Art Music Ideas:

Art, Music, and Mysticism at the Fin de Siècle Corrinne Chong, Michelle Foot, 2024-07-29 This edited volume explores the dialogue between art and music with that of mystical currents at the turn of the twentieth century The volume draws on the most current research from both art historians and musicologists to present an interdisciplinary approach to the study of mysticism's historical importance The chapters in this edited volume gauge the scope of different interpretations of mysticism and illuminate how an exchange between the sister arts unveil an underlying stream of metaphysical supernatural and spiritual ideas over the course of the century Case studies include Charles Tournemire Joseph P. Ladan Erik Satie Hilma af Klint Jean Sibelius František Kupka and Wassily Kandinsky The contributors' unique theoretical perspectives and disciplinary methodologies offer expert insight on both the rewards and inevitable aesthetic complications that arise when one artform meets another The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history musicology visual culture and mysticism

The Invention of 'Folk Music' and 'Art Music' Matthew Gelbart, 2007-10-11 We tend to take for granted the labels we put to different forms of music This study considers the origins and implications of the way in which we categorize music Whereas earlier ways of classifying music were based on its different functions for the past two hundred years we have been obsessed with creativity and musical origins and classify music along these lines Matthew Gelbart argues that folk music and art music became meaningful concepts only in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries and only in relation to each other He examines how cultural nationalism served as the earliest impetus in classifying music by origins and how the notions of folk music and art music followed in conjunction with changing conceptions of nature and changing ideas about human creativity Through tracing the history of these musical categories the book confronts our assumptions about different kinds of music

Transforming Ideas for Teaching and Learning the Arts Charles L. Gary, 1997 This booklet is designed to give teachers some of the latest ideas about how arts principles and concepts can best be understood taught and used in the classroom to improve instruction in the arts and other disciplines Considering the stance of the U.S. Department of Education the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP the Goals 2000 Arts Education Partnership and the Coalition for Education in the Arts and the increasing support from research about the value of the arts the 1990s seems a time of real opportunity While there are still issues being discussed the state of the art in arts education may soon properly reflect the importance of this aspect of education to civilization The booklet's major ideas organized into one-page sections include the following 1 make certain all students have daily arts experiences 2 the arts offer the opportunity to practice decision making 3 students need to know the elements of the various arts and need to develop the vocabularies with which to discuss them 4 experiences in the arts provide opportunities for students to learn as much about themselves as they do about the subject matter 5 provide students with opportunities to develop a craft while exploring originality and analytical thinking 6 lead students to new ways of solving problems through unique challenges in the arts both mental and physical 7

Aesthetics, Dreams and Association of Ideas James Sully, George Croom Robertson, 1888 Music, Meaning and Transformation Steve Dillon, 2009-03-26 Music Meaning and Transformation meaningful music making for life examines the musical experiences that students find meaningful and the ways in which teachers parents and community music leaders might provide access to meaningful music education This is particularly relevant today because school music often fails to provide sustainable access to music making for life health and wellbeing beyond school This book seeks to reframe the focus of music education within a pragmatist philosophy and provide a framework that is culturally and chronologically inclusive The approach involves an intensely personal music teachers journey that privilege the voices of students and teachers of a music making community and sets these against rigorous long termed qualitative methodologies Music education is shifting focus away from music as an object and process towards the meaning experienced by the student personally socially and culturally This is an important and fundamental issue for the development of philosophy for pre service and practicing music teachers and community music project leaders The focus now needs to be upon the 98% who could have music as a significant expressive force in their lives as a means of facilitating social inclusion for mental health and well being and to have access to the sense of belonging that community music making can bring as a lifelong activity The book aims to provide a comprehensive guide to music education that leads to a music education for all for life This book emphasises the maker in context examining the student as maker the teacher as builder and designer and the school as village The relationship between music making education and health and well being has been and is the subject of many research projects and national and international reviews Seldom though in these studies has there been any attempt to identify the qualities of successful and sustainable interactions with music making the qualities of good teaching and good teaching practice The focus of this book is to provide simple but effective tools for evaluating and testing the meaning evident in a music making context identify the modes of engagement and establish the unique expressive music making needs of twenty first century communities For further information see <http://savetodisc.net> Etude Music Magazine Theodore Presser,1895 Includes music

Primary Music: Later Years Jo Glover,Ms Susan Young,Susan Young,2002-09-11 The second of two practical classroom books on the teaching of music in primary schools Primary Music Later Years 7 11 combines for the first time an approach based on the centrality of the class teacher s responsibility for music and working with the demands for subject knowledge and for appropriate progression at Key Stage 1
