Coup Doeil At Beloeil And A Great Number Of European Gardens:

The Ruler in the Garden Andreas Schönle, 2007 This monograph examines the contributions of landscape design to authority and to organization of public life in imperial Russia Analyzing how tsars and nobles inscribed their political aspirations in the gardens they designed or inhabited this study maps out a distinct trajectory in the meaning of landscape design Based partly on archival documents it explores the reasons for Catherine the Great s keen interest in landscape design It reconstructs Grigorii Potemkin s attempts to transform the Crimea physically and symbolically into the garden of the empire And it reveals the centrality of the garden for noblemen such as Andrei Bolotov and Alexander Kurakin who expressed their political philosophy and their anxieties about unstable social relations through landscaping The book follows the destiny of western aesthetic categories notably of the picturesque as they are first adopted then transformed and ultimately rejected It analyzes the historical role and mythological representations of the country estate along with Leo Tolstoy s fraught commitment to Yasnaya Polyana and his critique of estate mythology in War and Peace Finally this study exposes how the current fashion for gardening in Russia in particular among New Russians alludes to imperial landscaping culture in order to justify a retreat from the public sphere

City Trees Henry W. Lawrence, 2008 For those who have ever wondered why we have trees in cities or what makes the layout of cities like Paris and Amsterdam seem so memorable City Trees A Historical Geography from the Renaissance through the Nineteenth Century by Henry W Lawrence provides a comprehensive and handsome guide to the history of trees in urban landscapes Covering four centuries of development in the cities of Europe and America this book shows how trees became integral to urban landscapes by looking at the historical evolution of the spaces in which they were planted and how these spaces were used Reflecting on the impact trees have had on what many consider to be the fundamental aspects of city life people buildings social and economic activity Lawrence draws on graphic materials written descriptions local histories and archival research to provide a unique look at the tree s role in urban landscape history Primarily concerned with aesthetics power and national traditions Lawrence reflects on the differing impacts city trees have had on multiple aspects of culture from their roles as symbols and their representation of economic prosperity to the differing ways nations planted their trees which gradually blended into an international style of urban planting Complete with fascinating illustrations City Trees will appeal to those interested in urban history and geography as well as the general public interested in cities cultural history and landscape design

Britain and Italy in the Long Eighteenth Century Rosamaria Loretelli, Frank O'Gorman, 2010-02-19 The essays in this collection range across literature aesthetics music and art and explore such themes as the dynamics of change in eighteenth century aesthetics time modernity and the picturesque the function of graphic ornaments in eighteenth century texts imaginary voyages as a literary genre the genesis of children s literature the Italian opera and musical theory in Frances Burney s novels Italian and British art theories and patterns of cultural transfers and of book circulation between Britain and Italy in the eighteenth century Collectively they epitomise the concerns and approaches of scholars working on the long eighteenth century at this challenging and exciting time In the absence of universally agreed overarching interpretations of the cultural history of the long eighteenth century these papers pave the way for the ultimate emergence of such explanations Authors discussed here include Margaret Cavendish David Russen Francis Hutcheson Reverend Gilpin Samuel Richardson Henry Fielding Laurence Sterne Dugald Stewart Dorothy Kilner Frances Burney Anna Gordon Brown Saverio Bettinelli Henry Ince Blundell Francesco Algarotti Ugo Foscolo and Francesco Domenico Guerrazzi

Encyclopedia of the Enlightenment Michel Delon, 2013-12-04 This acclaimed translation of Michel Delon's Dictionnaire Europeen des Lumieres contains more than 350 signed entries covering the art economics science history philosophy and religion of the Enlightenment Delon's team of more than 200 experts from around the world offers a unique perspective on the period providing offering not only factual information but also critical opinions that give the reader a deeper level of understanding An international team of translators editors and advisers under the auspices of the French Ministry of Culture has brought this collection of scholarship to the English speaking world for the first time

Incendiary Art Kevin Salatino, 1998-01-15 Festivities such as those exalting the court of Louis XIV the celebration of James II's London coronation and the commemoration of the peace celebrations of 1749 at The Hague culminated in dazzling pyrotechnical displays These were in turn reproduced as prints paintings and narrative descriptions This unique book examines the propagandistic and rhetorical functions these printed records came to serve as vehicles of aesthetic cultural and emotional significance

The Eighteenth Century, 1998 Czech, German, and Noble Rita Krueger, 2009-01-21 Czech German and Noble examines the intellectual ideas and political challenges that inspired patriotic activity among the Bohemian nobility the infusion of national identity into public and institutional life and the role of the nobility in crafting and supporting the national ideal within Habsburg Bohemia Patriotic aristocrats created the visible and public institutional framework that cultivated national sentiment and provided the national movement with a degree of intellectual and social legitimacy The book argues that the mutating identity of the aristocracy was tied both to insecurity and to a belief in the power of science to address social problems commitment to the ideals of enlightenment as well as individual and social improvement and profound confidence that progress was inevitable and that intellectual achievement would save society The aristocrats who helped create endow and nationalize institutions were a critical component of the public sphere and necessary for the nationalization of public life overall The book explores the myriad reasons for aristocratic participation in new or nationalized institutions the fundamental changes in legal and social status new ideas about civic responsibility and political participation and the hope of reform and fear of revolution The book examines the sociability within and creation of nascent national institutions that incorporated fundamentally new ways of thinking about community culture competition and status The argument that class mattered to the degree that it was irrelevant intersects with several important historical questions

beyond theories of nationalism including debates about modernization and the longevity of aristocratic power the nature of the public sphere and class and the measurable impact of science and intellectual movements on social and political life

California Garden, 1992 Greater Perfections John Dixon Hunt, 2000 Greater Perfections explores the meanings of garden and its relationship to other interventions into the natural world But above all it offers a new and challenging account of the role of representation in garden art Journal Sites Unseen Dianne Harris, D. Fairchild Ruggles, 2007-05-27 Sites Unseen challenges conventions for viewing and interpreting the landscape using visual theory to move beyond traditional practices of describing and classifying objects to explore notions of audience and context While other fields such as art history and geography have engaged poststructuralist theory to consider vision and representation the application of such inquiry to the natural or built environment has lagged behind This book by treating landscape as a spatial psychological and sensory encounter aims to bridge this gap opening a new dialogue for discussing the landscape outside the boundaries of current art criticism and theory As the contributors reveal the landscape is a widely adaptable medium that can be employed literally or metaphorically to convey personal or institutional ideologies Walls gates churchyards and arches become framing devices for a staged aesthetic experience or to suit a sociopolitical agenda The optic stimulation of signs symbols bodies and objects combines with physical acts of climbing and walking and sensory acts of touching smelling and hearing to evoke an overall vision of landscape Sites Unseen considers a variety of different perspectives including ancient Roman visions of landscape the framing techniques of a Moghul palace and a contemporary case study of Christo's The Gates as examples of human attempts to shape our sensory cognitive and emotional experiences in the landscape Coup D'œil at Belœil and a Great Number of European Gardens Charles Joseph prince de Ligne, Charles Joseph de Ligne, 1991 Charles Joseph seventh Prince de Ligne Field marshal Grandee of Spain Knight of the Golden Fleece sovereign of the minuscule county of Fagnolles in the Ardennes and author of the Coup d Oeil sur Beloeil was born in 1735 Claiming descent from Charlemagne intimate with royalty from Paris to Vienna to St Petersburg he traveled widely associating with such luminaries as Madame de Staël Voltaire Frederick the Great and Rousseau until the eighteenth century douceur de vivre came to an abrupt halt with the French Revolution Forced to flee his Belgian estates he became an exile in Vienna where he died in 1814 having attempted to support himself by writing But Ligne's real passion was for his garden at Beloeil which he described as he lay dying as the handsomest garden in Europe if it weren't for Versailles This new critical edition presents the 1795 version of Ligne's masterwork his garden treatise on Beloeil and the great gardens of Europe Designed by Wolfgang Lederer and elegantly illustrated from sources Ligne himself might have known this extensively annotated translation will introduce a new generation of readers to Ligne's intelligence and wit as well as his ideas on gardens The charm and vivacity of the Prince's anecdotes and pithy observations lead one through his own beloved gardens to a Grand Tour of European culture in the eighteenth century These pages were composed in happy days when the world was not sullied with crime and when our blood and tears had not been shed I wrote names then that I no longer have the strength to utter Now everything is altered
