Health Care in Rural America United States. Congress. Office of Technology Assessment,1990

Health Care in Rural America ,1990

Health needs and health services in rural America are key issues directly related to education as well as community well being

This report examines rural America s access to basic health care services and discusses options for congressional consideration

The focus is on trends in availability of primary and acute rural health care and on factors affecting those trends

The report describes the characteristics of rural populations and health programs the availability of rural health services and personnel and delivery of rural maternal and infant health and mental health care services

On each subject options for congressional action are examined

The federal government currently finances several different types of rural health care programs and has a strong interest in health care trends

Major declines in inpatient utilization compounded by increasing amounts of uncompensated care have undermined the financial health of many rural hospitals which also are faced with the outmigration of rural residents to urban areas for care

Policy reform options are presented in regard to

- 1 improvement of rural health facilities
- 2 availability and training of health professionals in rural areas and
- 3 enhancing maternal and infant care programs and mental
