The Origins of Monsters David Wengrow, 2020-04-28 It has often been claimed that monsters supernatural creatures with bodies composed from multiple species play a significant part in the thought and imagery of all people from all times The Origins of Monsters advances an alternative view Composite figurations are intriguingly rare and isolated in the art of the prehistoric era Instead it was with the rise of cities elites and cosmopolitan trade networks that monsters became widespread features of visual production in the ancient world Showing how these fantastic images originated and how they were transmitted David Wengrow identifies patterns in the records of human image making and embarks on a search for connections between mind and culture Wengrow asks Can cognitive science explain the potency of such images Does evolutionary psychology hold a key to understanding the transmission of symbols How is our making and perception of images influenced by institutions and technologies Wengrow considers the work of art in the first age of mechanical reproduction which he locates in the Middle East where urban life began Comparing the development and spread of fantastic imagery across a range of prehistoric and ancient societies including Mesopotamia Egypt Greece and China he explores how the visual imagination has been shaped by a complex mixture of historical and universal factors Examining the reasons behind the dissemination of monstrous imagery in ancient states and empires The Origins of Monsters sheds light on the relationship between culture and cognition

Ten Thousand Things Lothar Ledderose, 2023-08-15 Combines aesthetic and cultural insights with a variety of illustrations to make a statement about Chinese art and society

The Cambridge History of Ancient China Michael Loewe, Edward L. Shaughnessy, 1999-03-13 The Cambridge History of Ancient China provides a survey of the cultural history of pre-imperial China Fourteen leading specialists on early Chinese history and archaeology cover more than one thousand years There are two chapters for each time period Shang Western Zhou Spring and Autumn and Warring States one on institutional history based on both traditional and palaeographic literature and one on material culture based on archaeological evidence There are also chapters on the Neolithic background language intellectual history relations with Central Asia and the debts of both the Qin and Han empires to these earlier time periods

Although written by specialists this Cambridge history aims to explain and describe pre imperial China to an audience that will include scholars and students as well as general readers without specialized knowledge of Chinese history It can be consulted as a work of reference or read continuously alone or as part of The Cambridge History of China series The Measure of Civilization Ian Morris,2014-02-23 A groundbreaking look at Western and Eastern social development from the end of the ice age to today In the past thirty years there have been fierce debates over how civilizations develop and why the West became so powerful The Measure of Civilization presents a brand new way of investigating these questions and provides new tools for assessing the long term growth of societies Using a groundbreaking numerical index of social development that compares societies in different times and places award winning author Ian Morris sets forth a sweeping examination of Eastern and Western development across 15 000 years since the end of the last ice age He offers surprising conclusions about when and why the West came to dominate the world and fresh perspectives for thinking about the twenty first century Adapting the United Nations approach for measuring human development Morris s index breaks social development into four traits energy capture per capita organization information technology and war making capacity and he uses archaeological historical and current government data to quantify patterns Morris reveals that for 90 percent of the time since the last ice age the world s most advanced region has been at the western end of Eurasia but contrary to what many historians once believed there were roughly 1 200 years from about 550 to 1750 CE when an East Asian region was more advanced Only in the late eighteenth century CE when northwest Europeans tapped into the energy trapped in fossil fuels did the West leap ahead Resolving some of the biggest debates in global history The Measure of Civilization puts forth innovative tools for determining past present and future economic and social trends Chinese History Endymion Porter Wilkinson,2000 Endymion Wilkinson s bestselling manual of Chinese history has long been an indispensable guide to all those interested in the civilization and history of China In this latest edition now in a bigger format its scope has been dramatically enlarged by the addition of one million words of new text Twelve years in the making the new manual introduces students to different types of transmitted excavated and artifactual sources from prehistory to the twentieth century It also examines the context in which the sources were produced preserved and received the problems of research and interpretation associated with them and the best most up to date secondary works Because the writing of history has always played a central role in Chinese politics and culture special attention is devoted to the strengths and weaknesses of Chinese historiography The Lloyd Cotsen Study Collection of Chinese Bronze Mirrors Suzanne E. Cahill,2012-05-30 The Lloyd Cotsen Study Collection of Chinese Bronze Mirrors is a 2009 co publication of the Cotsen Occasional Press and the UCLA Cotsen Institute of Archaeology Press Volume I The Lloyd Cotsen Study Collection of Chinese Bronze Mirrors Catalogue includes an engaging foreword by Lloyd Cotsen an overview of major Chinese dynasties and periods and a brief history of Chinese bronze mirrors by Suzanne E Cahill This volume presents a detailed catalogue of the extensive Cotsen Collection through high quality images and illustrations of the mirrors in their approximate chronological sequence Volume II a set of eleven scholarly essays goes further to investigate these mirrors as a study collection Guided by the conviction that this particular constellation of mirrors may lead to substantive insights that cannot easily be obtained otherwise the leading scholars who contributed to this volume used the materials in Volume I as a point of departure for explorations of topics of their own choice The publication of this two volume set preceded an exhibition of the mirrors at the Huntington Library Art Museum and Botanical Gardens and the return of the collection to China in recognition of that countrys rightful cultural patrimony

The Allure of the Mirror Yanlong Guo, 2025-09-23 In Han China 202 BCE 220 CE few luxury objects were as widely coveted as bronze mirrors Typically circular and ranging from seven to thirty centimeters in diameter these mirrors were crafted from high tin bronze with highly reflective surfaces on the front and intricate designs and auspicious inscriptions on the reverse The Allure of the Mirror explores how and why these objects historically known as haowu fine things became so beloved throughout early imperial China Tracing their production and consumption from manufacture in imperial princely and private workshops to their roles in life and death Yanlong Guo uncovers the varied ways these seemingly trivial objects took on social and cultural significance Across social classes mirrors had a wide range of uses as status symbols personal tools romantic tokens family heirlooms auspicious amulets treasured gifts and funeral offerings Guo demonstrates how these fine things once exclusive to elites gradually became accessible to a wider segment of society Mirrors he argues connected people across the empire fostering a shared cultural community of aesthetic tastes and social values from royal courts to rural households Interdisciplinary and comprehensive The Allure of the Mirror offers fresh insights into the relationship among art society and ideology in the Han Empire revealing how decorative objects could bridge social divides and shape cultural identity

Science and Civilisation in China Joseph Needham, Rose Kerr, Nigel Wood, 2004 Memory and Agency in Ancient China Francis Allard, Yan Sun, Kathryn M. Linduff, 2018-12-20 Applies the life history of objects approach to China s prehistoric early dynastic and more recent material culture

Social Complexity in Prehistoric Eurasia Bryan K. Hanks, Kathryn M. Linduff, 2009-08-31 Social Complexity in Prehistoric Eurasia challenges current interpretations of the emergence development and decline of social complexity in the steppe region of China and the former Soviet Union Through a thematic investigation of archaeological patterns ranging from monument construction and use and production and consumption of metals to the nature of mobility among societies the essays in this volume provide the most up to date thinking on social and cultural change in prehistoric Eurasia Collectively they challenge broader theoretical trends in Anglo American archaeology which have traditionally favored comparative studies of sedentary agricultural societies over mobile pastoralist or agro pastoralist communities By highlighting the potential and limitations of comparative studies of social complexity this volume sets the agenda for future studies of this region of the world It emphasizes how the unique nature of early steppe societies can contribute to more comprehensive interpretations of social trajectories in world prehistory

Arts of Asia, 1997 Original - Copy - Fake? Ernst Pernicka, Silke von Berswordt-Wallrabe, 2008 English summary It is not always easy to decide whether an object of art or an antiquity is authentic or not On the one hand there is a gradual transition from improving restoration to outright deceit On the other hand the methods applied in the production of fakes become ever more sophisticated so that fakes are sometimes incorporated even in respected and well known collections This situation is even more unfortunate as these collections represent points of reference for further stylistic investigations and comparisons Bochum based foundation Situation Kunst owns a substantial collection of West African art which has been the subject of controversial opinions concerning its authenticity The questions posed in the title of this book gave rise to an exchange of positions and experiences between art historians ethnologists scientists and restorers at a meeting at Ruhr University Bochum in February 2007 The results of this memorable symposium are collected in this volume Kaikodo Journal Kaikodo (Gallery : New York, N.Y.), 2000 Connectivity, Imperialism, and the Han Iron Industry Wengcheong Lam, 2022-08-05 This book examines the rise of the iron industry during the Warring States and Western Han periods ca 400 BCE 9 CE in ancient China which is characterized not only by various technological innovations but also as a remarkable phenomenon leading to the widespread distribution of iron implements and the emergence of massive ironworks that were rarely seen in later periods With Connectivity Imperialism and the Han Iron Industry Lam Wengcheong combines archaeological and historical analyses to piece together fragmentary evidence and to refocus our gaze onto the economic and political mechanism that gave birth to an iron industry unique in the ancient world Guiding readers through the macroscopic social settings of the iron industry and distribution patterns of iron implements to the microscopic organization of workplace and workers foodways Lam explores how iron production and transportation processes intersected with the transformation of the Han capital region in the Guanzhong basin Using various lines of evidence of iron production in Guanzhong and its connection with other production centers this book shows how the production and transportation of iron at various scales played a significant role in generating the connectivity between various parts of the Western Han empire and casts new light on the workings of the economic system in imperial China Connectivity Imperialism and the Han Iron Industry will appeal to anyone interested in Chinese archaeology the history of the Han empire and the history of science and engineering in ancient China as well as to scholars working on the comparative study of ancient imperialism market exchange and economic history

China Into Film Jerome Silbergeld, 1999 Since 1984 Chinese cinema has been the most dramatic entry onto the international film scene China into Film is the first book to look at contemporary Chinese cinema as a visual art and to illustrate the ways in which it has been shaped by centuries of Chinese tradition Jerome Silbergeld looks at the significance of gender roles the strategies of film makers in coping with state censorship the translation of novels into films the continuing attachment of film makers to melodrama and cinematic critiques of Maoism and post Maoist culture Abundantly illustrated with Chinese paintings as well as scenes from such internationally acclaimed films as Yellow Earth Red Sorghum

Raise the Red Lantern and Farewell My Concubine China into Film reveals a cinematic form at once excitingly new and deeply imbedded in traditional Chinese visual culture Pattern and Person Martin J. Powers, 2020-03-17 In Classical China crafted artifacts offered a material substrate for abstract thought as graphic paradigms for social relationships Focusing on the fifth to second centuries B C Martin Powers explores how these paradigms continued to inform social thought long after the material substrate had been abandoned In this detailed study the author makes the claim that artifacts are never neutral as a distinctive possession each object through the abstracting function of style offers a material template for scales of value Likewise through style pictorial forms can make claims about material referents the things depicted By manipulating these scales and their referents artifacts can shape the way status social role or identity is understood and enforced The result is a kind of spatial epistemology within which the identities of persons are constructed Powers thereby posits a relationship between art and society that operates at a level deeper than iconography attributes or social institutions Historically Pattern and Person traces the evolution of personhood in China from a condition of hereditary status to one of achieved social role and greater personal choice This latter development essential for bureaucratic organization and individual achievement challenges the conventional opposition between Western individuals and collective Asians The Chinese Collection Norton Museum of Art, John R. Finlay, 2003 Works illustrating 25 centuries of Chinese art Archaeology of East Asia Gina L. Barnes, 2015-10-31 Archaeology of East Asia constitutes an introduction to social and political development from the Palaeolithic to 8th century early historic times It takes a regional view across China Korea Japan and their peripheries that is unbounded by modern state lines This viewpoint emphasizes how the region drew on indigenous developments and exterior stimuli to produce agricultural technologies craft production political systems religious outlooks and philosophies that characterize the civilization of historic and even modern East Asia This book is a complete rewrite and update of The Rise of Civilization in East Asia first published in 1993 It incorporates the many theoretical technical and factual advances of the last two decades including DNA gender and isotope studies AMS radiocarbon dating and extensive excavation results Readers of that first edition will find the same structure and topic progression While many line drawings have been retained new color illustrations abound Boxes and Appendices clarify and add to the understanding of unfamiliar technologies For those seeking more detail the Appendices also provide case studies that take intimate looks at particular data and current research The book is suitable for general readers East Asian historians and students archaeology students and professionals Praise for The Rise of Civilization in East Asia the best English introduction to the archaeology of East Asia brilliantly integrates the three areas into a broad regional context Prof Mark Hudson
