The Appearance of That Which Cannot Be Seen Ariella Azoulay, Lorraine Daston, Bruno Latour, 2015 Heterotopia and the City Michiel Dehaene, Lieven De Cauter, 2008-05-15 Heterotopia literally meaning other place is a rich concept in urban design that describes a space that is on the margins of ordered or civil society and one that possesses multiple fragmented or even incompatible meanings The term has had an impact on architectural and urban theory since it was coined by Foucault in the late 1960s but it has remained a source of confusion and debate since Heterotopia and the City seeks to clarify this concept and investigates the heterotopias which exist throughout our contemporary world in museums theme parks malls holiday resorts gated communities wellness hotels and festival markets With theoretical contributions on the concept of heterotopia including a new translation of Foucault's influential 1967 text Of Other Space and essays by well known scholars the book comprises a series of critical case studies from Beaubourg to Bilbao which probe a range of post urban transformations and which redirect the debate on the privatization of public space Wastelands and terrains vagues are studied in detail in a section on urban activism and transgression and the reader gets a glimpse of the extremes of our dualized postcivil condition through case studies on Jakarta Dubai and Kinshasa Heterotopia and the City provides a collective effort to reposition heterotopia as a crucial concept for contemporary urban theory The book will be of interest to all those wishing to understand the city in the emerging postcivil society and post historical era Planners architects cultural theorists urbanists and academics will find this a valuable contribution to current critical argument

The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture(s) Paul O'Neill, 2016-09-02 How curating has changed art and how art has changed curating an examination of the emergence contemporary curatorship Once considered a mere caretaker for collections the curator is now widely viewed as a globally connected auteur Over the last twenty five years as international group exhibitions and biennials have become the dominant mode of presenting contemporary art to the public curatorship has begun to be perceived as a constellation of creative activities not unlike artistic praxis The curator has gone from being a behind the scenes organizer and selector to a visible centrally important cultural producer In The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture s Paul O'Neill examines the emergence of independent curatorship and the discourse that helped to establish it O'Neill describes how by the 1980s curated group exhibitions large scale temporary projects with artworks cast as illustrative fragments came to be understood as the creative work of curator auteurs The proliferation of new biennials and other large international exhibitions in the 1990s created a cohort of high profile globally mobile curators moving from Venice to Paris to Kassel In the 1990s curatorial and artistic practice converged blurring the distinction between artist and curator O'Neill argues that this change in the understanding of curatorship was shaped by a curator centered discourse that effectively advocated and authorized the new independent curatorial practice Drawing on the extensive curatorial literature and his own interviews with leading curators critics art historians and artists O'Neill traces the development of the curator as artist model and the ways it has been contested The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture s documents the many ways in which our perception of art has been transformed by curating and the discourses surrounding it
