Building Schools for the Future Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2009-06-11 The Department for Children Schools and Families Building Schools for the Future Programme BSF plans to renew every secondary school in the country by rebuilding half of them structurally remodelling 35 per cent refurbishing 15 per cent and providing Information Communication Technology to all Its aim is to use capital investment in new buildings as a catalyst to improve educational outcomes The Department estimates that the programme will cost 52 55 billion over its lifetime The Department was over optimistic in its original planning assumptions for BSF of the 200 schools originally planned to be completed by December 2008 only 42 had been by that date The Department now expects the programme to take 18 years with the last school completed in 2023 Local authorities are responsible for the local delivery of BSF They plan procure and manage the BSF school buildings In 2004 the Department established Partnerships for Schools to manage the national delivery of the programme The Department and Partnerships for Schools encourage local authorities to procure their schools through a Local Education Partnership These are 10 year partnerships to procure a flow of projects structured as joint ventures between the local authority a consortium of private companies that build finance and maintain schools and Building Schools for the Future Investments It is too early to conclude whether BSF will achieve its educational objectives To date over optimism has meant the programme could not live up to expectations Establishing Partnerships for Schools to manage the programme centrally has helped local authorities to deliver more effectively but while Local Education Partnerships have potential advantages their value for money is yet to be proven And it will be very challenging to deliver all schools by 2023

Quality in Education Jerry Arcaro,2024-11-01 Although hundreds of school improvement programs have been launched in the United States over the past quarter century very few of them have been successful The author of Quality in Education An Implementation Handbook an experienced quality expert who specializes in education believes that many of these programs could have succeeded had their developers understood and applied the theories and methods of Total Quality Management TQM This book explains how to avoid the pitfalls that doomed previous efforts to failure and apply TQM to build a strong foundation for success Beginning with the basic concepts and tools this book is your complete guide as you embark on your quality journey The handbook explains the importance of making a commitment to change and establishing a shared vision of quality and discusses tools and techniques for overcoming resistance and developing a quality culture The book covers new methods you can use to manage change and includes exercises to help you apply the ideas in your organization Examples from successful schools demonstrate how Total Quality Management can be applied to every area of education from classroom management to building maintenance Quality in Education An Implementation Handbook teaches you how to make fundamental changes to the way people in your district or school view education and themselves as educators Using the principles and methods in this book you can realize the tremendous benefits of quality continuous improvement in every educational process
