Art for Art's Sake and Art for Life's Sake

Role and purpose of art in literature

Literary periods in both principles:

Literary periods that follow the principle of Art for Art's Sake are:

"Romanticism" (late 18th to mid 19th century): A movement that emphasized the individual, the subjective, the irrational, the imaginative, the personal, the emotional, and the visionary aspects of art. It rejected the rationalism, classicism, and realism of the previous periods, and celebrated the power of nature, imagination, and creativity. Some of the famous writers of this period were William Wordsworth, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, John Keats, Percy Bysshe Shelley, Lord Byron, and Victor Hugo.

"Aestheticism" (late 19th century): A movement that advocated for the autonomy and independence of art from moral and social constraints, and celebrated the sensual and decadent aspects of life. It was influenced by the French slogan of "l'art pour l'art" (art for art's sake), and the works of Edgar Allan Poe, Charles Baudelaire, and Walter Pater. Some of the famous writers of this period were Oscar Wilde, Algernon Charles Swinburne, James McNeill Whistler, and Aubrey Beardsley.

"Modernism" (late 19th to mid 20th century): A movement that experimented with new and innovative forms and styles of art, such as symbolism, impressionism, expressionism, surrealism, and cubism. It challenged the traditional conventions and expectations of art, and explored the themes of alienation, fragmentation, and disillusionment in the modern world. Some of the famous writers of this period were T.S. Eliot, James Joyce, Virginia Woolf, Marcel Proust, Franz Kafka, and Ernest Hemingway.

Literary periods that follow the principle of Art for Life's Sake are:

"Realism" (mid 19th to early 20th century): A movement that aimed to depict the reality and complexity of human life, especially the social and economic conditions of the lower and middle classes. It used art as a means of social criticism and reform, exposing the injustices and inequalities of their times. It was influenced by the scientific, political, and industrial developments of the 19th century, and the works of Germaine de Staël, Honoré de Balzac, and Charles Dickens. Some of the famous writers of this period were Gustave Flaubert, George Eliot, Émile Zola, Leo Tolstoy, and Mark Twain.

"Naturalism" (late 19th to early 20th century): A movement that extended the principles of realism to a more deterministic and pessimistic view of human nature and society. It portrayed the characters as products of their heredity, environment, and social forces, and often depicted them as victims of fate, circumstance, and instinct. It was influenced by the theories of Charles Darwin, Auguste Comte, and Hippolyte Taine, and the works of Émile Zola, Gustave Flaubert, and Guy de Maupassant. Some of the famous writers of this period were Stephen Crane, Theodore Dreiser, Frank Norris, and Jack London.

"Social realism" (early to mid 20th century): A movement that focused on the realistic and critical representation of the social issues and problems of the working class and the oppressed groups in society. It used art as a tool of social protest and change, and often expressed a leftist or Marxist ideology. It was influenced by the events of the Great Depression, the World Wars, and the Cold War, and the works of Charles Dickens, Émile Zola, and Upton Sinclair. Some of the famous writers of this period were John Steinbeck, George Orwell, Richard Wright, and John Dos Passos.

Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes Patricia Laurence, 2013-01-02 A map of the mutual influence of Bloomsbury the Crescent Moon Society and modernism in English and Chinese culture Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes traces the romance of Julian Bell nephew of Virginia Woolf and Ling Shuhua a writer and painter Bell met while teaching at Wuhan University in China in 1935 Relying on a wide selection of previously unpublished writings Patricia Laurence places Ling often referred to as the Chinese Katherine Mansfield squarely in the Bloomsbury constellation In doing so she counters East West polarities and suggests forms of understanding to inaugurate a new kind of cultural criticism and literary description Laurence expands her examination of Bell and Ling's relationship into a study of parallel literary communities Bloomsbury in England and the Crescent Moon group in China Underscoring their reciprocal influences in the early part of the twentieth century Laurence presents conversations among well known British and Chinese writers artists and historians including Virginia Woolf Vanessa Bell G L Dickinson Xu Zhimo E M Forster and Xiao Qian In addition Laurence's study includes rarely seen photographs of Julian Bell Ling and their associates as well as a reproduction of Ling's scroll commemorating moments in the exchange between Bloomsbury and the Crescent Moon group While many critics agree that modernism is a movement that crosses national boundaries literary studies rarely reflect such a view In this volume Laurence links unpublished letters and documents cultural artifacts art literature and people in ways that provide illumination from a comparative cultural and aesthetic perspective In so doing she addresses the geographical and critical imbalances and thus the architecture of modernist postcolonial Bloomsbury and Asian studies by placing China in an aesthetic matrix of a developing international modernism

Poetry at Stake Carrie Noland, 1999-12-05 Taking seriously Guillaume Apollinaire's wager that twentieth century poets would one day mechanize poetry as modern industry has mechanized the world Carrie Noland explores poetic attempts to redefine the relationship between subjective expression and mechanical reproduction high art and the world of things Noland builds upon close readings to construct a tradition of diverse lyricists from Arthur Rimbaud Blaise Cendrars and Rene Char to contemporary performance artists Laurie Anderson and Patti Smith allied in their concern with the nature of subjectivity in an age of mechanical reproduction Publisher description

Art and Life in Aestheticism Kelly Comfort, 2008-01-23 Art for art's sake addresses the relationship between art and life Although it has long been argued that aestheticism aims to dehumanize art this volume seeks to consider the counterclaim that such dehumanization can also lead to rehumanization and to a deepened relationship between the aesthetic sphere and the world at large

Rethinking Music Nicholas Cook, Mark Everist, 1999 Academic musical studies have gone through a period of rapid change in recent years the musicological agenda has been expanded to include a broad range of sociological and ideological issues while the very status of music theory with its apparent dependence on the autonomous musical work has been thrown into doubt The time is ripe for a comprehensive re evaluation of our thinking about music in the light of such recent developments Rethinking Music is in two parts Part 1 focuses on approaches to musical texts covering such topics as the relationship of text and context concepts of unity and meaning in music and the role of empirical approaches together with compositional and performance perspectives Underlying the volume as a whole is the question of how far and in what ways music theory can remain viable and valuable in a changing intellectual environment Part 2 sets out to reflect the nature of the discipline of musicology and the ways in which it has been and may be challenged and enriched The volume examines music history and cultural histories of music The status of the musical text is a subject that has clear resonances in Part 1 and themes developed in Part 2 include questions of ethics pedagogy performance and popular music as subjects for scholarly enquiry questions of reception canon gender and historiography

The Politics of Cultural Capital Julia Lovell, 2006-03-31 In the 1980s China s politicians writers and academics began to raise an increasingly urgent question why had a Chinese writer never won a Nobel Prize for literature Promoted to the level of official policy issue and national complex Nobel anxiety generated articles conferences and official delegations to Sweden Exiled writer Gao Xingjian s win in 2000 failed to satisfactorily end the matter and the controversy surrounding the Nobel committee s choice has continued to simmer Julia Lovell s comprehensive study of China s obsession spans the twentieth century and taps directly into the key themes of modern Chinese culture national identity international status and the relationship between intellectuals and politics The intellectual preoccupation with the Nobel literature prize expresses tensions inherent in China's move toward a global culture after the collapse of the Confucian world view at the start of the twentieth century and particularly since China's re entry into the world economy in the post Mao era Attitudes toward the prize reveal the same contradictory mix of admiration resentment and anxiety that intellectuals and writers have long felt toward Western values as they struggled to shape a modern Chinese identity In short the Nobel complex reveals the pressure points in an intellectual community not entirely sure of itself Making use of extensive original research including interviews with leading contemporary Chinese authors and critics The Politics of Cultural Capital is a comprehensive up to date treatment of an issue that cuts to the heart of modern and contemporary Chinese thought and culture It will be essential reading for scholars of modern Chinese literature and culture globalization post colonialism and comparative and world literature The "I" and the "Eye" Pragyan Rath, 2011-05-25 The paradigmatic moment of the opposition between the verbal and the visual arts may be seen in Lessing's treatise on the Laocoön sculptural group written in 1766 a moment that is identified within a historical framework of modern aesthetics that begins In Defence of Modernity Efraim Podoksik, 2013-05-14 Although Oakeshott's philosophy has received considerable attention the vision which underlies it has been almost completely ignored This vision which is rooted in the intellectual debates of his epoch cements his ideas into a coherent whole and provides a compelling defence of modernity The main feature of Oakeshott's vision of modernity is seen here as radical plurality resulting from fragmentation of experience and society On the level of experience modernity denies the existence of the hierarchical medieval scheme and argues that there exist independent ways of understanding our world such as science and history which cannot be reduced to each other On the level of society modernity finds expression in liberal doctrine according to which society is an aggregate of individuals each pursuing his or her own choices For Oakeshott to be modern means not only to recognise this condition of radical plurality but also to learn to appreciate and enjoy it Oakeshott did not think that it was possible to find a comprehensive philosophical justification for modernity therefore the only way to preserve modern civilisation seemed to be an appeal to sentiment As a consequence he was a passionate defender of liberal education as the best way to underwrite the conversation of mankind Modernism's History Bernard Smith, 1998-01-01 The history of twentieth century visual arts can no longer be written as a succession of avant garde movements contends eminent art historian Bernard Smith in this stimulating book He argues that a return to the concept of period style is inevitable and that modernism the dominant style of art that emerged at the end of the nineteenth century and continued through the 1960s deserves recognition as a period style Smith renames this period Formalesque since it is no longer modern and since it emphasizes the formal values of art more than any previous period does In a wide ranging reformulation of art history in the twentieth century the author defines the nature and development of Formalesque an avant garde style that arose between 1890 and the First World War was institutionalized between the world wars and flourished anew between 1945 and 1960

Identifying the Formalesque period says Smith makes it possible also to identify dialectical adversaries such true oppositional avant garde styles of the twentieth century as Dada Surrealism and the Neue Sachlichkeit These constitute the formative elements of the modernism now called postmodernism that became increasingly dominant after 1960 The author locates twentieth century artistic movements and developments in a broad cultural context and concludes with a thought provoking examination of the relation between the Formalesque and European and American cultural imperialism Inexorable Modernity Hiroshi Nara,2007-01-01 Beginning in the late Edo period the Japanese faced a rapidly and irreversibly changing world in which industrialization westernization and internationalization were exerting pressure upon an entrenched traditional culture The Japanese themselves felt threatened by Western powers with their sense of superiority and military might Yet the Japanese were more prepared to meet this challenge than was thought at the time and they used a variety of strategies to address the tension between modernity and tradition Inexorable Modernity illuminates our understanding of how Japan has dealt with modernity and of what mechanisms universal and local we can attribute to the mode of negotiation between tradition and modernity in three major forms of art theatre the visual arts and literature Dr Hiroshi Nara brings together a thoughtful collection of essays that demonstrate that traditional and modern approaches to life draw from one another and tradition whether real or created was sought out in order to find a way to live with the burden of modernity Inexorable Modernity is a valuable and enlightening read for those interested in Asian studies and history Book jacket

Textual Practice Jean Howard,Alan Sinfield,Lindsay Smith,2005-06-27 In this volume Textual Practice brings together some of its most pressing concerns by exploring the interaction of texts with language politics gender and history Textual Practice has a theoretical approach that crosses over into a range of other apparently disparate disciplines philosophy history law medicine science architechtrure gender and media studies Key Features Features the most exciting new voices and the most influential new scholars in the field Multidisciplinary Includes two articles on Ireland _ _ _ The Japanese Ideology Tosaka Jun,2024-09-17 A major Marxist thinker and critic in 1930s Japan Tosaka Jun was among the world s most incisive yet underrecognized theorists of capitalism fascism and ideology during the years before World War II The Japanese Ideology is his masterpiece first published in 1935 as Japan and the world plummeted into an age of reaction Tosaka offers a ruthless philosophical critique of contemporary ideology that exposes liberalism s deep complicity with fascism The Japanese Ideology provides a materialist analysis of the reactionary ideology then overtaking Japan with profound significance for anywhere fascism has taken root Modeled after Marx and Engels s The German Ideology it critiques idealism as the common ground for liberalism and fascism against which only historical materialism can suffice Tosaka demonstrates how liberal and fascist ideas at once justified and concealed Japan s colonization of East Asia and he investigates the many traces of fascism in Japanese thought and society The Japanese Ideology makes an important intervention in Marxist theory by criticizing reliance on the East West binary and the notion of the Asiatic mode of production Robert Stolz s translation introduces

Anglophone readers to a classic of twentieth century Marxist thought by an unsung peer of Gramsci and Benjamin with striking relevance today

ESSENCE OF LITERATURE Dr. Umar Farooque, 2021-06-29

Essential of Literature Thought

Feeling Imagination and beauty are the essential ingredients of literature Literature is one among the foremost powerful instruments for forming character Writers teach us to understand man and know attribute Literature may be a record of the simplest thoughts Emerson Literature is that the artistic expression of thought which is replete with feeling and imagination Literature consists of all the books where moral truth and human passion are touched with a selected largeness sanity and attraction of form Lord Morley Literature heightens our awareness of human life Literature enables us to seem at nature with new eyes Literature interprets with charm of language the experiences and spiritual intuitions of man Writers teach us to understand man and know attribute Great literature is straightforward language charged with going to the utmost possible degree Emerson Literature could also be a record of man's dreams and ideals his hopes and aspirations his failures and disappointments his motives and passions his experiences and observations It appeals to the widest human interests and thus the only human emotions It knows no nationality nor any bounds save those of humanity In a nutshell thought feeling imagination and beauty of style and form are all equally essential to literature Here we quote Lowes Dickinson To feel and in order to express or at least to understand the expression of all that is lovely in Nature of all that is poignant and sensitive in man is to us in itself a sufficient end A rose in a moonlight garden the shadow of trees on the turf almond blossom scent of pine the wine cup and guitar these are the pathos of life and death to all or any this stuff we are trained to reply and therefore the response is what we call literature
