German Architecture for a Mass Audience

Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2002-09-06 This book vividly illustrates the ways in which buildings designed by many of Germany s most celebrated twentieth century architects were embedded in widely held beliefs about the power of architecture to influence society German Architecture for a Mass

Audience also demonstrates the way in which these modernist ideas have been challenged and transformed most recently in the rebuilding of central Berlin

A Socialist Realist History? Kristina Jöekalda, Krista Kodres, Michaela Marek, 2019-06-17 How did the Eastern European and Soviet states write their respective histories of art and architecture during 1940s 1960s The articles address both the Stalinist period and the Khrushchev Thaw when the Marxist Leninist discourse on art history was invented and refined Although this discourse was inevitably Sovietized in a process dictated from Moscow a variety of distinct interpretations emerged from across the Soviet bloc in the light of local traditions cultural politics and decisions of individual authors Even if the new official discourse often left space open for national concerns it also gave rise to a countermovement in response to the aggressive ideologization of art and the preeminence assigned to Socialist Realist aesthetics

Private Censorship J. P. Messina, 2023-10-13 Private Censorship is about free speech and how corporations and social groups can interfere with it J P Messina asks and variously answers questions like what should we think when employees get fired for things they say When is it appropriate for social media firms to deplatform users and what does it mean for our democracy that those in charge of such decisions are often wealthy Silicon Valley executives Do search engines act as massive gatekeepers to information in troubling ways and how might they be constrained if so Messina argues that while there is much to worry about when it comes to these exercises of private power it would be a mistake to simply do away with them as some have suggested

Chroma: Sculpture in Color from Antiquity to Today Seán Hemingway, Vinzenz Brinkmann, Mark B. Abbe, 2025-06-30 Many ancient and early modern works that are viewed in monochrome today were once painted in vibrant colors Lost to time until recently the pigments and other surface treatments that originally adorned these objects offer a deeper appreciation of the cultures from which they originate This handsome volume features new research by more than thirty international experts in polychromy including art historians conservators scientists and photographers Identified through advanced technologies scientific analyses and in depth research their discoveries of surviving traces of color span the globe and vary in material including an

Archaic Greek marble sphinx an ancient Phoenician cloisonné furniture plaque Mexico Aztec lime stone sculptures and medieval and Renaissance European marbles and bronzes This wide ranging publication explores how these works further our understanding of ancient ideas around skin color race and gender summarizes recent advances in the field and considers polychromy's controversial rediscovery and modern reception highlighting the role of reconstructions such as 3D printed replicas and virtual animations in contemporary museum practice as well as the resurgence of polychromy techniques in postmodern and contemporary European architecture Studies in Tectonic Culture Kenneth Frampton, 2001-08-24

Composed of ten essays and an epilogue that trace the history of contemporary form as an evolving poetic of structure and construction the book's analytical framework rests on Frampton's close readings of key French and German and English sources from the eighteenth century to the present Kenneth Frampton's long awaited follow up to his classic A Critical History of Modern Architecture is certain to influence any future debate on the evolution of modern architecture Studies in Tectonic Culture is nothing less than a rethinking of the entire modern architectural tradition The notion of tectonics as employed by Frampton the focus on architecture as a constructional craft constitutes a direct challenge to current mainstream thinking on the artistic limits of postmodernism and suggests a convincing alternative Indeed Frampton argues modern architecture is invariably as much about structure and construction as it is about space and abstract form Composed of ten essays and an epilogue that trace the history of contemporary form as an evolving poetic of structure and construction the book's analytical framework rests on Frampton's close readings of key French and German and English sources from the eighteenth century to the present He clarifies the various turns that structural engineering and tectonic imagination have taken in the work of such architects as Perret Wright Kahn Scarpa and Mies and shows how both constructional form and material character were integral to an evolving architectural expression of their work Frampton also demonstrates that the way in which these elements are articulated from one work to the next provides a basis upon which to evaluate the works as a whole This is especially evident in his consideration of the work of Perret Mies and Kahn and the continuities in their thought and attitudes that linked them to the past Frampton considers the conscious cultivation of the tectonic tradition in architecture as an essential element in the future development of architectural form casting a critical new light on the entire issue of modernity and on the place of much work that has passed as avant garde A copublication of the Graham Foundation for Advanced Studies and The MIT Press A World Art History and Its Objects David Carrier, 2008-11-28

Is writing a world art history possible Does the history of art as such even exist outside the Western tradition Is it possible to consider the history of art in a way that is not fundamentally Eurocentric In this highly readable and provocative book David Carrier a philosopher and art historian does not attempt to write a world art history himself Rather he asks the question of how an art history of all cultures could be written or whether it is even possible to do so He also engages the political and moral issues raised by the idea of a multicultural art history Focusing on a consideration of intersecting artistic traditions Carrier

negotiates the way meaning and understanding shift or are altered when a visual object from one culture for example is inserted into the visual tradition of another culture A World Art History and Its Objects proposes the use of temporal narrative as a way to begin to understand a multicultural art history World Antiquarianism Alain Schnapp,2014-02-01

The term antiquarianism refers to engagement with the material heritage of the past an engagement that preceded the modern academic discipline of archaeology Antiquarian activities result in the elaboration of particular social behaviors and the production of tools for exploring the collective memory This book is the first to compare antiquarianism in a global context examining its roots in the ancient Near East its flourishing in early modern Europe and East Asia and its manifestations in nonliterate societies of Melanesia and Polynesia By establishing wide reaching geographical and historical perspectives the essays reveal the universality of antiquarianism as an embodiment of the human mind and open new avenues for understanding the representation of the past from ancient societies to the present Give Me Life Holly Barnet-Sanchez,Tim Drescher,2016-12-15

Displays of Jewish ritual objects in public non Jewish settings by Jews are a comparatively recent phenomenon So too is the establishment of Jewish museums This volume explores the origins of the Jewish Museum of New York and its evolution from collecting and displaying Jewish ritual objects to Jewish art to exhibiting avant garde art devoid of Jewish content created by non Jews Established within a rabbinic seminary the museum s formation and development reflect changes in Jewish society over the twentieth century as it grappled with choices between religion and secularism particularism and universalism and ethnic pride and assimilation Beyond Adornment Yvonne J.
