Political Protest and Cultural Revolution Barbara Epstein,1993-09-03 From her perspective as both participant and observer Barbara Epstein examines the nonviolent direct action movement which inspired by the civil rights movement flourished in the United States from the mid seventies to the mid eighties Disenchanted with the politics of both the mainstream and the organized left and deeply committed to forging communities based on shared values activists in this movement developed a fresh philosophy and style of politics that shaped the thinking of a new generation of activists Driven by a vision of an ecologically balanced nonviolent egalitarian society they engaged in political action through affinity groups made decisions by consensus and practiced mass civil disobedience The nonviolent direct action movement galvanized originally in opposition to nuclear power with the Clamshell Alliance in New England and then the Abalone Alliance in California leading the way Its influence soon spread to other activist movements for peace non intervention ecological preservation feminism and gay and lesbian rights Epstein joined the San Francisco Bay Area s Livermore Action Group to protest the arms race and found herself in jail along with a thousand other activists for blocking the road in front of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory She argues that to gain a real understanding of the direct action movement it is necessary to view it from the inside For with its aim to base society as a whole on principles of egalitarianism and nonviolence the movement sought to turn political protest into cultural revolution

The Third World in the Global 1960s Samantha

Christiansen,Zachary A. Scarlett,2013 Decades after the massive student protest movements that consumed much of the world the 1960s remain a significant subject of scholarly inquiry While important work has been done regarding radical activism in the United States and Western Europe events in what is today known as the Global South Asia Africa and Latin America have yet to receive the attention they deserve This volume inserts the Third World into the study of the 1960s by examining the local and international articulations of youth protest in various geographical social and cultural arenas Rejecting the notion that the Third World existed on the periphery it situates the events of the 1960s in a more inclusive context building a richer more nuanced understanding of the era that better reflects the dynamism of the period The Cultural Revolution at the Margins Yiching Wu,2014-06-09 The Cultural Revolution began from above yet it was students and workers at the grassroots who advanced the movement s radical possibilities by acting and thinking for themselves Resolving to suppress the resulting crisis Mao set events in motion in 1968 that left out in the cold those rebels who had taken it most seriously Yiching Wu shows Why Baby Boomers Turned from Religion Abby Day,2022 Why Baby Boomers Turned from Religion takes an in depth look at the generation of post WWII babies who came of age in the 1960s and how they acted as a transitional generation between religious parents and non religious children and grandchildren forged different practices and sites of meaning morality community and transcendence Transgression as a Mode of Resistance Christina R. Foust,2010-06-22 Since industrialization two major theoretical perspectives have accompanied the vibrant practice of social change The first hegemony emerged as a less deterministic route to revolution from Marxist theory and forms the common sense of social movement today Within hegemonic resistance rhetoric links issues ideas and identities to form a recognizable collective agent whose aim is to transform the status quo into its vision of the world The second major mode of resistance transgression grows from anarchist and autonomous resistance to capitalism Transgression attempts to free individuals uniqueness and creative power by deconstructing authority and explicating the body in resistance Transgression as a Mode of Resistance Rethinking Social Movement in an Era of Corporate Globalization provides the conceptual mapping for scholars students and practitioners to participate in the growing debate between these rich and powerful forces of social change Through a broad perspective on philosophy and history Christina R Foust demonstrates that hegemony and transgression are sometimes conflicting oftentimes inter related practices She responds to critics who believe that without a social change agent resistance appears baseless and na ve without a representational economy to cohere and express common interests social movement is impossible Through alternative social relationships and political performances transgressive resisters may reinvent daily life Respecting Congregations Clyde Ervine,2025-05-22 Across North America congregations and their leaders are experiencing unprecedented anxiety Despite the many organizational and growth strategies offered to congregational leaders over the last five decades few congregations are growing and most are coping with numerical decline With fewer people attending worship and fewer students offering themselves for ordination at least in mainline denominations many Christians worry that the church across the continent is in the process of dying While Ervine s book may not offer swift solutions it does offer hope Fearful congregations and their leaders are invited to set the search for quick fix solutions aside and instead take the time to discover and then respect the identity purpose and ministry priorities that the New Testament provides to congregations This book is written in the conviction that clarity about their in Christ identity their purpose in God s ongoing mission and what is essential to their ministry will give congregations new confidence to offer Christian witness rooted in biblical teaching while respecting twenty first century cultural realities
