentine themes such as the Eucharist with local devotions and holy figures Over time Ribera came to identify closely with the interests of his Christian flock and his hagiographers subsequently celebrated him as a Valencian saint Ribera did not engage in a similarly reciprocal exchange with the moriscos after failing to effect their true conversion through preaching and parish reform he devised a covert campaign to persuade the king to banish them His portrayal of the moriscos as traitors and heretics ultimately justified the Expulsion of 1609 1614 which Ribera considered the triumphant culmination of the Reconquest Ehler's sophisticated yet accessible study of the pluralist diocese of Valencia is a valuable contribution to the study of Catholic reform moriscos Christian Muslim relations in early modern Spain and early modern Europe

Franciscan Spirituality and Mission in New Spain, 1524-1599 Steven E. Turley, 2016-04-15 Franciscans in sixteenth century New Spain were deeply ambivalent about their mission work Fray Juan de Zumrraga the first archbishop of Mexico begged the king to find someone else to do his job so that he could go home Fray Juan de Ribas one of the original twelve apostles of Mexico and a founding pillar of the church in New Spain later fled with eleven other friars into the wilderness to escape the demands of building that church Fray Jerónimo de Mendieta having returned from an important preaching tour in New Spain wrote to his superior that he did not want to enlist again and that the only way he would return to the mission field was if God dragged him by the hair This discontent was widespread grew stronger with time and carried important consequences for the friars interactions with indigenous peoples their Catholic co laborers and colonial society at large This book examines that discontent and seeks to explain why the exhilaration of joining such a glorious enterprise so often gave way to grinding discontent The core argument is that despite St Francis's own longing to do mission work his followers in New Spain found that effective evangelization in a frontier context was fundamentally incompatible with their core spirituality Bringing together two streams of historiography that have rarely overlapped spirituality and missions this book marks a strong contribution to the history of spirituality in both Latin America and Europe as well as to the growing fields of transatlantic and world history

Islamic Law and the Crisis of the Reconquista Alan Verskin, 2015-01-27 The Reconquista left unprecedentedly large numbers of Muslims living under Christian rule Since Islamic religious and legal institutions had been developed by scholars who lived under Muslim rule and who assumed this condition as a given how Muslims should proceed in the absence of such rule became the subject of extensive intellectual investigation In Islamic Law and the Crisis of the Reconquista Alan Verskin examines the way in which the Iberian school of Maliki law developed in response to the political theological and practical difficulties posed by the Reconquista He shows how religious concepts even those very central to the Islamic religious experience could be rethought and reinterpreted in order to respond to the changing needs of Muslims

Food and Religious Identities in Spain, 1400-1600 Jillian Williams, 2017-03-16 In the late fourteenth century the Iberian Peninsula was home to three major religions which coexisted in relative peace Over the next two centuries various political and social factors changed the face of Iberia dramatically This book examines this period of dynamic change in Iberian history through the lens of food and its relationship to religious identity It also provides a basis for further study of the connection between food and identities of all types This study explores the role of food as an expression of religious identity made evident in things like fasting feasting ingredient choices preparation methods and commensal relations It considers the role of food in the formation and redefinition of religious identities throughout this period and its significance in the maintenance of ideological and physical boundaries between faiths This is an insightful and unique look into inter religious dynamics It will therefore be of great interest to scholars of religious studies early modern European history and food studies
