Fry, 2015-02 The chapters in this book posit that humans clearly have the capacity to make war but since war is absent in some cultures it cannot be viewed as a human universal And counter to frequent presumption the actual archaeological record reveals the recent emergence of war It does not typify the ancestral type of human society the nomadic forager band and contrary to widespread assumptions there is little support for the idea that war is ancient or an evolved adaptation Views of human nature as inherently warlike stem not from the facts but from cultural views embedded in Western thinking Amazon com Speech and Computer Alexey Karpov, Rodmonga Potapova, Iosif Mporas, 2017-09-01 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 19th International Conference on Speech and Computer SPECOM 2017 held in Hatfield UK in September 2017 The 80 papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 150 submissions The papers present current research in the area of computer speech processing recognition synthesis understanding etc and related domains including signal processing language and text processing computational paralinguistics multi modal speech processing human computer interaction Oral Tradition and the Internet John Miles Foley, 2012-08-16 The major purpose of this book is to illustrate and explain the fundamental similarities and correspondences between humankind s oldest and newest thought technologies oral tradition and the Internet Despite superficial differences both technologies are radically alike in depending not on static products but rather on continuous processes not on What but on How do I get there In contrast to the fixed spatial organization of the page and book the technologies of oral tradition and the Internet mime the way we think by processing along pathways within a network In both media it s pathways not things that matter To illustrate these ideas this volume is designed as a morphing book a collection of linked nodes that can be read in innumerable different ways Doing nothing less fundamental than challenging the default medium of the linear book and page and all that they entail Oral Tradition and the Internet shows readers that there are large complex wholly viable alternative worlds of media technology out there if only they are willing to explore to think outside the usual culturally constructed categories This brick and mortar book exists as an extension of The Pathways Project <http://pathwaysproject.org> an open access online suite of chapter nodes linked websites and multimedia all dedicated to exploring and demonstrating the dynamic relationship between oral tradition

Inventing the modern region Talitha Ilacqua, 2024-03-12 This book explores the process by which the French Basque country acquired a folkloric regional identity in the long nineteenth century It argues that despite its origins in pre modern customs this stereotypical identity was invented as part of France s process of nation building The abolition of privileges in 1789 prompted a new interest in local culture as the defining feature of provincial France shaping the transition from the pre modern province to the modern region The relationship between the region and the nation however was difficult Regional culture favoured the integration of the French Basque provinces into the French nation state but also challenged the authority of the central state As a result Basque region building reveals the strengths and weaknesses of the unitary model of French nationhood in the nineteenth century as well as today Basque Nationalism and Political Violence Cameron Watson, 2007 This text examines the relationship between ideas and action through a historical account of how images of violence and warfare pervaded the discourse of Basque nationalism Watson argues that a culture of political violence emerged within the Basque nationalist movement that eventually resulted in the 1959 creation of ETA Alejandro Aldekoa Sabin Bikandi, 2009 An investigation into the life and music of Basque pipe and tabor dance music master Alejandro Aldekoa Includes DVD of dance performances Provided by publisher Oral-Scribal Dimensions of Scripture, Piety, and Practice Werner H. Kelber, Paula A. Sanders, 2016-09-30 In April 2008 a conference was convened at Rice University that brought together experts in the three monotheistic religions of Judaism Christianity and Islam The papers discussed at the conference are presented here revised and updated The thirteen contributions comprise the keynote address by John Miles Foley three essays on Judaism and the Hebrew Bible three on the New Testament three on the Qur an and two summarizing pieces by the Africanist Ruth Finnegan and the Islamicist William Graham respectively The central thesis of the book states that sacred Scripture was experienced by the three faiths less as a text contained between two covers and a literary genre and far more as an oral phenomenon In developing the performative recitative aspects of the three religions the authors directly or by implication challenge their distinctly textual identities Instead of viewing the three faiths as quintessential religions of the book these writers argue that the religions have been and continue to be appropriated not only as written but also very much as oral authorities with the two media interpenetrating and mutually influencing each other in myriad ways
