Art The 60s:

New Art in the 60s and 70s Anne Rorimer, 2004 By the end of the 1960s a revolution had taken place in the perception and practice of art in Europe and North America This book the first detailed account of developments centered around the conceptual art movement highlights the main issues underlying visually disparate works dating from the second half of the 1960s to the end of the 1970s These works questioned the accepted categories of painting and sculpture by embracing a wealth of alternative media and procedures Traditional two and three dimensional representations were supplanted by a variety of linguistic and photographic means as well as installations that brought into play the importance of presentation and site Through close examination of individual works and artists Anne Rorimer demonstrates the pervading desire to redefine the characteristics of what was once accepted as truly visual in order to dispel earlier assumptions and offer other criteria for seeing Artists whose work is discussed in depth include Robert Rauschenberg Gerhard Richter Joseph Kosuth Lawrence Weiner Eleanor Antin John Baldessari Gilbert and George Sol LeWitt Adrian Piper Bruce Nauman Vito Acconci Marcel Broodthaers Robert Smithson Daniel Buren and Michael Asher Forerunners of the period such as Jasper Johns Robert Rauschenberg Andy Warhol Frank Stella Piero Manzoni Joseph Beuys Allan Kaprow and Fluxus are also included 303 illustrations

Performance RoseLee Goldberg, 1998 This is a complete illustrated survey of Performance art from the 1960s to the present The book presents Performance art from its first emergence in the work of Yves Klein Piero Manzoni and Happenings to the work of Hermann Nitsch Joseph Beuys and the extraordinary opera spectacles of Robert Wilson and from the breakthrough performances by Laurie Anderson that brought this art form to a wider public to the theatricality of works by Pina Bausch

Art and Design in 1960s New York Amanda Gluibizzi, 2021-02-26 Art and Design in 1960s New York explores the mutual influence between fine art and graphic design in New York City during the long decade of the 1960s Beginning with advertising s creative revolution and its relationship to pop artists the book traces design and art s developing interest in responses to civic problems such as the proliferation of billboards navigation through the city s streets and subways and issues of deteriorating infrastructure The strategies exploited by these artists and designers resulted in similar approaches to visual imagery and shared techniques for thinking about and responding to the city in which they lived

Crow, 1996-04-01 One of Thomas Crow s most influential titles The Rise of the Sixties provides an overview of the major themes and figures in the 1960s art world Presenting an international array of artists against the background of world culture Crow portrays the ways in which the American art scene including such key figures as Leo Castelli Eva Hesse Jasper Johns Robert Morris Robert Smithson Cy Twombly and Andy Warhol fit into the corresponding European and international movements of the time among them Situationalism Conceptualism Feminism Environmentalism and Op Art Generously illustrated the book encompasses all the major players in the art world of the 1960s and examines how they influenced and inspired one another while struggling to have an impact on a world preoccupied with social crisis BOOK JACKET *My Generation. The Rise of the Sixties

Thomas E. Crow, 1996 The 1960s have become fixed in our collective memory as an era of political upheaval and cultural experiment Visual artists working in a volatile milieu sought a variety of responses to the turmoil of the public sphere and struggled to have an impact on a world preoccupied with social crisis In this compelling account of art from 1955 to 1969 Thomas Crow author of the critically acclaimed Emulation Making Artists for Revolutionary France looks at the broad range of artists working in Europe and America in the stormy years of the Civil Rights movement the Vietnam War and the counterculture exploring the relationship of politics to art and showing how the rhetoric of one often informed or subverted the other Moving from New York to Paris from Hollywood to Dusseldorf to London Crow traces the emergence of a new aesthetic climate that challenged established notions of content style medium and audience In Happenings in the Situationist International in the Fluxus group artists worked together in novel ways inventing new forms of collaboration and erasing distinctions between performance and visual art As the 1960s progressed artists responded in many ways to the decade's pressures internalizing the divisive issues raised by the politics of protest they rethought the role of the artist in society reexamined the notion of an art of personal identity discovered celebrity devised visual languages of provocation and dissent and attacked the institutions of cultural power figuratively and sometimes literally Crow sees the art of the 1960s as a reconfiguration of the concept of art itself still cited today by conservative critics as the wellspring of all contemporary scandals and by those of the left as rare instance of successful aesthetic radicalism He expertly follows the myriad expressions of this new aesthetic weaving together the European and American experiences and pausing to consider in detail many individual works of art with his always perceptive critical eye Both synthesis and critical study this book reopens the 1960s to a fresh analysis
