Patterns of Exchange Teresa J. Wilkins, 2013-03-15. The Navajo rugs and textiles that people admire and buy today are the result of many historical influences, particularly the interaction between Navajo weavers and the traders who guided their production and controlled their sale. John Lorenzo Hubbell and other late nineteenth-century traders were convinced they knew which patterns and colors would appeal to Anglo-American buyers and so they heavily encouraged those designs. In Patterns of Exchange, Teresa J. Wilkins traces how the relationships between generations of Navajo weavers and traders affected Navajo weaving. The Navajos valued their relationships with Hubbell and others who operated trading posts on their reservation. As a result, they did not always see themselves as exploited victims of a capitalist system. Rather, because of Navajo cultural traditions of gift giving and helping others, the artists slowly adapted some of the patterns and colors the traders requested into their own designs. By the 1890s, Hubbell and others commissioned paintings depicting particular weaving styles and encouraged Navajo weavers to copy them, reinforcing public perceptions of traditional Navajo weaving. Even the Navajos came to revere certain designs as the weaving of the ancestors. Enhanced by numerous illustrations, including eight color plates, this volume traces the intricate play of cultural and economic pressures and personal relationships between artists and traders that guided Navajo weavers to produce textiles that are today emblems of the Native American Southwest. Winner, Multi-cultural Subject, New Mexico Book Awards.

Swept Under the Rug Kathy M'Closkey, 2002. Debunks the romanticist stereotyping of Navajo weavers and Reservation traders and situates weavers within the economic history of the southwest.

Disruptive Voices and the Singularity of Histories Regna Darnell, Frederic W. Gleach, 2019-11-01. Histories of Anthropology Annual presents diverse perspectives on the discipline's history within a global context with a goal of increasing awareness and use of historical approaches in teaching, learning, and conducting anthropology. The series includes critical, comparative, analytical, and narrative studies involving all aspects and subfields of anthropology. Volume 13, Disruptive Voices and the Singularity of Histories, explores the interplay of identities and scholarship through the history of anthropology with a special section examining fieldwork predecessors and indigenous communities in Native North America. Individual contributions explore the complexity of women's history, indigenous history, national traditions, and oral histories to juxtapose what we understand of the past with its present continuities. These contributions include Sharon Lindenburger's examination of Franz Boas and his navigation with Jewish identity; Kathy M. Closkey's documentation of Navajo weavers and their struggles with cultural identities and economic resources and demands; and Mindy Morgan's use of the text of Ruth Underhill's Oodham study to capture the voices of three generations of women ethnographers. Because this work bridges anthropology and history, a richer and more varied view of the past emerges through the meticulous narratives of anthropologists and their unique fieldwork, ultimately providing competing points of access to social dynamics. This volume examines events at both macro and micro levels, documenting the impact large-scale historical events have had on particular individuals and challenging the uniqueness of a single interpretation of the same facts Southwestern lore ,1991 Tall Woman Rose Mitchell,2001 Portrays Navajo weaver and midwife Tall Woman who held onto traditional Navajo ways raised twelve children and cared for the farm throughout her marriage to political leader and Blessingway singer Frank Mitchell Navajo Weavings from the Andy Williams Collection Ann Lane Hedlund,1997 Navajo Weaving Way Noel Bennett,Tiana Bighorse,1997-07 This revision of the authors Working with the wool with much Navajo tradition and many photos added is a guide to Navajo rug weaving from carding spinning through set up and weaving Weaving is Life Jennifer McLerran,2006 Weaving Is Life features multiple generations of Navajo weavers Exquisitely crafted artworks and compelling first hand narratives demonstrate how Navajo weaving functions as an important carrier of cultural values Those with expertise in weaving practice are valued repositories of traditional cultural knowledge Navajo weaving reinforces and allows the artist to participate in values of hard work thrift and creativity It facilitates knowledge of and the proper care and nurturing of the environment Weavers are depended upon to convey insight and expertise to subsequent generations which has served to further important mother daughter and grandmother granddaughter bonds Featured artists include D Y Begay Grace Henderson Nez Mary Henderson Begay Gloria Jean Begay Glenabah Hardy Irene Clark Teresa Clark Lillie Taylor Rosie Taylor and Diane Taylor Beall D Y Begay also contributes an insightful essay on her experience as co curator of the exhibition that accompanies this publication Essays by Janet Catherine Berlo and Jennifer McLerran focus on the transcultural development of Navajo weaving exploring the influence of varied markets and audiences including indigenous tourist and fine arts on traditional forms and practices Museum educator Sally Delgado addresses the educational value of Navajo weaving practices for non Native students Proceedings of the ...
