The Irish Novel at the End of the Twentieth Century J. Jeffers,2016-04-30 The Irish Novel at the End of the Twentieth Century Gender Bodies and Power interprets a wide variety of the most interesting Irish novels of the last ten years of the century from a perspective that focuses on the regulated sexual and constructed gendered body The demarcating line of identity the perennial Irish problem can be gauged at the basic level of sexual and gender identity in contrast to or in alliance with political social religious or cultural norms All mechanisms that have gone into controlling the body gender regulation violence desire religious taboos can all be reinterpreted through the body in motion Steel City

Readers Mary Grover, 2023-05-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library Steel City Readers makes available and interprets in detail a large body of new evidence about past cultures and communities of reading Its distinctive method is to listen to readers own voices rather than theorising about them as an undifferentiated group Its cogent and engaging structure traces reading journeys from childhood into education and adulthood and attends to settings from home to school to library It has a distinctive focus on reading for pleasure and its framework of argument situates that type of reading in relation to dimensions of gender and class It is grounded in place and particularly in the context of a specific industrial city Sheffield The men and women featured in the book coming to adulthood in the 1930s and 1940s rarely regarded reading as a means of self improvement It was more usually a compulsive and intensely pleasurable private activity

Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1988 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world s leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals
