second half of the nineteenth century linked to the impressionists although he was not really one of them He had great influence on French painting partly because of the choice he made for his subjects from everyday life the use of pure colours and his fast and free technique He made in his own work the transition between Courbet s Realism and the work of the impressionists Born a high bourgeois he chose to become a painter after failing the entry to the Marine School He studied with Thomas Couture an Academic painter but it was thanks to the numerous travels he made around Europe from 1852 that he started to find out what would become his own style His first paintings were mostly portraits and genre scenes inspired by his love for Spanish masters like Vel zquez and Goya In 1863 he presented his masterpiece Luncheon on the Grass at the Salon des Refus s His work started a fight between the defenders of Academic art and the young refus s artists Manet became the leader of this new generation of artists From 1864 the official Salon accepted his paintings still provoking loud protests over works such as Olympia in 1865 In 1866 the writer Zol wrote an article defending Manet s work At that time Manet was friends with all the future great impressionist masters Edgar Degas Claude Monet Auguste Renoir Alfred Sisley Camille Pissarro and Paul C zanne and he influenced their work even though he cannot strictly be counted as one of them In 1874 indeed he refused to present his paintings in the First Impressionist Exhibition His last appearance in the official Salon was in 1882 with A Bar at the Folies Berg re one of his most famous works Suffering from gangrene during the year 1883 he painted flower still lifes until he became too weak to work He died leaving behind a great number of drawings and paintings
