Beyond Metaphor The Theory Of Tropes In Anthropology:

Beyond Metaphor James W. Fernandez, 1991 The Ethnographic Self as Resource Peter Jeffrey Collins, Anselma Gallinat, 2010 An excellent collection of anthropological autobiographical essays focusing on the positionality and resource of the self in ethnography The essays are engaging and well written and remind me of some of those classic anthropological ethnographic collections interesting in their own right to read but also serving as a good teaching resource Amanda Coffey Cardiff University The Sacred Self Thomas J. Csordas, 1997-05-07 How does religious healing work if indeed it does In this study of the contemporary North American movement known as the Catholic Charismatic Renewal Thomas Csordas investigates the healing practices of a modern religious movement to provide a rich cultural analysis of the healing experience This is not only a book about healing however but also one about the nature of self and self transformation Blending ethnographic data and detailed case studies Csordas examines processes of sensory imagery performative utterance orientation and embodiment His book forms the basis for a rapprochement between phenomenology and semiotics in culture theory that will interest anthropologists philosophers psychologists physicians and students of comparative religion and healing Culture & Rhetoric Ivo A. Strecker, Stephen A. Tyler, 2009 While some scholars have said that there is no such thing as culture and have urged to abandon the concept altogether the contributors to this volume overcome this impasse by understanding cultures and their representations for what they ultimately are rhetorical constructs These senior international scholars explore the complex relationships between culture and rhetoric arguing that just as rhetoric is founded in culture culture is founded in rhetoric This intersection constitutes the central theme of the first part of the book while the second is dedicated to the study of figuration as a common ground of rhetoric and anthropology The book offers a compelling range of theoretical reflections historical vistas and empirical investigations which aim to show how people talk themselves and others into particular modalities of thought and action and how rhetoric and culture in this way are co emergent It thus turns a new page in the history of academic discourse by bringing two disciplines anthropology and rhetoric together in a way that has never been done before Publisher's website Religion Hent de Vries, 2008 What do we talk about when we talk about religion Is it an array of empirical facts about historical human civilizations Or is religion what is in essence unpredictable perhaps the very emergence of the new In what ways are the legacies of religion its powers words things and gestures reconfiguring themselves as the elementary forms of life in the twenty first century Given the Latin roots of the word religion and its historical Christian uses what sense if any does it make to talk about religion in other traditions Where might we look for common elements that would enable us to do so Has religion as an overarching concept lost all its currency or does it ineluctably return sometimes in unexpected ways the moment we attempt to do without it This book explores the difficulties and double binds that arise when we ask What is religion Offering a marvelously rich and diverse array of perspectives it begins the task of rethinking religion and religious studies in a contemporary world Opening essays on the question What is religion are followed by clusters exploring the relationships among religion theology and philosophy and the links between religion politics and law Pedagogy is the focus of the following section Religion is then examined in particular contexts from classical times to the present Pentacostal revival leading into an especially rich set of essays on religion materiality and mediatization The final section grapples with the ever changing forms that religion is taking such as spirituality movements and responses to the ecological crisis Featuring the work of leading scholars from a wide array of disciplines traditions and cultures Religion Beyond a Concept will help set the agenda for religious studies for years to come It is the first of five volumes in a collection entitled The Future of the Religious Past the fruit of a major international research initiative funded by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research

Crossroads of Culture Lindland, Eric,2020-02-27 Combining history ethnography and culture theory this book explores how residents in northwestern Malawi have responded over time to the early missionary assertion that local religious and healing practices were incompatible with Christianity and western medicine It details how local agents in the past and today have constructed new cultural forms that weave facets of ancestral spiritualism and divination with Christianity and biomedicine Alongside a rich historical review of the late 19th century encounter between Tumbuka speakers and the Scottish Presbyterians of the Livingstonia Mission the book explores the contemporary therapeutic dance complex known as Vimbuza and considers two case studies each the story of a man confronting illness and struggling to understand the roots and meaning of his a iction In the process the book considers the enduring missiological and anthropological topics of conversion and syncretism and questions the assertion by some scholars that Western missionaries in Africa have been successful agents of religious hegemony

Everyday Conceptions of Emotion J.A. Russell,José-Miguel Fernández-Dols,Anthony S.R. Manstead,Jane C. Wellenkamp,1995-05-31 In Everyday Conceptions of Emotion prominent anthropologists linguists and psychologists come together for the first time to discuss how emotions are conceptualised by people of different cultures and ages speaking different languages Anger fear jealousy and emotion itself are concepts that are bound up with the English language embedded in a way of thinking acting and speaking At the same time the metaphors underlying such concepts are often similar across languages and children of different cultures follow common developmental pathways The book thus discusses the interplay of social and cultural factors that humans share in their development of an understanding of the affective side of their lives For researchers interested in emotion development of concepts and language cultural and linguistic influences on psychological processes

Working Images Ana Isabel Alfonso,Laszlo Kurti,Sarah Pink,2004-08-02 Visual methods such as drawing painting video photography and hypermedia offer increasingly accessible and popular resources for ethnographic research In Working Images prominent visual anthropologists and artists explore how old and new visual media can be integrated into contemporary forms of research and representation Drawing upon projects undertaken both at home in their native countries and abroad in locations such as Ethiopia and Venezuela the book s contributors demonstrate how visual methods are used in the field and how these methods can produce and communicate knowledge about our own and other cultures As well as focusing on key issues such as ethics and the relationship between word and image they emphasize the huge range of visual methods currently opening up new possibilities for field research from cartoons and graphic art to new media such as digital video and online technologies

Representing the City Anthony D. King,1996-02 Classic representations of the city have focused on simplistic urban dichotomies such as renewal or decline poverty or prosperity and vice or vigor We are left with the question of what actually constitutes a city and what makes it and its people succeed or fail Recent writing on the city however has begun to question the images metaphors and discourses through which the contemporary city is represented Discussing recent visual architectural and spatial transformations in New York and other major world cities in relation to the themes of ethnicity capital and culture Re Presenting the City moves between interpretive representations of the newly emerging metropolis and the theoretical and methodological questions raised by the task of such representations Contributors with backgrounds in urban planning sociology cultural studies architecture art history geography and philosophy reflect on the construction of both the real and the unreal city the images metaphors and discourses through which the contemporary city is represented and the texts which both mediate our experience of as well as contribute to producing the city of the future

Culture, Rhetoric and the Vicissitudes of Life Michael Carrithers, 2009-06-01 Inspired by the Rhetoric Culture Project this volume focuses on the use of imagery narrative and cultural schemes to deal with predicaments that arise during the course of life The contributors explore how people muster their resources to understand and deal with emergencies such as illness displacement or genocide In dealing with such circumstances people can develop new rhetorical forms and in the process establish new cultural resources for succeeding generations Several of the contributions show how rhetorical cultural forms can themselves create emergencies The contributors bring expertise from a variety of disciplines including anthropology and communications studies underlining the volume's wider relevance as a reflection on the human condition

Fire in the Dark Sarah Buckler, 2007 Anthropologists who are employed to change the worlds they are researching find themselves in a potentially contradictory position Combining the various roles and expectations involved in working with Gypsies and local government at the same time as conducting anthropological research provides the overall perspective of this study It is an unusual and effective balance of insightful ethnography and anthropological theory with the perspective of someone employed to carry out applied work An effective and creative use of metaphor structures the entire work and allows complex ideas to be conveyed in an accessible way Drawing upon traditional anthropological approaches such as kinship and story telling and engaging with the works of major social theorists such as Weber Bourdieu and Foucault as well as the work of contemporary anthropologists this work demonstrates the use of anthropology in understanding changing situations and in deciding how best to manage such situations
