Collections in Libraries Carolyn A. Sheehy, 1996-12-09 Business information is in strong demand by a wide range of library patrons Academic librarians must meet the needs of undergraduates graduates and faculty who require information about businesses for their coursework and research school librarians must deal with sophisticated financial questions from students in a variety of classes public librarians must provide investors and job seekers with information about financial trends prospective employers and particular industries and special librarians must provide their users with immediate and current data about clients competitors and markets Business information is available in various forms such as print sources CD ROMs and on line databases and is particularly volatile with the news of the morning often being more in demand than the news of the week before The wide range of patron needs product types and constantly changing data makes managing business collections a particularly complex and demanding responsibility This management guide provides a wealth of information to assist librarians who are new to managing business collections Chapters written by expert contributors survey such topics as planning financial and personnel concerns and facilities management the selection acquisition cataloging classification processing and preservation of print and electronic material and the provision of access reference and information services to both internal and external user communities A selected annotated bibliography concludes the volume
