Sites of Exchange , 2006-01-01 Crossing borders both physically and imaginatively is part of our nomadic postmodern identity but transcultural and transnational exchanges have also played a major role in the centuries long processes of hybridisation that helped to fashion the vast geographic political and imaginative container of diversity we call Europe This volume gathers together the work of scholars from several European countries in an attempt to encourage a collective reflection upon historical and often mythical locations and landscapes as well as upon the thresholds and faultlines that unite or separate them The issues the volume tackles are delicate and complex for the encounter of differences engenders both curiosity and suspicion and there is no easy way to create a new synthesis while respecting and promoting diversity However since Europe is inevitably a cultural and political entity in the making Europeans should embrace the great narrative of a utopian project uniting their efforts to work towards a civilisation that is grounded on plurality and openness
