Early North America (ENHANCED eBook) Cindy Barden,2003-09-01 Welcome to the fascinating world of early North America the land that once was home to mastodons mammoths and the hunters who followed the herds The activities in this book provide an overview of life in North America beginning with the first migrations of people across the Bering land bridge during the last Ice Age The eight full color transparencies at the back of the book print books or the included PowerPoint slides eBooks can be used alone or with specific activities listed in the table of contents For a print book with the PowerPoint presentation instead of transparencies please see MP8823 Creating Early American Dolls Kay Cloud,1990 Beyond

Child's Play Sally Edward,2017-07-05 Sustainable product design is more than eco design it goes beyond green to consider the work environment community impacts consumer health and economic viability as well as environmental attributes Beyond Child s Play explores the concept of sustainable product design in the context of the global doll making industry To initiate this research the author reviewed eco design parameters and developed criteria for sustainable product design in the doll making industry Using this framework she conducted three case studies of do I making the American Girl doll produced in China the Kathe Kruse doll produced in Germany and the Q ewar Project doll produced in Peru Themes emerged from this research that have relevance beyond the doll making industry the value of making a product with care designing work for human dignity intention and vision for sustainability the implications of materials choices and transparency and sustainability Sustainable product design calls for fundamentally new thinking By connecting the term sustainable to product we raise expectations for a radically different approach to design production and consumption This framework integrates the eco design principles of detoxification and dematerialization with the principle of humanization to ensure that the work environment where the product is made is safe and healthy and that local communities benefit from production This approach places increased responsibility on the industrial designer and decision makers throughout the supply chain including governments corporations and citizens Sustainable product design can be implemented effectively only when systems are in place that support sustainable production and consumption Dollmaking for the First Time Miriam

Gourley,2004 Presents an introduction to dollmaking looking at the materials and tools needed to make decorate and clothe cloth and wooden dolls and including instructions for twelve dolls each of which illustrates a different dollmaking technique

Easy-to-make Dolls with Nineteenth-century-costumes Genevieve Priscilla Jones,1977-01-01 Full size patterns and complete easy to follow instructions for making 10 old fashioned doll bodies faces and wardrobes The instructions are easy to follow and those who enjoy creating their own dolls will find some particularly attractive ones here that they can make Antiques Journal Creating Their Own Image Lisa E. Farrington,2005 Creating Their Own Image marks the first comprehensive history of African American women artists from slavery to the present day Using an analysis of stereotypes of Africans and African Americans in western art and culture as a springboard Lisa E Farrington here richly details hundreds of

important works many of which deliberately challenge these same identity myths of the carnal Jezebel the asexual Mammy the imperious Matriarch in crafting a portrait of artistic creativity unprecedented in its scope and ambition In these lavishly illustrated pages some of which feature images never before published we learn of the efforts of Elizabeth Keckley fashion designer to Mary Todd Lincoln the acclaimed sculptor Edmonia Lewis internationally renowned for her neoclassical works in marble and the artist Nancy Elizabeth Prophet and her innovative teaching techniques We meet Laura Wheeler Waring who portrayed women of color as members of a socially elite class in stark contrast to the prevalent images of compliant maids impoverished malcontents and exotics others that proliferated in the inter war period We read of the painter Barbara Jones Hugu s collaboration on the famed Wall of Respect even as we view a rare photograph of Hugu in the process of painting the mural Farrington expertly guides us through the fertile period of the Harlem Renaissance and the New Negro Movement which produced an entirely new crop of artists who consciously imbued their work with a social and political agenda and through the tumultuous explosive years of the civil rights movement Drawing on revealing interviews with numerous contemporary artists such as Betye Saar Faith Ringgold Nanette Carter Camille Billops Xenobia Bailey and many others the second half of Creating Their Own Image probes more recent stylistic developments such as abstraction conceptualism and post modernism never losing sight of the struggles and challenges that have consistently influenced this body of work Weaving together an expansive collection of artists styles and periods Farrington argues that for centuries African American women artists have created an alternative vision of how women of color can are and might be represented in American culture From utilitarian objects such as quilts and baskets to a wide array of fine arts Creating Their Own Image serves up compelling evidence of the fundamental human need to convey one s life one s emotions one s experiences on a canvas of one s own making

Congregational Communion Francis J. Bremer, 1994 Puritan studies is one of the most heavily researched areas of scholarship in both England and the United States In this in depth exploration of the relationship between Puritans in England and New England Francis J Bremer challenges the view that the colonists turned away from English Puritans in the 1640s Rather he convincingly demonstrates that the two communities retained a complex symbiotic connection a communion throughout the seventeenth century and that the clergy on both sides of the Atlantic saw themselves as closely linked in their spiritual mission Focusing on the interaction between social experience and the shaping of belief Bremer thoroughly analyzes how Puritan clergymen of a congregational persuasion came together in a godly communion and examines how that communion sustained them in times of trouble and physical dispersal He explains the social forces that led to the articulation of early Congregationalism and details the significance of trans Atlantic religious exchanges through correspondence associations publications and other devices Bremer traces the first generation Puritans from their formative years at Cambridge University through the creation of a network of clerical friendships through the flight to Holland and to New England to the death of Oliver Cromwell and the beginnings of division within Congregationalism This thought
