Hendricks, 2014-04-01 This expanded new edition continues to demonstrate and provide theoretical analytical and practical knowledge for first responders Face to face interaction with the client victim is part of the comprehensive approach advocated by the book which requires interveners to assess the nature of a crisis and the condition of the victim in order to determine the appropriate course of action The comprehensive balance of theory and practice presented in this book should enable the intervener in coupling his/her general knowledge of human psychology and emotional crisis with the specific and novel characteristics of various crisis situations The text represents the work of national scholars who have expertise in criminal justice and social service issues Their chapters focus on a Historical and Theoretical Overview Ethics in Crisis Intervention Practice Intimate Partner Violence Police Response to Domestic Violence Children in Crisis Elder Mistreatment Suicide Crisis of Rape and Survivor Intervention Death Notification and the Theory and Practice of Delivering Bad News Terrorism and Crisis Intervention and Mass Casualty Crisis Response and Communication Helpful appendices in each chapter provide additional internet resources as well as a complete Model Law Enforcement Code of Ethics and Social Work Code of Ethics This new edition retains important information while providing current case studies such as the Miracle on the Hudson River crash the mass shootings at Virginia Tech the Boston Marathon bombing and the Yarnell Hill fire in Arizona This exceptional book is designed for firefighters police officers community service officers correctional workers emergency medical workers probation parole officers protective service workers psychological counselors social workers and victim assistance workers among others The Public and Private Management of Grief Caroline Pearce, 2019-05-09 Through a critical analysis of theory policy and practice The Public and Private Management of Grief looks at how recovery is the prevailing discourse that measures and frames how people grieve and considers what happens when people fail to recover Pearce draws on in depth interviews with bereaved people and a range of bereavement professionals to contemplate how failures to recover are socially perceived and acted upon Grounded in Foucauldian theory this book problematises the notion of recovery and instead argues for the acknowledgment of the experience of non recovery highlighting how recovery is a socially and historically constructed notion linked to the individualised vision of health and happiness promoted by neo liberal governmentality This book will be of interest to students and scholars across sociology anthropology social work and psychology with a focus on death dying and bereavement grief studies health and social care as well as counsellors clinical psychologists and social workers Innovations in Mental Health Services to Disaster Victims Mary H. Lystad, 1985

Living with Dying Joan Berzoff, Phyllis R. Silverman, 2004 The first resource on end of life care for healthcare practitioners who work with the terminally ill and their families Living with Dying begins with the narratives of five healthcare professionals who when faced with overwhelming personal losses altered their clinical practices and philosophies The book provides ways to ensure a respectful death for individuals families groups and communities and is organized around theoretical issues in loss grief and bereavement and around clinical practice with individuals families and groups Living with Dying addresses practice with people who have specific illnesses such as AIDS bone marrow disease and cancer and pays special attention to patients who have been stigmatized by culture ability sexual orientation age race or homelessness The book includes content on trauma and developmental issues for children adults and the aging who are dying and it addresses legal ethical spiritual cultural and social class issues as core factors in the assessment of and work with the dying It explores interdisciplinary teamwork supervision and the organizational and financing contexts in which dying occurs Current research in end of life care ways to provide leadership in the field and a call for compassion insight and respect for the dying makes this an indispensable resource for social workers healthcare educators administrators consultants advocates and practitioners who work with the dying and their families National Melancholy Mitchell Robert Breitwieser, 2007 Breitwieser's close readings reveal that the thwarting of mourning partly linked to nationalist feeling was a central issue for many American authors but that those who successfully reclaimed mourning came to strange and fresh understandings of the actual world Teaching Death and Dying Christopher M Moreman, 2008-10-03 The academic study of death rose to prominence during the 1960s Courses on some aspect of death and dying can now be found at most institutions of higher learning These courses tend to stress the psycho social aspects of grief and bereavement however ignoring the religious elements inherent to the subject This collection is the first to address the teaching of courses on death and dying from a religious studies perspective School-Based Crisis Intervention Melissa Allen Heath, Dawn

Fisher,Gregory Vecchi,2012-08-06 Conflict and crisis communication is the management of a critical incident which has the potential for resolution through successful negotiations This can include negotiating with individuals in crisis such as those threatening self harm or taking individuals hostage as part of emotional expression and also critical incidents such as kidnapping and terrorist activities By focusing on the empirical and strong theoretical underpinnings of critical incident management and including clear demonstrations of the practical application of conflict and crisis communication by experts in the field this book proves to be a practical comprehensive and up to date resource Discussion of relevant past incidents such as the 1993 WACO siege in the United States is used to enhance learning whilst an examination of the application of critical incident management to individuals with mental disorder offers groundbreaking insight from clinicians working in this area Conflict and Crisis Communication is an excellent source of reference for national and international law enforcement agencies professionals working in forensic settings and also postgraduate students with an interest in forensic psychology and forensic mental health Traumatic Loss and Recovery in Jungian Studies and Cinema Mark

Holmwood,2022-10-31 This book explores traumatic loss grief and recovery through the thoughtful combination of Abraham Torok s crypt theory Jungian thought and film theory to guide readers through the darkest places of the human psyche Focusing on both the destructive and reconstructive choices people can make the book explores prolonged grief disorder complicated mourning post traumatic stress disorder embitterment disenfranchised grief trauma related rumination as well as mental emotional and physical pain Presented with real life examples and fictional ones the book connects the psychoanalytic concepts of intrapsychic tomb and theoretra with Jungian concepts such as teleological model of the psyche dreams alchemical operations shadow archetypes enantiodromia symbols and compensation on the canvas of modern grief theory Traumatic Loss and Recovery in Jungian Studies and Cinema is important reading for psychoanalysts Jungian analysts and psychotherapists with an interest in popular culture as well as cinema students scholars and general readers interested in psychology counselling mental health and media studies Coping with Physical Illness Rudolf Moos,2012-12-06 This book provides new ideas about how patients and their families cope with serious health crises Biomedical knowledge has expanded abruptly in the past decade during which time diagnostic and treatment procedures have become unusually specific and effective. Similarly important advances have taken place in our understanding of the central role of psychosocial factors in health and illness. Recent trends have sparked the formulation of useful concepts of coping skills and social resources and have emphasized the value of an active assertive role for patients in the process of obtaining health care. The emergence of subspecialties such as behavioral medicine and health psychology has stimulated renewed interest in these areas. Moreover, the growth of holistic medicine and a biopsychosocial orientation highlights the contribution of a psychosocial perspective in an integrated framework for providing health care. To cover these diverse trends I offer a unified conceptual approach for understanding the process of coping with the crisis of physical illness and identifying the underlying adaptive tasks and domains of coping skills involved in this process. The first half of the book covers coping with selected health crises such as birth defects and perinatal death, childhood and adult cancer, and chronic physical disabilities.

Psychopathology and Social Prejudice Derek Hook, Gillian Eagle, 2002. This volume offers an innovative set of critical examinations of the field of psychopathology. It investigates the social formation of psychopathology across different cultural, discursive, and political contexts and draws upon theory from two traditional domains of psychology: social and abnormal psychology. The diverse topics covered include xenophobia, anorexia nervosa, witch hunting, post-traumatic stress, homosexuality, race categorization, and crosscultural issues. The various topics work in concert to unseat the notion of psychopathology as comprising decontextualized, individualized, essentialist categories of organic illness.

Stress and Mental Health William R. Avison, Ian H. Gotlib, 2013-11-11. Providing fresh insights into the complex relationship between stress and mental health, internationally recognized contributors identify emerging conceptual issues, highlight promising avenues for further study, and detail novel methodological techniques for addressing contemporary empirical problems. Specific coverage includes stressful life events, chronic strains, psychosocial resources, and mediators, vulnerability to stress, and mental health outcomes, thus providing researchers with a tool to take stock of the past and future of this field.

One day this will all be over Ross Parsons, 2012-05-13. Ross Parsons has been working with HIV-positive children in Mutare since 2005. As a child psychotherapist, he was interested in exploring how a therapeutic group meeting regularly might offer a way of elaborating and meeting their needs. His account of these experiences is presented as a rare blend of anthropological and psychotherapeutic approaches to the study of children, and he is candid about the close, even intimate relationships that resulted. I have crossed the classical ethnographic and psychoanalytic boundary of the cool observer. The therapist, while still awkwardly present, has also become an advocate in pursuit of the ethnographic. The period of his research coincided with one of deep crisis in Zimbabwe's economy: employment opportunities were few, public health and education services were in decay, and the prospects were grim for those on the margins of society. In the course of my fieldwork, I have attended too many funerals. In the absence of state support, the poor look variously to international NGOs and to the church. Parsons offers telling insights into the crossroads of donated pharmaceuticals and Christian faith and is constantly alert to the place of traditional spirituality and ties of kinship Finding a Sacred Oasis in Grief Steven Jeffers, Harold Ivan Smith, 2018-10-08 This work includes a foreword by John D Morgan Professor Emeritus of Philosophy Coordinator for Kings College Center for Education about Death and Bereavement Ontario Canada This practical resource guides the reader through all aspects of the grieving process and offers thought provoking and inspirational advice on support With exercises tips and contacts for further assistance Finding a Sacred Oasis in Grief provides a comprehensive understanding of this potentially difficult and complex topic It examines different types of grief and various approaches along with reference guides to particular religions and their traditions adopting a comprehensive multi faith approach Pastoral care providers and religious leaders will find the unique hands on approach invaluable as will members of support organisations and volunteer carers It is also ideal for seminary and ministry students counsellors therapists and other care professionals Gives caregivers the tools to help dying and grieving persons face the best and worst that life has to offer It is the worst because death means the end of the attachments that make life worthwhile It is the best because it shows us what is truly meaningful and important in life Mortality is a great gift if we have the knowledge and the courtesy to face it John D Morgan in the Foreword Handbook of Coping Moshe Zeidner, Norman S. Endler, 1995-12-12 how a man rallies to life's challenges and weathers its storms tells everything of who he is and all that he is likely to become St Augustine It has long been understood that how a person adjusts to life stresses is a major component of his or her ability to lead a fulfilling life Yet it wasn't until the 1960s that coping became a discrete topic of psychological inquiry Since then coping has risen to a position of prominence in the modern psychological discourse especially within the personality cognitive and behavioral spheres and within the past decade alone many important discoveries have been made about its mechanisms and functioning and its role in ongoing psychological and physical health and well being A book whose time has come at last the Handbook of Coping is the first professional reference devoted exclusively to the psychology of coping Reporting the observations and insights of nearly sixty leading authorities in stress and coping from a wide range of affiliations and schools of thought it brings readers the state of the art in coping theory research assessment and applications In orchestrating the book the editors have scrupulously avoided imposing any particular slant or point of view other than the need to foster greater eclecticism and cooperation between researchers and clinicians concerned with the phenomenon of coping The Handbook of Coping is divided into five overlapping parts the first of which serves to lay the conceptual foundations of all that follows It traces the history of coping from its origins in psychoanalytic theories of unconscious defense mechanisms and provides an exhaustive review of the latest conceptualizations models and constructs The following section provides an in depth exploration of current research methodology measurement and assessment tools Part Three explores key facets of coping in a broad range of specific domains including everyday hassles chronic disease cataclysmic events and many others The penultimate section focuses on individual differences Among important topics covered here are coping styles and dispositions the role of family social support and education and coping behaviors across the life span The final section Part Five is devoted to current applications Clinical parameters are defined and a number of specific interventions are described as are proven techniques for helping clients to improve their coping skills A comprehensive guide to contemporary coping theory research and applications the Handbook of Coping is an indispensable resource for practitioners researchers students and educators in psychology the health sciences and epidemiology Of related interest EGO DEFENSES Theory and Measurement Edited by Hope R Conte and Robert Plutchik This book explores the nature and manifestations of defense mechanisms and traces ego defense theory and research from Freud's initial conceptualization through recent work in object relations theory and other psychoanalytically oriented approaches It provides clinical guidelines for diagnosing assessing and dealing with defenses reviews empirical research techniques and indicates their value in development and in psychotherapy This volume should be of value to theoreticians clinicians and researchers interested in finding appropriate tools for measurement of defense mechanisms 1994 SOCIAL SUPPORT An Interactional View Edited by Barbara R Sarason Irwin G Sarason and Gregory R Pierce The study of social support and its relationship to personality health and adjustment is one of the fastest growing areas of research and application in psychology This book contains integrative surveys of clinical and field studies experimental investigations and life span explorations It approaches social support as an important facet of interpersonal relationships and shows its undesirable as well as its positive features 1990 0 471 60624 3 528 pp
