The Ruthless Critique of Everything Existing Andrew Feenberg, 2023-02-28 For several years after 1968 Herbert Marcuse was one of the most famous philosophers in the world He became the face of Frankfurt School Critical Theory for a generation in turmoil His fame rested on two remarkable books Eros and Civilization and One Dimensional Man These two books represent the utopian hopes and dystopian fears of the time In the 1960s and 70s young people seeking a theoretical basis for their revolution found it in his work Marcuse not only supported their struggles against imperialism and race and gender discrimination he foresaw the far reaching implications of the destruction of the natural environment Marcuse s Marxism was influenced by Husserl and Heidegger Hegel and Freud These eclectic sources grounded an original critique of advanced capitalism focused on the social construction of subjectivity and technology Marcuse contrasted the one dimensionality of conformist experience with the new sensibility of the New Left The movement challenged a society that delivered the goods but devastated the planet with its destructive science and technology A socialist revolution would fail if it did not transform these instruments into means of liberation both of nature and human beings This aspiration is alive today in the radical struggle over climate change Marcuse offers theoretical resources for understanding that struggle
