Literary Review ,2003 Literature and the Scottish Reformation Dr Crawford Gribben,Professor David George Mullan,2013-04-28 Throughout the twentieth century Scottish literary studies was dominated by a critical consensus that critiqued contemporary anti Catholic by advancing a re reading of the Reformation This consensus understood that Scotland s rich medieval culture had been replaced with an anti aesthetic tyranny of life and letters As a result Scottish literature has consistently been defined in opposition to the Calvinism to which it frequently returns Yet as the essays in this collection show such a consensus appears increasingly untenable in light both of recent research and a more detailed survey of Scottish literature This collection launches a full scale reconsideration of the series of relationships between literature and reformation in early modern Scotland Previous scholarship in this area has tended to dismiss the literary value of the writing of the period largely as a reaction to its regular theological interests Instead the essays in this volume reinforce recent work that challenges the received scholarly consensus by taking these interests seriously This volume argues for the importance of this religiously orientated writing through the adoption of a series of interdisciplinary approaches Arranged chronologically the collection concentrates on major authors and texts while engaging with a number of contemporary critical issues and so highlighting for example writing by women in the period It addresses the concerns of historians and theologians who have routinely accepted the established reading of this period of literary history in Scotland and offers a radically new interpretation of the complex relationships between literature and religious reform in early modern Scotland

Transactions of the Royal Historical Society: Volume 8 Royal Historical Society, 1999-02-04 Volume 8 of The Royal Historical Society Transactions contains essays based around the theme identities and empires Asian Models Of Entrepreneurship - From The Indian Union And Nepal To The Japanese Archipelago: Context, Policy And Practice (2nd Edition) Leo-paul Dana, 2014-06-13 In this book Leo Paul Dana makes it clear that much can be learnt about the nature of entrepreneurial activity when we delve into the unique characteristics of different nations of South Asia South east Asia and East Asia Through in depth analyses and comprehensive reviews of many Asian countries the profound differences both among and within countries of the region become vividly apparent Dana juxtaposes the explosion in entrepreneurial growth within China against the struggles to build an entrepreneurial community in Japan or the enlightened public policy leadership in Singapore against the crisis driven developments in Korea The range of factors identified within each of the 15 countries examined by Dana is not an example of random influences on the entrepreneurial process because they can be construed in more systematic and logical ways Thus the book uncovers the Chinese model of gradual transition the Royal Cambodian model and the Doi Moi model among many others The reader is challenged to grasp these different models and identify their commonalities and differences
